DISTRICT TO REVIEW 'EXCUSED' ABSENCES

Editor's Column

STUART R. PADDOCK

Until last week we had not become excited over the unpopular Civil Defense program. We had considered the appointment of a local CD director by a mayor merely an empty honor going to a man with little obligation to do very much. It is different now.

We attended a luncheon at Glenview Naval Air Station. This week, this column, following the footsteps of Paul Revere, is sounding the alarm, "Soviet Nuclear Bombs Are Coming."

Wallace Daughtry, Arlington Heights CD director, outlined the need of fallout shelters in the village. Mayor John Woods told what the large industrial firms in this area are doing to protect their employees and property. Provisions are being made for shelters by all large firms. Some of them are duplicating important records.

As we watched "Meet the Press" Sunday afternoon and heard newsmen question Dr. Brown, director of defense, we decided that we and the people of the community cannot sit idly by and do nothing about the possibility of fallout protection. The American tendency is that "it will not happen here."

A second TV program Sunday included the words of the late President Franklin Roosevelt in the 1930s when he referred to our descendants 10,000 years hence.

It is our belief that unless more attention is paid by "grass roots" people to the CD program, there may not be any of our descendants around even a hundred years hence.

Today, Arlington Heights with a population of over 30,000 has only a potential of 27 shelters including the schools. Americans are ready to die for their country, but are they ready to have their families die?

The booklets that are to be distributed to all families in Arlington Heights give the approximate cost of the "perfect" shelter. Not many people can afford them. There are certain "safety first" means that can be taken by the average family which may save lives when the explosion is 10 miles or more distant.

The first warning of a nuclear attack could be the flash of an explosion. Quick action during the next few seconds, under or behind the nearest desk, table, sofa or other piece of sturdy furniture could save your life.

The "first aid" covered in the booklets reminds us of the first world war when every community had an active first aid and Red Cross organization as well as the "home guard" who were trained with wooden guns. Those home guards and their wooden guns were considered good insurance. Professional and businessmen, generally rallied to their country's call. Forty-five years later — 1962 — our country is again calling.

More universal instruction in safety first is a necessity. We urge our readers to study the CD booklets that are being made available to all Arlington Heights people. If your community has not activated its CD, ask your police or municipal government "why not."

Uncle Sam is ready to stock fallout shelters that meet certain requirements when such shelter can accommodate 50 or more people. If they are to be open to the public in an emergency, they will be marked and stocked with food, water, first aid kits and radiation detection instruments.

Arlington Heights is seeking such shelters.

President Kennedy said last July "in the event of attack, the lives of those families who are not hit in the nuclear blast can still be saved if they can be warned to take shelter and if that shelter is available. We owe that kind of insurance to our families and to our country."

Raise Church, School Issue

A special committee of three Arlington-Prospct High School board members was appointed this week to study the problem of student absences from school for religious purposes.

The committee, composed of District 214 board members Kenneth Dougan of Arlington Heights and George Laubenheimer and George Paris, both of Mount Prospect, will report on its findings next month.

The issue of excused time was raised at Monday's board meeting when six Roman Catholic clergymen and seven Catholic parents protested the "unexcused" absence of 519 Arlington and Prospect High School students on April 11.

The students were marked with unexcused absence while attending a four-hour morning special "Day of Recollection" religious observance at St. James and St. Raymond Catholic Churches in Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect.

CHURCH representatives, including the Very Rev. Msgr. Lawrence Lynch of the Chicago Archdiocese office, sought to haev the absence listed as "excused," permitting students to make up work.

Msgr. Lynch insisted that by state law "unexcused absence" meant "truancy." Board members stressed that school records make a distinction between unexcused absence and truancy.

Supt. Harold Slichenmyer noted that other religious groups had asked to have students excused for special religious observances, but such requests had been denied.

PRESENT SCHOOL policy permits one-hour excused absences for religious purposes.

School officials reiterated their suggestion that "Days of Recollection" be scheduled on Saturdays or Sundays, during vacations, or on "institute days" when schools are closed.

Msgr. Lynch agreed it would be possible to hold the observances on these days. He countered, however, by saying experience had shown attendance at the observances was much higher when they were held on regular school days.

The clergyman said it was an incentive to students to attend when they could be excused from school.

IN APPOINTING the special committee, Board President John Haas cautioned that its members were also to consider the needs and desires of other religious groups in formulating a policy for recommendation to the board.

Participating in the "Day of Recollection" were 10 Catholic parishes in the high school district.

Priests from four of the churches were present at the Monday meeting. They were Rev. John Lane of St. James, Arlington Heights; Rev. Joseph Doyle of St. Raymond's, Mount Prospect; Rev. James O'Donnell of Our Lady of the Wayside, Arlington Heights; and Rev. J. Ward Morrison of Queen of the Rosary, Elk Grove Village.

A "DAY OF Recollection is a brief spiritual "retreat" to revive spiritual teachings and faith, Catholic spokesmen explained this week.

Before discussion on the issue was concluded Monday, school board members voted to list the April 11 absence as "excused." The special committee will report at the board's first regular meeting in June.

150 Maple Trees Planted in Week

One hundred and fifty Red Maple trees were planted in Arlington Heights last week, as part of the village's reforestation program.

Most of the trees were planted in the south central part of the village, the older part where many diseased elms had been removed. The trees were purchased for $2,250, lowest of the bids submitted.

$300,000 Theatre Expansion Revealed

Detailed plans for a $300,000 expansion and modernization of the Arlington Theatre were revealed this week by Don Knapp, general manager of the Lucas Theatre Corporation.

The improvements will double the seating capacity and omre than double the parking area. A new lobby will be constructed and the present lobby converted into a spacious foyer.

"WE BELIEVE we'll have one of the finest theaters in the country," Knapp said, "and one of the few theaters specifically designed for a suburban location."

The Lucas Company, which owns the Arlington Theatre, has purchased the old Arlington Heights Roller Mill property and the parking lot immediately behind the theater. The roller mill will be demolished and the area turned into a landscaped parking area.

The theater itself will be completely refurbished and modernized. To the south of the present theater lobby, a new lobby and entrance will be built.

Knapp said it will be tastefully decorated, but not "plush," and will have a fireplace in one corner, and an enlarged concession stand. A large picture window will look out from the lobby onto a landscaped patio partially screening the brightly lit parking lot.

A drive-in entrance to the parking lot off Evergreen Street will be roofed, and a roofed walk will run the length of the building bordering the parking area. An attendant will be on duty in the parking lot.

"We believe our floodlighted parking lot, the covered walks and the ample waiting area will provide maximum safety for the adult patrons and children," Knapp said.

A SECOND entrance and an attraction board will be provided to the east of the parking lot, off State Road.

Once inside the lobby, patrons will go through doors to the north into the new foyer. Exit doors will be provided in the foyer and another exit door on the far north, opening onto Miner Street.

"This will be one of the few theaters where you don't have to exit through the entrance space," Knapp said.

Lattof Is Coordinator

Hospital Expansion Program Launched

Members of the Board of Trustees of Northwest Community Hospital this week disclosed that an expansion program to enlarge the hospital's facilities is about to be launched.

The expansion was spelled out Monday when Nicholas M. Lattof, a prime mover in the hospital's initial construction, was appointed coordinator of the expansion program by A. C. Buehler, chairman of the hospital board.

"We know it will be a long time before expansion can start," Buehler said, "but we feel it's time the initial planning is begun so the board can determine just which facilities should be expanded first."

ACCORDING to Lattof, the hospital's administrator and doctors will make recommendations as to which departments need attention first. Pediatrics will rate high priority, he indicated.

"There's a lot of work that needs to be done long before the first spade can be turned," Lattof continued.

"It will take careful analysis and planning of needs, drawing of blueprints, and raising of money. Then, and only then, can construction begin."

THE HOSPITAL'S initial debt of $500,000 for opening day supplies, medicines, and additional equipment is being reduced as fund drive pledges slowly arrive. Operating revenues are being used to pay off the hospital's mortgage.

Since its opening, the hospital's occupancy rate has been extremely high. Obstetrical has been running nearly 100 per cent occupancy (highest in the Chicago area), while medical and surgical percentages have been in the high 80's and low 90's.

"This hospital has been a community effort all along," Lattof said. "Hundreds of persons have devoted their time and energies free of charge to assure the area the best hospital possible.

"We must continue this effort."

The hospital is located at 800 W. Central Road, Arlington Heights.

Delivery Of Orchids Arranged

Final arrangements have been made for delivery of some 10,000 orchids to participating retail members of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce for Mother's Day weekend.

The orchids will be given out Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 10, 11 and 12, to all women shoppers at the participating retail stores in Arlington Heights.

ED LANDWEHR, retail committee chairman, said presentation of the orchids is the merchants way of saying "thank you" to the customers for their patronage during the year.

A complete list of the merchants who will be giving out orchids will be published in next week's Herald.

Want Ads Now Feature New Type

Paddock Publications, Inc., this week initiated the use of a new style of type in the display-classified advertising sections of its 14 suburban newspapers.

The new, modern type face is called Record Gothic. Typographic experts recognize it as the most up-to-date, easy-to-read type available. It was designed recently for use in both classified and display advertising.

The new type is available at Paddock in sizes ranging from 12 point (one-sixth of an inch from top to bottom) up to and including 60 point (five-sixths of an inch in height).

"MULE" is a prairie falcon trained to hunt and owned by Ed Fitch of Arlington Heights. A feature story on the fascinating sport of falconry will be found on the inside pages of this issue of the Herald.

Tragedy Can Be Averted

Dead or maimed?

No, the picture is posed, but how many of these children or others like them will be dead before the summer is over because their parents didn't teach them to ride their bicycles safely, or because some motorist had faulty equipment on his car?

Officers Richard Reed and George Ekblad of the Arlington Heights Police Department, along with the above students at Windsor School, helped dramatize the fact that this Saturday is the first of three Saturdays during which motorists can have their cars safety checked free.

The photo also points up the need for parents to drive their cars safely, particularly when their youngsters are with them, so the children will learn good safety habits and follow them when they ride their bicycles.

TO PREVENT deaths like those simulated in the picture, every motorist in Arlington Heights is urged to get his car checked this Saturday. Residents of neighboring villages are welcome to take advantage of the safety check also.

The check will be held throughout the day at Arlington Fender & Body Shop, 910 W. Northwest Hwy. It is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club, Safety Council, and VFW, and officially endorsed by the village board and police department.

Five trained mechanics will give your car a thorough going over, checking the brake system, front end and steering system, lights, tires, and various other items which may be defective without a motorist being aware of it.

IN ADDITION to the mechanics, about 15 members of the sponsoring organizations will be on hand each of the Saturdays also.

In addition to this Saturday, May 5, cars will be checked on the following two Saturdays, May 12 and 19. It's free, and motorists will be under no compulsion to get any defects uncovered fixed.

The check will take 10 or 15 minutes, and while your car is being checked, you can view some of the wrecked cars which John and Jack Heintz, the garage owners, will have on display.

Also on hand Saturday will be representatives from seat belt manufacturing firms, brake and wheel alignment specialists, and other technical representatives. Several insurance companies also plan to have safety literature available.

COFFEE AND donuts will be served while you wait.

Curt Kenyon, chairman of the Lions and Chamber safety committees and the local Allstate insurance agent, reminded motorists that the few minutes they spend having their car safety checked, may save their life or the lives of their families.

Chief L. W. Calderwood of the Arlington Heights Police Department added another warning: Too many village motorists, he said, are ignoring certain traffic offenses and settling bad examples for their children, and this must stop.

CHIEF CALDERWOOD particularly cited the practice of parking for short periods of time on the wrong side of the road, at the post office for instance, or when letting their children out at school or other places.

"This is a good way to teach your child bad driving habits that may some day result in his or her death," Calderwood said. The police department is going to begin a crackdown on this type of irresponsible motorist, first issuing warning tickets and then actual tickets for second offenses.

So for safer driving, remember the rule: Safety first.

And remember the day: Saturday.

Prospect Heights Firemen Walk Out After Stalemate

by DWIGHT HALL

The sign on the Prospect Heights Fire Department building read "Closed" Tuesday morning, following a night-long but fruitless attempt to save the department as a functioning unit.

At 12 midnight, the contract between the Prospect Heights Rural Fire Protection District and the Volunteer Fire Association exppired and a 60-day court injunction went into effect.

The injunction, issued at the request of two of the three trustees of the district, enjoins the firemen from removing equipment from the premises and allows the trustees to enter the building at least twice each week between the hours of 7 and 9 p.m. for the purpose of inspecting the equipment.

F. E. "FRAN" Foor, veteran chief of the department and, until midnight Monday, the third member of the board of trustees, said that the injunction was requested because "the other two trustees feared that the equipment would be taken from this building." These fears were unfounded, he claimed.

"You just don't put expensive fire-fighting equipment out on the street," he said, adding that much of the equipment had been purchased with funds made available through the direct efforts of the firemen themselves over a period of several years.

The hassle between the two groups has extended over a period of several months and will likely continue for several more, although the department is now legally "unable to answer any calls," according to Foor. The situation is complicated by the fact that the firemen own the building and the district owns the equipment.

A LARGE crowd of interested citizens mingled throughout the fire hall during the greater part of the evening, periodically attempting to contact the two trusboard who they blame for pretees o fthe rural fire district cipitating the crisis.

The two, President Norm Johnson and Treasurer Edward VanDenBerg, could not be reached by the group. The citizens protest rally, if it could be termed such, was organized entirely without encouragement from the firemen themselves, it was claimed, but the atmosphere was distinctly anti-Johnson and VanDenBerg, and pro-Foor.

The protestors were frustrated to learn that there were no means by which they could force the trustees to "keep the department operating" after the contract expired, and the situation was aggravated by their inability to contact Johnson and VanDenBerg.

On one occasion, a member of the group managed to reach Mrs. Johnson by telephone, but was told that Johnson was "unavailable" and that the trustees were unable to make any statement without consultation with their attorney. When the attorney, J. P. "Pat" O'Brien was reached, he responded that only the trustees could take any action or make any statements.

THROUGHOUT the long vigil, Foor held little hope that a quick conciliation could be reached. He said that he had received no official information as to what fire protection would be offered to the residents when the Prospect Heights department ceased to exist, although he added that he had received a call from the telephone company stating that they had been instructed to refer all fire calls to Mount Prospect after midnight, Monday, April 30.

Foor sadi that he believed, on the basis of earlier conversations with Chief Haberkamp of the Mount Prospect Fire Department, that calls would be answered by volunteers of the Mount Prospect Rural Fire League and not by the paid members of the Mount Prospect department itself.

He emphasized that area residents should call the present fire number, CL 3-2161, and that the calls will automatically be transferred to Mount Prospect.

WHEN MIDNIGHT arrived, Foor ordered his men to remove the permanent-style sign from the front of the building and the firemen placed letters spelling "Fire Dept. Closed" in the windows. The radio was also taken out of service, inasmuch as the injunction had gone into effect.

j "We haven't quit; we've just been fired," Foor said. "Another trustee may well have already been appointed to take my place. I don't really know."

Foor added that he is still a trustee until such time as he is officially relieved of his duties. He told his listeners that trustees can be replaced only through resignation or a proven charge of malfeasance of duty.

"And malfeasance is a pretty strong charge and one that is awfully hard to prove," he said.

ANGRY CITIZENS voiced their concern for the welfare of the people of the community, their homes and their schools. One citizen, who identified himself as Phil Cullen of 13 E. Clarendon, complimented the fire department and asked that his statement be published.

"I wouldn't have a house now, if it were not for this outfit," he said. "Right now, I have a $20,000 fire damage claim and about 75 per cent of it is for smoke damage. These fellows saved the house from complete destruction; another 10 minutes and nothing would have been left."

Cullen said that his house was struck by lightning last September.

Dr. M. P. Meisenheimer, prominent area physician and surgeon, made a statement decrying the state of events which had transpired.

"As a member of the Volunteer Fire Department for 15 years and as a resident, I feel that it is a tragedy that two trustees have seen fit to emasculate a well-functioning and necessary department," he charged.

"They have jeopardized the welfare of all individuals in the area plus our two schools by placing the duty of fire protection in the hands of others who live at a greater distance and who are not acquainted with the local situation."

"I do hope that somehow this situation can be corrected and we can again have the excellent protection we have enjoyed in the past," Meisenheimer concluded.

BOTH THE volunteer organization and the fire district were organized in 1944. Foor has served on the board and as chief for 17 years. Johnson was appointed to the board two years ago and VanDenBerg last year over a petition of residents seeking another's appointment, it was reported.

One volunteer fireman said Tuesday that a petition opposing Johnson and VanDenBerg is being circulated, and that the two trustees are negotiating with the Mount Prospect Fire Department for a contract for service on a month to month basis.

There are 17 members of the volunteer force, it was reported. (GF

Sidewalk Sales, Carnival Slated

A community-wide "carnival days" and sidewalk sale will be held in downtown Arlington Heights on July 26, 27 and 28, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, it was announced this week by Wayne Brennan, Chamber president.

During the three days, merchants will hold sidewalk sales in front of their stores, a carnival will be in operation on several of the downtown blocks, booths will be set up in the area, and a sidewalk art exhibit and sale will be held.

"THIS PROBABLY will be the biggest promotion the Chamber has ever had," Brennan said.

The carnival rides will be set up on Campbell Street from Vail to Dunton, on Dunton from Northwest Highway north to Eastman, and on Dunton from Davis south to Sigwalt.

Merchants will pass out cut-rate tickets to the carnival rides.

All organizations in town will be invited to participate by setting up refreshment booths, making the event a community-wide effort.

AREA ARTISTS will be invited to present a sidewalk display of their works.

Tentative plans also include a street dance and possibly a square dance. Brennan said complete plans will be announced in coming weeks.

Fine Arts Show Set at High School

Arlington and Prospect High Schools' annual Practical and Fine Arts Show is slated for the Arlington boys' gym Tuesday and Wednesday, May 8 and 9.

Hours for the show, which features work by the District's home economics, industrial arts, and art students, are 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. and 7 p. m. to 10 p. m. both days.

Several of the works from the art department have previously received Scholastic awards and have been shown in national competition.

Grant U.S. Aid For Aged Home

WASHINGTON, (UPI)—The Community Facilities Administration has announced a loan of $560,000 to self-help home for the aged in Chicago for the construction of a four-story building.

The new building will house 67 persons at rents from $55 to $76 per month per person. The self-help home will provide $40,000 toward the $600,000 cost of the project to be located at 908 Argyle St. B8

Infant Found Abandoned

A startled Palatine youth returned to the family car in the lot of a bowling alley late Sunday night and discovered a new born baby boy on the front seat.

Alonzo Schultz, of 403 N. Quentin Road, found the seven pound boy wrapped in a worn blue receiving blanket, washed and its umbilical cord tied with a shoestring.

THE INFANT was taken to Northwest Community Hospital where officials said it was from between 6 and 7 hours old. Robert Centner, acting Palatine chief of police, said there were no clues on the blanket that may indicate the owner and that there are no leads that may lead to the identification of the baby or its parents.

One woman already has contacted police to inquire about adoption. The Schultz auto was parked in a parking lot at the Hi-Way Recreation bunlding, 756 E. Northwest Hwy. AF

Theatre Expansion Plans Announced

the foyer will be constructed to block all sound and light from going into the foyer.

"We believe complete isolation of sound and light from the foyer and seating area is one of the best things we can do to help our patrons enjoy the movie," Knapp said. "It will eliminate distractions such as conversation and the noise of the popcorn machine."

KNAPP SAID that before the new designs were made, he traveled extensively throughout the country observing the best and the worst in new theater construction, then adapted the best features for a suburban area.

"We don't want an extremely plush theater—that's easy to create," Knapp said. "We want a very nice one that looks like it belongs in the suburbs, and that's what we're going to have."

The front entrance and exit area will be of red glazed brick, while the remainder of the front will be of white quartz aggragate, a white marbelized stone with flecks of quartz in it.

During the remodeling, a new screen will be installed also. Knapp said it will be a new type of screen only recently made available, which will give a truer color reproduction. The stage area will be about tripled in size.

NO CHANGE will be made in the sound system because, Knapp said, the theater presently has the most modern stereophonic sound system available, with nine speakers on stage plus wall speakers.

"This is one of the few theaters which has full stereo and optical sound," Knapp said. "We can project 3D pictures, regular pictures and stereo pictures."

Work will begin on the improvements later this summer, with the job slated to be done in stages so the theater will only have to close its doors three or four week days during the final conversion.

The theater is located at 115 N. Evergreen.

George Volz Recalls

The First Egg Hunt

THE FIRST EASTER EGG HUNT in Arlington Heights was last month?

Not on your life, says George Volz, an 84-year-old resident of the village. Volz remembers the first Easter Egg Hunt well, and it was such a novel event it was even shown on newsreels in theaters throughout the country.

That was back in 1921.

"I was chairman of the Arlington Heights Community Service then," Volz recalls. "That was a government agency — the National Community Service Bureau — which had two or three million dollars it didn't know what to do with and so it sponsored community projects around the country."

Mrs. Edwin Gabel, who came to Arlington Heights from Texas, suggested the Arlington Heights chapter stage an Easter egg hunt, something which had been tried with success in her native Texas.

"As far as we know," Volz says, "it was the very first one in this part of the country, and all the Chicago newspapers played it up big, and it was filmed by Fox for their movie newsreels and shown all over the country."

The hunt, held the afternoon of March 26, 1961, was a great success, Volz says, but of course, the village only had a population of about 3,000 so it didn't draw as many children as the recent hunt sponsored by the park district, which attracted 800 youngsters.

The 1921 hunt was held in the cherry orchards of the old Klehm Nurseries, located where the Creamery Package company is now on W. Miner Street. Some 2,000 eggs were boiled, colored and hidden in the orchards.

"It certainly put Arlington Heights in the limelight," Volz says.

According to Volz' report made at the end of his term as chairman of Community Service, other things happened that year, including adoption of a village song, which has somehow become lost.

And it was in 1921 when the village adopted its official slogan, "Arlington Heights, the City of Good Neighbors." From the 100 or so submitted in the slogan contest, the one of W. B. Bearsley was adopted.

But it was the big Easter Egg Hunt that put Arlington Heights in the national spotlight.

"And you know, we could have had that Fox movie film of it after two or three years, but we didn't ask for it then," Volz says. "We didn't think at the time that we were making history." (AF

HOFFMAN ESTATES — The village won its hearing before the Illinois Commerce Commission for authorization to condemn and acquire the holdings of the private water and sewer companies in the village. Next move for the village is to begin condemnation proceedings in Superior Court, where a jury will determine what a fair condemnation price for the companies will be.

PALATINE — A 32-year-old Streamwood man, Ronald Martin, has been arrested in connection with the fatal shooting April 7 of tavern owner Everett McCrea. Martin and a brother-in-law, Fred Baum, 19, were arrested in Portage, Wis., where Baum provided police with a 14-page statement linking them to the scene of the crime.

ELK GROVE — Parents of 519 Prospect and Arlington High school students won a protest fight this week when school board members backed down after ordering unexcused absences for the students during a recent religious retreat.

More than 100 youngsters will display projects at Grove Junior High Science Fair at 8:30 p.m., Tuesday, May 8.

Masque and Staff, local theatre group, will present "The Seven Year Itch," a romantic comedy, this weekend.

ROLLING MEADOWS — A special committee has been appointed by Mayor John J. Woods to prepare a statement of the city's official reactions to the latest plans for Route 53. Aldermen stated their views at a special council session Tuesday night. Developers and businessmen were called on to voice their opinions, and all will be included in the summation to be presented to the state highway department.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS — This Saturday is the first of three "Safety Saturdays" in the village, when motorists can — and are urged to — get their cars checked for faulty equipment free of charge, and without obligation. The check will be held throughout the day at Arlington Fender and Body Shop on W. Northwest Hwy. It is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club, VFW, and Safety Council. The safety check will continue the following two Saturdays, also. Trained mechanics will check brake system, exhaust system, steering and front end system, lights and other items. Motorists from neighboring villages are welcome to take advantage of this free service also.

MOUNT PROSPECT — A building permit for an addition to Mell and Paul's Restaurant will have to be held up pending a rezoning or variation hearing. The liquor license issued to the owner cannot be used until the new addition is built.

PROSPECT HEIGHTS — The Volunteer Firemen's Association ceased operation and closed its fire station at midnight Monday in a contract dispute with the Prospect Heights Rural Fire District Board of Trustees. The former contract ran out as of that hour. Politics, conflicts of interest and a failure to live up to the former contract have been charged. Mount Prospect Fire Department is to handle any fire calls in Prospect Heights, it is announced.

WHEELING - BUFFALO GROVE — Elementary School District 21 announced that its 1962-63 budget will be about $1,060,000. It marks the first time that the district has topped the $1 million figure. Enrollment expected next fall is about 3,000. There are currently about 2,600 pupils enrolled, and last year there were about 2,100. (B8

Stewardship Head Named for Church

Charles Brandeau of Mount Prospect, was appointed by the Board of Administration of Grace Lutheran Church to serve for a year as a stewardship director of the congregation.

He previously served the congregation for two years as member of the board of trustees and a financial secretary. He will be assisted by Don Eckman, Robert Haugh, Harry Kidd and Paul Carlstedt. Dick Benson and Pastor Albert Weidlich will serve as members ex-officio.

BRANDEAU will head up a stewardship committee, organized in advance of the changes that will take place in the administration at the end of 1962 when Grace Lutheran Church (Euclid and Wolf Roads) becomes a member of the newly organized Lutheran Church in America.

This committee will function as a source of information and education for the congregation concerning the activities of the church in its world-wide program of service to people. It shall also spearhead the annual Every Member Visitation program of the congregation.

Church Youth Plan 'Inner City' Tour

High school youth groups from the Southminster United Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights, and the Presbyterian Church of Palatine, will be conducted on a bus tour of Chicago's inner city neighborhoods this Sunday afternoon, May 6.

The tour will include stops at Erie and Beacon Neighborhood Houses, at Christian Industrial League on Skid Row, the Medical Center, and the Crerar Memorial Presbyterian Church.

The vast renewal and slum clearance projects in the heart of the city will be observed and leaders of the neighborhood houses' programs with youth will speak to the group.

CONDUCTING the tour will be the Rev. Mr. William T. Jones, pastor of Southminster, who was executive director of the Presbyterian Church Extension Board prior to coming to Arlington Heights.

In this capacity, among other responsibilities, the Rev. Mr. Jones was overseer of the Presbytery's nine social service agencies as well as several inner city mission churches.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hohman, advisers to the Palatine youth group, will accompany the youths on the tour. (A-P

Prospect's Concert Is Set May 12

More than 400 Prospect High School students will present the annual spring concert at 8 p.m. on Saurday, May 12, in the fieldhouse.

The entire vocal and instrumental music departments at Prospect will combine for this event.

Special feature selections will include the 260-voice chorus singing "Moon River" by Henri Mancini, a recent Academy Award winner.

FIVE numbers from Leonard Bernstein's "West Side Story," which received 10 "Oscars" at the Academy Award presentations will be on the program.

During its portion of the program, the 91-piece Symphonic Band from Prospect High will interpret selections from "The King and I" along with other compositions. (ACM

Furnishings Not Priced Same Now

by STUART PADDOCK

Petersen's Designers Shop, 544 W. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights, is receiving a lot of inquiries from persons who desire to purchase some of that furniture that is displayed in an enlarged facsimile of an advertisement of that company that appeared fifty years ago in a Chicago newspaper. It was designed to help the 1912 bride select the furniture she needed in her new home.

Those were the days of the brass beds varying in price from $4.49 to $17.85; a high grade dining table for $19.65; Stewart gas range, $19.50; dresser with heavy French bevel plate mirror, $18.78.

Those were the prices our grandparents paid when they outfitted their honeymoon home. Arthur Petersen, whose grandfather owned the store advertising, has regretfully said "sorry" to many interested persons who wanted to take advantage of the fifty-year old prices. The circular in the window attracting so much attention is still on display.

Service Award To Counihan

Thomas J. Counihan, Arlington Heights, was awarded a service award last week by the Small Business Administration. Guess Emphasis on Apartments, Other

by JOHN REDDY

Vitality of future construction in the metropolitan Chicago area will be pegged to development of apartments, office buildings and industrial plants.

Erection of single family residences, hotels, motels and shopping centers is not expected to regain the record construction rates of previous post-World War II boom years.

This is the consensus of panelists participating in the fourth Economic Outlook Forum held last week with sponsorship by the Research and Statistics Division of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry.

While panelists agreed that the present decade can be expected to see dynamic changes in traditional construction techniques and methods of financing, they disagreed somewhat as to whether or not the present construction cycle is similar to that of the 1920's and early 1930's.

PANEL MEMBERS were of the opinion, however, that the financial power of big money institutions will tend to stabilize the over-all construction industry, eliminating the possible reoccurence of the Depression debacle that occurred in the early 1930's.

Participating in the panel discussion were Arnold C. Schumacher, vice president and economist, Chicago Title and Trust Co.; Leon T. Kendall, director of research, United States Savings and Loan League; Lynn A. Stiles, economist, Federal reserve bank; Edmond M. Shanahan, assistant manager, Savings Division, Bell Savings and Loan Association; and Paul N. Zimmerer, executive director, Mayor's committee for economic and cultural development.

Stiles, who noted that expenditures for plant and equipment improvements are expected by the U. S. Department of Commerce to increase eight per cent this year as compared to last, said, "The spotlight will continue to swing away from suburban single dwellings to apartments, mostly in the core of the city."

Although Stiles said the apartment boom shows no signs of weakening, his panel partner Schumacher predicted that the present rate in construction of apartments probably would not continue for more than 9-12 months.

"EVENTUALLY the vacancy rate will have its effect," Schumacher stated, adding that most apartment vacancies are related to poor location or a lack of transportation, services or scenic beauty.

He noted that while construction of single family homes has declined 31 per cent in the past two years, construction of apartments in the Chicago area has increased 52 per cent.

Commenting on the decline in construction of single family homes. Schumacher cited over-development of the middle 1950's, pointing out that home industry was the last industry to meet post-war demands.

The concentration was on construction of homes rather than apartments, leaving young families no alternative but to move into a home rather than an apartment.

FACTORS contributing to the slowing pace of home construction, Schumacher opined, are:

—The rise of land prices,

—Easy financing of the mid 1950's which contributed to over-development;

—Lower rates of family formation in recent years. "They are 50-60 per cent below what they were 10 years ago."

—Greater expense of home owners now as compared to the previous decade.

The cost of providing police, fire, sanitary and water services, coupled with the growing needs of schools, is increasing the home owners' burdens, Schumacher said.

"Young families in the 1950's didn't have much choice other than to live in a home. They couldn't get an apartment. A young couple today has a choice and there are many people who simply prefer apartment living to that of a home."

WITH THE reduced rate of home construction comes a decline in shopping center development, the experts observed, noting that the competitive influence of overlapping market areas tends to reduce the flow of capital in this type of development.

Schumacher said the only area where motel construction might be continued would be in vicinity of O'Hare Airport. He painted a gloomy picture for the "mine run roadside motels," citing over-development.

Taking note of the virtual lack of office building construction for the past 30 years. Schumacher predicted there will be a good long-range demand for offices in Chicago, much of the construction coming as replacement for older structures.

Present construction schedules call for a 12 per cent addition in office space in the Loop area. This does not include the proposed buildings for north Michigan Avenue or over the Illinois Central Railroad tracks.

INDUSTRIAL construction will be five per cent greater in the Chicago area this year than last, he forecast.

Kendall observed that the building industry already has seen the transition from journeyman to home merchant and predicted even more dramatic changes, many of which will come in the method for financing construction.

Large industrial concerns are looking for a place to invest money and the construction and real estate fields appear to be attractive, he opined.

Suburban communities accounted for some 26 per cent of the apartment construction during the years from 1957 to 1961, Kendall noted, with 33 per cent of this total being developed in the north suburbs, 23 per cent in the northwest, 37 per cent in the west and the remainder in the south suburban communities.

KENDALL STATED that the new apartment dwellers consisted primarily of newlyweds, recent business executive transferees and retired people who were extremely sensitive to costs. Stiles described the suburban apartment development as similar to that which occurred in the 1930's around the fringe of Chicago.

"I fail to see that the apartment boom is qualitatively different," Stiles declared.

Shanahan said the home hasn't lost so much of its appeal as a status symbol as the apartment has gained in recent years.

Panelists were unanimous in their opinion that urban renewal is a problem that in time will be for the suburban communities what it has been for the city of Chicago.

THE PROBLEM of race relations and the eventual impact the related problems will bring to the construction industry was fairly well sidestepped by the panelists.

Kendall, responding to a question from the floor, did opine that large builders are fearful that the federal government may induce fair sales legislation and force test cases that could lead to expensive litigation and associated ramifications. (A-14

Assessor's Mobile Unit in Suburbia

Assessor P. J. Cullerton this week announced the schedule of the mobile field office for its return visit to northwest suburban townships in Cook County.

The first round of visits started Nov. 3, 1961, and concluded April 7, 1962, after which time the unit was sent to the shop for necessary repairs.

Cullerton said that the first visit to the various townships "proved to be a tremendous success in serving the thousands of taxpayers who called at the field office to obtain information relative to their real estate assessments."

FROM TIME to time, the unit also served as a base for the field deputies engaged in assessing new construction and conducting spot surveys to determine if all existing buildings were properly carried on the assessment roll.

Cullerton has invited the taxpayers of each township visited to call at the mobile office and discuss with his staff any problems that they may have relative to their assessment.

Following is the schedule for the mobile office:

Barrington Township, May 1 to 5; Palatine Township, May 15 to 19; Wheeling Township, May 29 and 31, June 1 and 2; Hanover Township, Aug. 21 to 25; Schaumburg Township, Sept. 5 to 8; Elk Grove Township, Sept. 18 to 22. (B-8

Charges 'JFK' Means 'Jobs For Kinfolks'

MADISON, WIS., (UPI)—"JFK (Jobs for Kinfolks) has resulted in an alarming increase in federal civilian employment," Lt. Gov. Warren Knowles said Tuesday night.

Since the end of January, 1961, civilian employes in the federal executive branch increased by 90,000, Knowles, a GOP candidate for governor, told Dane County Young Republicans.

County Zoners Will Consider 4 Requests

The Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals will consider two zoning requests from Wheeling Township, another from Elk Grove Township and a fourth from Palatine Township in a public hearing set for Wednesday, May 9, in the County Building in Chicago.

The hearing is slated to begin at 10 a. m. in the assembly room of the County Board of Commissioners, Room 535.

One request, involving 158 lots totalling 44 acres of land bounded roughly by Euclid Ave., Sycamore Lane, Foundry Road and Westgate Road in Wheeling Township, is for a side yard variation.

ATTY. ROBERT B. Haskins, representing the petitioner, Brickman Builders of Mount Prospect, is asking for a variation of the 10-foot required interior side yard down to 10 per cent of the lot width but no less than 5.2 feet. The property, Haskins said, is zoned for R-4 single family residence district (10,000 square foot lots). Homes priced at between $25,000 and $30,000 are to be constructed on the lots, he added.

Haskins is also representing Builder Harold F. Adreani of Forest Heights, Inc., 7746 N. Harlem, Chicago, who is requesting lot size variations for 29 acres of land located on the southeast corner of Euclid Ave. and Sycamore Lane in Wheeling Township.

THE APPLICANT asks for a variation of the required 10,000 square-foot lot area to no less than 9,000 square feet and a variation of the required 10-foot interior side yard and the required 15-foot corner side yard to no less than 10 per cent of the lot width.

The property is zoned for R-4 single family residences. Haskins said approximately 87 homes are to be constructed in the $30,000 to $35,000 price range.

Another variation request concerns 31 lots totalling 6.7 acres located in an area bounded by Dempster St. on the north, Algonquin Road on the south and Mount Prospect Road on the east in Elk Grove Township.

The law firm of Weinstein and Facktor, Chicago, is representing the petitioner who wants a variation of the required 30-foot rear yard to no less than 15 feet on 31 corner lots in an R-4 single family residence district.

THE LAW FIRM refused to identify the petitioner. The property is held in trust by the Clyde Savings and Loan Association, 5817 W. Cermak Road, Cicero.

The fourth request is for a variation of the required 40-foot yard setback to no less than 30 feet and the required 15-foot side yard to no less than 10 feet in an R-3 single family residence district (20,000 square-foot lots) in Palatine Township.

The petitioner, Vernon C. Alexander, 895 N. Martin Dr., Palatine, wants the variation to apply to a half-acre of his land located on the east side of Martin Dr. approximately 600 feet north of Northwest Hwy.

Spring Means Time To Begin Planting

by ROBERT E. HOOD,
Asst. Farm Adviser

Spring and fall started with a bang this last week. Farmers are planting oats, plowing, starting early vegetables and at the same time harvesting last year's soybeans and corn. The busy spring schedule is late and the decision of what comes first is difficult.

The corn that is now being harvested is of fair quality showing less damage than might have been expected. On the other hand, farmers report the soybeans did not stand the winter weather as well as the corn.

With the planting rush that will continue for at least the next month, farmers need to make final decisions. Varieties of seed must be selected soon if they have not already been expected. On the other hand, farmers report the soybeans did not stand the winter weather as well as the corn.

With the planting rush that will continue for at least the next month, farmers need to make final decisions. Varieties of seed must be selected soon if they have not already been chosen.

THE RESULTS of the 1961 corn tests are available from our office on most of the commercial seed corn. Soybean varieties recommended include the popular Harosoy and Hawkeye varieties. Other good yielding varieties are Chippewa, Lindarin and Adams.

The use of chemicals and fertilizers for the different crops must be planned soon. The control of soil insects on corn has paid for the use of the material in 9 out of 10 fields in the past few years of date from farmers who used this practice.

The corn planter with all of the attachments is a far cry from the first planter I remember. Today in addition to planting the corn, farmers can fertilize, apply a soil insecticide, and apply a weed control chemical all at the same time.

PRE-EMERGENCE weed control methods for corn rests with Atrazine and Randox. Soybean pre-emergence chemicals that we recommend for this area are Amiben (a newly cleared chemical) and Randox.

Farmers may wish to look at the following list of circulars from the University this spring:

See 65,000 Attending Scout Show

Some 65,000 persons are expected to attend the fourth annual Scout-O-Rama on Saturday and Sunday, May 5 and 6, at O'Hare International Airport, Mannheim and Higgins Roads, Park Ridge.

Through two performances of this, the biggest outdoor Scout Show in the midwest, on Saturday, 2 to 5:30 p.m., and Sunday, 2 to 5:30 p.m., throngs of visitors will view and participate with a cast of 14,000 Cubs, Scouts, Explorers and their leaders as they display Scouting's program of skills, ceremonies, hobbies, crafts and sundry other activities.

Highlighting this year's exposition will be two huge water shows, a Cub Scout Wild West show and an Indian Village.

PROCEEDS from the sale of the 50 cent general admission ticket will go to help the individual Scout units of the council in the purchase of camping and program equipment. Over 300 individual booths will be alive with Scouts of the Northwest Suburban Council during the show.

According to Frank Newton, Scout executive, this year's theme, "Strengthen America . . Character Counts," will be in accordance with President Kennedy's appeal to help develop physically fit youngsters.

The Northwest Suburban Council is an active, participating member of the Des Plaines, Schiller Park and Suburban Community Chests, the Skokie Valley United Crusade, the United Fund of Park Ridge, Inc., the Barrington United Drive, the Mount Prospect Combined Appeal, the Prospect Heights Annual Appeal, and the Palatine Community Combined Appeal.

Riverview day

Saturday, June 16, from 11:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. will be Camp Fire Girls Day at Riverview Park. Tickets will be distributed at the May District Committee meetings. "Remember that this is an easy way for your Council to bring in additional funds," commented a leader. Girls are encouraged to distribute the tickets to all of their friends; a ticket admits a person to four free rides. Parents of the girls are responsible for seeing that their daughters and friends are transported to and from the park.

MEMBERSHIP MARCH

Every member who brings in a new member or whose group starts a new group will receive an award, a pin with Indian symbols for two persons and a heart.

New girls or group must be registered by June 1st.

MEMORY BOOK REVIEWS

The Council Committee of Awards will review books for national honors May 9. Books to be reviewed should be brought to the council office prior to this time and called for upon notification.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

The charming custom of making and delivering May baskets is still carried on by the Camp Fire girls. The usual recipient is a shut-in. Active in this project are the following groups: Shu-Tan-Ti-Na Camp Fire girls, whose guardian is Mrs. Marilyn Gardner, have delivered their baskets to the Arlington Rest Home; Ta-Cin-Ca Camp Fire girls, Mrs. Platt, Guardian, have distributed their flowers at the Thorsen Nursing Home.

Since almost 80 favors were needed for the Magnus Farm, several groups have worked on this. Their baskets contained candy and other surprises along with the flowers. Those participating are: Wawakis, Mrs. Norma Damm, guardian; Waziyata-Alan, Mrs. Jackie Dick, guardian; Little Moon Beams, Mrs. Delores Gross, Leader; Frisky Fawns fly-ups, Mrs. Ann Inselberger, guardian.

Leader's Association Meeting is at 9:30 a.m., Tuesday, May 8, in Pioneer Park. (B9

Ridge Park–Sherwood

FROM SHERWOOD

Bridge and bowling were topics of conversation in many Sherwood homes this week. Saturday, 27 couples attended the buffet supper and bridge which wound up the year's activities. Mrs. Nat Burfeind was chairman of the hostess committee for the supper, which was held at Gunnell's Restaurant. Special cut flower centerpieces, provided by the hostesses, decorated each table, and were then awarded as prizes for the evening. Joining Mrs. Burfeind as hostesses were Mrs. Jack Burgess, Mrs. Robert Chodera, Mrs. John Hogan, Mrs. Ronald Ehrke and Mrs. Frank Sulley.

Mrs. John K. Auld was chairman of the bridge group for the entire year. She awarded the year's prizes to the Wayne Holloways, Roger Rydens, Ron Ehrkes, Robert Blackburns and the John Richters.

WEDNESDAY, the Sherwood bowling league held its spring luncheon at Rolling Green Country Club with Mrs. Roger Ryden in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Herbert Conner is the outgoing president, and Mrs. Frank Sulley, the new president. Awards were presented by Mrs. Conner to Mrs. John Auld, captain of the Birch team, and Mrs. Roger Ryden, Mrs. Grace Reedy and Mrs. Harriet Peterson.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne W. Holloway have returned to 1004 Oakton Street after 10 days in New Orleans and Kentucky. They visited their daughter, Mrs. Sam Melton of New Orleans and spent Easter with Mr. Melton's parents, the C. H. Meltons in Barbourville, Ky.

RIDGE PARK

Bicycle inspections at Ridge School, tornado warnings, and spring cleaning kept most Ridge Park mothers busy as April ended. Watching out his window was Kevin Johnston, whose home next to Ridge School gave him a good view of his friends and their bikes. Kevin was home, though, convalescing from a tonsillectomy at Northwest Community Hospital. In his case, the song "Better Luck Next Time" proved an accurate prophecy. Kevin spent a night in the hospital a few weeks ago, and actually got as far as the operating room when it was decided to postpone surgery. Now he's glad it's all over and is looking forward to returning to school. Kevin's parents are the Warren W. Johnstons, at 728 N. Fernandez.

MRS. JOHNSTON'S mother and sister, Mrs. Havener and Miss Betty Havener, were among the guests at a Friday afternoon party given by Mrs. Vera Inselberger, 718 N. Salem. Others included Mrs. Ann Inselberger, Mrs. Trachsel, Mrs. Bird, Mrs. Liz Oertel, Mrs. Stephanie Korbel and Mrs. H. Erickson.

Last Monday and Tuesday were days Mrs. Jack Bickford, 1009 N. Race, will never forget. Monday her daughter Nancy was 4, and celebrated with neighborhood children at an outside picnic. Tuesday the Bickfords welcomed a second daughter, Constance Gail. Mr. Bickford's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Bickford, have come from Peoria to see their new granddaughter.

Ridge Parkers lost a neighbor this week, as the Gene Eaton family moved from 915 N. Kaspar to Fox River Grove.

Lynn Jensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Jensen, 935 N. Kaspar, was received into membership with the communicants' class Easter at First Prebyterian Church. Her grandmother, Mrs. Laura Jensen, of Neenah, Wisc., visited for the weekend. Her husband's aunt, Miss Nealie Jensen, and friend, Carl Godin, drove down from Milwaukee for the family dinner which followed church. Congratulations also go to the Jensen's son, Jeff, who was 9 Tuesday.

UNEXPECTED visitors at the J. H. Niell home Friday were Mrs. Niell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Nelson, who were returning to Tampa, Fla. They were eagerly welcomed at 630 N. Salem by LeAnne, Nancy and David, and met their new grandson, baby Jeffrey, for the first time.

The last few weeks have been busy ones for the John McNamaras, 924 N. Kaspar. Tommy was 9 recently, and celebrated with a small party attended by Kevin Ford, Michael Splitt, Terry Hawley, and Allan Sowka. Margaret Mary was two last Friday. This Saturday Eileen will be taking her First Communion at St. James. The McNamaras are expecting grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Harry McNamara, from Chicago, and John Garrity, from Aurora, as guests.

Mrs. Robert Fletcher was hostess last week at a bridge luncheon at 1106 W. Elm. Her guests were Mrs. Joseph Heinz, Mrs. Robert Cummings, Mrs. Ken Larkin, Mrs. George Lurtz, Mrs. Ray Lineback, Mrs. Robert Walker, and Mrs. Russell Rathsam. Lavender and violets decorated the house. High prize was won by Mrs. Robert Walker, low by Mrs. Ray Lineback, and traveling by Mrs. Ken Larkin. Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher have just returned from a weekend in Clinton, Iowa, their former home, where they attended the costume dance which opened the country club spring season.

Mrs. Russell Rathsam and her daugkhter, Nan, are home at 905 N. Patton after a week with relatives in Auburn and Omaha, Neb.

BASKETS WITH little umbrellas were among the favors and decorations at Vicki Lee Ryckaert's fifth birthday party Sunday. Sister Sherri helped her celebrate, along with Patty and Barbara Myslo, Kathy Kroll, Beth Doyle and Dalon Haley, Elk Grove. Vicki Lee's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Ryckaert, 820 N. Kaspar.

The Robert Cummings family, 1115 W. Elm, spent Easter weekend in Wisconsin with relatives, visiting Mr. Cummings' sister in Waunakee and his parents in Marshall.

Easter was a joyous occasion at the James Ronayne family, 1011 N. Kennicott. On hand to help Noreen celebrate her fourth birthday were both sets of grandparents, the M. J. Ronaynes of Glen Ellyn, and the G. R. Comptons, from Oak Park. Noreen's uncle Ed, and her aunt's family, the Joseph Aiu's, of Villa Park, were there also. Noreen had two cakes — the flowered cake from her grandparents and the bunny cake from her daddy. Last weekend the Ronaynes attended a K. C. dance in Des Plaines with several other Ridge Park couples-the Kleins, the Surettes, and the Kays.

GUEST OF honor at a spaghetti dinner Friday was Kathy Baker, who celebrated her birthday. Her hostess was Sue Reeves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Reeves, 815 N. Kasar. Sue's guests were Jean Cameron, Sunny Moran, Chris Howes, Margaret Marshall, Karen Olsen, Marcia Myers and Barbara Hack. Sue spent spring vacation in Bloomington with her sister Trilla, a sophomore at Illinois Wesleyan.

Marins Ferry, Ohio and Waynesburg, Pa. were the destinations of Sgt. and Mrs. Herbert J. Walters, who have just returned to 719 N. Salem after a two-week vacation. They visited her mother, Mrs. Edna O'Connor, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Walters. Highlight of the trip for Mrs. Walters was a country auction, as she collects china and ceramics.

Thursday, Ridge Park will be well represented at the St. James luncheon. Planning to attend are Mrs. J. O'Brien, Mrs. Theresa Juhl, Mrs. Agnes Saidikowski, Mrs. Stephanie Vleck, Mrs. Terry Jones, Mrs. Jeanette Doyle, Mrs. Margaret Schlickman and Mrs. Maureen May.

Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Schlickman had dinner in town with friends, and attended the Yankee-White Sox baseball game. (A

Lynnwood News

Mrs. Charleen Serbins, 1420 Yale Court, returned Saturday after a three-week stay in the hospital. She had an extreme case of influenza and complete exhaustion and stated she is feeling fine.

Eric Nelson, 1430 W. Maude, celebrated his April 25 birthday on Saturday with his wife, Vern, and the Harold Bauers of Long Grove.

Friday Dorothy and Bill Meyer, 1427 W. Maude Ave., attended the Jr. Women's Club dance at Old Orchard Country Club, which was also the opening night of the club.

Monday evening Dorothy attended a fashion show at Imperiales Restaurant in Palatine. Arlene Dobb was the consultant and Betty Swavely the hostess.

LAURNELL Wegrzyn and Dorothy Meyer attended their bowling banquet at the Waterfall Room in Rolling Meadows Bowl on Tuesday. Their team, the Dashers, won second place.

Dorothy Jannusch, 1615 N. Yale, attended a bridal shower for her sister, Patricia Bystrek, in Chicago on Sunday.

Saturday Dorothy and Bill Quirk, 1622 N. Yale, gave a party for their son, Billy, whose birthday was April 20. On Easter they held dinner for 12 people. Tuesday Dorothy drove her son to the airport so he could return to Connecticut, where he attends Yale.

FRIENDS AND neighbors extend their sympathy to Mrs. Sarah Templin, 1487 N. Wilke Road, on the recent death of her husband, John.

Birthday wishes go to several residents this week: Linnea Berry, 5, and Judith Ann Ridklefs, 1, April 18; Cathy Brodnan, 8, and Danny Harkin, 4, April 24; Jill Ann Berry, 2 April 25; Mary Elizabeth Mullally, 5, Robert Lasheff, 11, and Duke Lopata, April 29.

Residents are reminded of the Lynnwood Homeowners Association dance, to be held May 19 in the Palatine American Legion Hall. Dancing will be to the music of the "Gay-Notes." (A

Notes from Arlington Acres

Marie Marshall CLearbrook 5-2936

The school holidays preceding Easter prompted many Arlington Acres families to take vacations at that time.

One family driving South for a week was that of Gust Hermanson, 437 S. Forrest. Gust and his wife, Charlotte, with Greta and Mark, left on Palm Sunday with Biloxi, Miss. as their ultimate destination.

First stops were at New Salem, Springfield and St. Louis. Then a drive through Missouri, Arkansas, Tennessee and Mississippi led to a visit to the Union Cemetery at Vicksburg and an overnight stay at Natchez.

Other high points were fishing in the Gulf of Mexico, a stop at New Orleans with a trip through the French Quarter and a visit to the State Capitol at Baton Rouge. After attending Easter services in Memphis, the Hermansons started back, arriving home the following day.

THE SAME week saw Mrs. John Lynch, with Mark and Frank, 433 S. Forrest, off to Watertown, Conn., to spend Easter with her parents, the Frank Menetreys. John followed the end of the week in time to attend a surprise party given by Joan and her sister to celebrate their parents' 41st wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Roos, 2124 E. Park, and their children, Kathy, Mark and Eric, drove to Baltimore to spend Easter week with Mrs. Roos' parents, the Herbert Credes.

A shorter trip was taken by Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Longrie, Marcia, Mark and Keith, 429 S. Forrest, who drove to Oconto, Wis., over Easter weekend to spend the holiday with Lyle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Longrie. While there they attended a farewell dinner for a cousin moving to Rochester, Minn.

OTHER RESIDENTS of the Acres away for Easter were Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Lemons, 504 S. Prindle, who spent the week with her parents, the A. M. Huddlestuns of Olmsted, Ill. With them were their sons, Kevin, Murray and Spencer.

Last Sunday the Lemons entertained long-time friends, the Clarence Miller family of Manteno, for supper.

Mrs. Helen Witoslowski, the mother of Mrs. Ray Chappell, 440 S. Forrest, is visiting her daughter's family. Mrs. Witoslowski plans to return to Natrona, Pa., after Patty Chappell makes her First Holy Communion next Saturday.

Happy birthday wishes go to Charles and K. J. Scharf, whose birthdays were April 26 and 27. The boys are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Scharf, 528 S. Prindle.

A BIRTHDAY party with a circus theme was held on April 23 to celebrate the sixth birthday of Cathy Oravetz. Guests included Sharon Conway, Sharon Bakewell, Kim and Missy Slusser, Kris and Karen Soukop and Patsy Truelove. Cathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Oravetz, 533 S. Prindle.

Mr. and Mrs. Duke Kruse, 2123 E. Park, held a buffet supper for close friends and family members last Sunday following the confirmation of daughter, Kathy, at St. Mark Lutheran Church in Mount Prospect.

A double birthday was celebrated by the Both family, 433 S. Phelps, at dinner at the Elks Club in Des Plaines last Saturday. Mrs. Both's birthday was April 29 and daughter Joanne's was April 27. The distaff side of the family was toasted by Fred Sr. and Fred Jr.

The John Lynch and Gust Hermanson families were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Swenson, 428 S. Forrest, to celebrate the April 29 birthday of Mrs. Hermanson.

Congratulations on their April 30 wedding anniversary are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gryzik, 417 S. Forrest. (A

Library Well-Stocked With Books on Wars

By BETTY AINSLIE

The subject of wars will be written and rewritten and books of fiction and non fiction on World War II alone could spread over an almost endless shelf.

Arlington Heights public library has a group of new ones to add to their huge collection of books on wars.

"Now It Can Be Told" by Leslie R. Graves is the story of the Manhattan Project written by a man who is a lieutenant general in the U. S. Army. Some of the topics covered in this book are:

Scientists in the lab and field at Chicago, Los Alamos, Berkeley and other experimental points.

The building and operation of great plants at Hartford and Oak Ridge and the chances that were taken to get these huge projects to function.

The security and censorship measures that were enforced and the loop holes that developed.

Military intelligence at atomic developments throughout the world.

How flyers of planes with atomic bombs were trained and the schedules and locations of the bombing operations.

IN FACT THE book covers all the hardships and struggles, mistakes and failures of this project which have never been revealed before.

Ernest Gordon, who was an actual prisoner at Kwai camp, tells in the book, "Through the Valley of the Kwai," his experiences during the war years.

These prisoners who were starved and tortured and felt their case almost hopeless turned to a great spiritual rebirth.

The book tells how the prisoners made anesthetics from plants, started their own university, a library, a 40-piece orchestra and a church.

"The Conduct of War, 1786-1961," by Maj. Gen. J. F. Fuller, is a study of the ways in which political and economic changes since the French Revolution have altered the aims and techniques of war. The author also comments on modern warfare and the present cold war situation.

Ladislar Farago has written a new book called "Burn After Reading" which deals with the intelligence service of warring nations and the activities of the master spies.

"THE SECRET War" by Sanshe De Gramont is a detailed account of the cold war espionage as it has developed on both sides of the iron curtain. The author is a 1961 Pulitzer prize winner and this book has won the the Putnam award.

John F. Kennedy, our 35th president, wrote a book called "Why England Slept" while he was a senior at Harvard. Originally published in 1940, it has been out of print until recently. It is an interesting and factual account of the tragic events which caught England unprepared for war.

"Night Drop" by S. L. A. Marshall is about the 82nd and 101st airborne divisions who before dawn on June 6, 1944 were dropped behind Utah Beach with the mission to establish a foothold before the actual invasion.

The author is a brigadier general and one of the greatest writers on modern war. By personal interviews you meet many of the brave men of this group.

THE CONFLICT which shook the world and ushered in World War II is the subject of the book called "The Civil War In Spain," by Robert Payne. He has studied dispatches from the battlefront, diaries, captured documents and papers and personal interviews, and blended them into an interesting and informative book. (A

Eastwood Events

The Wigwam, near Litchfield Park in Arizona, was the site of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Laues' 10-day Western vacation. Relaxing in the pool and golfing, along with outdoor breakfasts in the desert, were high spots of their first Arizona vacation. When the Laues' 7-year-old son, Edmund, found a rattlesnake, he really knew he was in the West. The Laues flew both ways, and returned to their home at 1020 E. St. James after Easter.

The first part of Bill and Rae Inmans' recent trip was spent at the Investment Bankers of America Convention in San Antonio. After the usual convention fare of meetings, luncheons and dinners the Inmans went on to Capri at St. Petersburg Beach, Fla. for 10 carefree days in the sun, where they were joined by friends from Palatine. Athletic practices necessitated the Inmans' son, Greg, to remain in Arlington, which he did, and thoroughly enjoyed, staying at the home of neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Russ Walters.

ALSO RECENTLY returning, nicely tanned, from Florida were the Bob Luedeking and Herman Raasch families. The Surf on Treasure Island was their headquarters and here Bill and Barbie Raasch and Sue and Pete Luedeking took full advantage of the swimming facilities. The senior Henry Raasches and the G. H. Luedekings, who now live in Florida, were frequent visitors during their children's two-week stay.

Texas was the 10-day Easter vacation spot for Mrs. Robert Luker and her children, Sharon, Carol, Donnie and Kenny. Part of their stay was with Mrs. Luker's parents, Rev. and Mrs. John Elser in Cisco, Texas, where the Rev. Mr. Elser is pastor of the Lutheran Church. In Dallas the Lukers were guests of Mrs. Luker's sister and family, the Owen Koroeus and Linda, Keith and Bruce. A shopping spree at Nieman-Marcus and outdoor picnics were thoroughly enjoyed before the Lukers flew home last Sunday night.

HEADING East for an Easter visit was Mrs. Robert Fritz. In Abington, Pa., she spent the holiday with her daughter and family, Dr. and Mrs. Alvin H. Fisher and grandchildren, Cathy, Vickie, Jeff and Betsy. Mrs. Fritz arrived in Abington for Betsy's 3rd birthday on Palm Sunday, while Mr. Fritz joined his family on the Wednesday before Easter. Since the children were on spring vacation, many sightseeing trips were enjoyed, one of the most delightful of which was a trip to New Hope, Pa., where every house is a pretty shop of some kind, painted in Easter egg colors, and each boasting of a tiny postage stamp garden.

As president of the St. James Women's Guild, Mrs. John Mutti, was the organization's representative Monday night at the Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women when they observed the Campership Award at the Guild sponsored Girl Scout 50th anniversary celebration father and daughter banquet, which was held in the St. James school hall. Mrs. Norman Phillips, program assistant from District 21, will conduct the last session of the PTA Study Course May 8, 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. in Kensington School. "Committees and Leadership Training" will be the topic of discussion.

COUNCIL MEETING

Mrs. John Lindstrom, president of the Arlington Heights Council of Parent-Teacher Associations, has announced the annual meeting and school of instruction will be Wednesday, May 9, 10 a.m. at Pioneer Park.

WESTGATE K 5

Topic for the April 24 PTA meeting was "Protecting Our Children Legally." The speaker was Rolland A. Franzen, a member of the American, Illinois and Chicago Bar Associations who serves on the Constitutional Revision Committee of the Chicago Bar Association.

He spoke on the subjects of: Wills, Trust Funds and parents liability for actions of the children.

MRS. R. E. Yadon, secretary to the director of District 21 installed the new PTA officers for Westgate: William Meinhardt, president, Mrs. William Gosney, vice president; Mrs. William Cook, secretary; and Arthur P. Travis, treasurer.

Mrs. Gosney gave a report on the trip to Springfield for the PTA convention.

This was the final program meeting of this year

WILSON PTA

William A. O'Malley, Information Representative of Cook County Forest Preserve District, will show a film, "The Forest Preserves throughout the Four Seasons," to Wilson School PTA May 8 in the Wilson School.

O'Malley, a former newspaperman, has been with the Forest Preserve District for 31 years. "He is an impressive talker, and has appeared on TV and radio programs frequently extolling the beauties of the People's Country Estate, as he calls the Forest Preserve District. He has shown his picture and lectured to hundreds of educational, social, fraternal, commercial and institutional associations, winning their acclaim," said the PTA president.

John J. Duffy, president of the Cook County Board of Commissioners, has supplied the Forest Preserve District with maps showing names and locations of fishing areas, and general information about the forest preserves which Mr. O'Malley will distribute to all attending the closing meeting of the Wilson School PTA. Theologian to Give Address Here Sunday

Dr. Walter Leibrecht, world famous theologian and professor of historical theology, will give an informal lecture Sunday on the work and goals of the Ecumenical Institute, Evanston.

Dr. Leibrecht's address, "Bridges to Understanding," will be given at 8:15 p. m. in Recreation Park Fieldhouse, 500 E. Miner St., Arlington Heights. The public is invited.

The address is being sponsored by a committee of residents representing several Protestant denominations in the northwest suburbs. Chairman of the committee is Mrs. T. O. Grisell, 620 N. Highland Ave., Arlington Heights.

THE COMMITTEE'S interest in the Ecumenical Movement (move to unity of all Protestant denominations) was stimulated in 1961 at a public forum, also entitled "Bridges to Understanding," which featured leading spokesmen for the Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish faiths.

According to Dr. Leibrecht, the central concern of the Ecumenical Institute in Evanston is to "link the heart of our faith with the problems of the modern world." He serves the institute as its director.

The institute is called "ecumenical" because it is a direct outgrowth of the Ecumenical Movement, and in particular the second assembly of the World Council of Churches of 1954.

THE INSTITUTE was founded in order to provide a place where the church, its ministers, and students could carefully study the problems of the modern world.

Primarily, the institute was to be a Christian lay center. The decisive role of laymen in being able to bridge the gap between the church and the world is emphasized, Dr. Leibrecht points out.

"At this institute we have been concerned with the problem of understanding and communicating the Christian faith, and are seeking new ways to translate the insights of our Christian faith into terms relevant to us as modern people," he explains.

A PROFESSOR at Barrett Biblical Institute in Evanston, Dr. Leibrecht received his doctor of theology degree from Heidelberg University, taught three years at Harvard Divinity School with Dr. Paul Tillich, and was called to Evanston to organize and direct the Ecumenical Institute after its incorporation in 1957.

Following his address Sunday, Dr. Leibecht will answer questions from the audience.

For Conservatives

Rep. Derwinski Urges Realism

U.S. Rep. Edward J. Derwinski, R-4th, spoke Friday at a meeting of the Northwest Suburban Chapter of the Americans for Constitutional Action, warning the group that conservatives must be realistic if the conservative groundswell is to be successful.

According to Derwinski, conservatives must awaken to the fact of political life that due to the power of the Democratic machine in Cook County, it is wishful thinking to expect a conservative voting record from any Democrat from this county, even though he may speak conservatively before election.

"Consequently," Derwinski said, "conservatives must work to elect a Republican nominee for Congress even though he may not have been their preference for the post, since whoever he may be, he will be more conservatively inclined than any Democrat."

WITH SPECIFIC reference to the 13th District, Derwinski said the voters obviously must choose Donald Rumsfeld, "but be sure to let him know that the conservatives will be working for him and will support his conservative vote in Congress."

He further added that conservatives must not rely on principaled statements of position, but must roll up their sleeves and go to work in the precincts.

The ACA is an extreme conservative group which is primarily interested in election of conservative congressmen and senators who, in the group's eyes, will support the "basic constitutional principals which are the foundation of our free society."

The ACA rates legislators on their vote and Derwinski's rating is 97 per cent. Anyone interested in affiliating with the group can write the Northwest Suburban ACA, 102 S. State Road, Arlington Heights. (ACM

SOUTH MOUNT PROSPECT

Senior Mariner Troop U.S.S. Enterprise 65 had four foreign students as guests at their recent international dinner. Guests were: Florence Berger of France, student at Arlington High School; Luis Arellano of Chili, student at Palatine High School; Asad Khawasa of Pakistan, student at Prospect High School; Mayra Torres of Cuba, student at Sacred Heart in Arlington Heights. Floral centerpieces, attractive and edible, were made by Mrs. Regis Balkey, co-leader.

Troop 499 eight graders are now meeting Wednesdays at St. Mark's. Members Amy Williams, Janice Schimek and Karen Peterson shopped for the contents of the Easter basket they delivered to an elderly Chicago couple.

TROOP 401 seventh graders earned a total of 43 badges which were bestowed at a Court of Awards this month. Every member received at least one badge and all won first class rank. Three fourths of the badges given were in the outdoor field.

Troop 559 sixth graders met requirements of campcraft and outdoor safety at an overnight April 18-19 at Camp Pine. Mrs. Frank D. McDade, leader, and Mrs. Jim C. Pollard, a mother, accompanied the girls.

Troop 543 sixth graders enjoyed an overnight April 18 in the back yard of their leader, Mrs. Edward Shaw. Members worked on buddy burners, lashing and cooking for the campcraft badge. Mothers present were Mrs. Richard G. Tiffany and Mrs. Gale E. Smith.

PROSPECT HEIGHTS

Many patients were made happy at the Chicago State Hospital at Easter by the thoughtfulness of Troops 540 and 563, when they received Bunny straw favors, colored hard-boiled eggs and decorated cupcakes. Easter egg flowers were delivered to the Svithoid Nursing Home by Troop 23, which helped make their Easter Season enjoyable.

Besides putting on an entertaining puppet theatre for the Countryside School for Retarded Children April 19, Troop 258 is busy making scrap books, book binding and doing potato printing.

Some of the troops are busily involved in Mother's Day projects such as Troop 563, who are making planters for their mothers as well as completing their badges, and also Troop 138 which is making Mother's Day vases, along with preparing for their fly up in the last Friday in May.

TROOP 565 had its first cook out this spring, April 25 in the back yard of Mrs. Jouse. The spring-like weather, along with the aroma of Sloppy Joes made it a memorable occasion for all.

Prospect Heights Neighborhood Song Fest is to be held June 10 at the Prospect Heights School instead of the Aquacenter, which was previously announced.

NORTH MOUNT PROSPECT

Third Grade Brownie Troop 293 went roller skating at the "Y" last Monday, accompanied by their leaders Mrs. Gafford and Mrs. Dahlquist and Troop Committee Chairman Mrs Minner. (B9

'Lost Weekend' Filled with Parties, Storm Windows

Arlington Heights had a "lost weekend" of sorts; it lost summer on Saturday, an hour on Sunday and the month of April on Monday.However, for a "lost" weekend it was a lively, busy one as returning vacationers, birthday partyers and storm-window removers will attest.

Dale Eriksen almost had an outdoor party to celebrate her sixth birthday Saturday but last week's preview of summer didn't last long enough. There was a party at 2108 N. Chestnut anyway, with games, birthday refreshments and five neighborhood guests under roof instead of sunny skies. Dale's big sister, Barbara, took over the game departments and Mom did the refreshing while Dale and guests had fun.

Another small Eriksen, Phyllis, was 2 years old April 21 and big-eyed over the happy song, 2-candle power cake and congratulations of the family celebration for her.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hawkins, 721 S. Chestnut, weekended in Appleton, Wis. to visit their son, Jerry, at Lawrence College and celebrate Mrs. Hawkins' Friday birthday with him.

TIMOTHY BARNES, 702 S. Dunton, turned 2 Saturday, received lots of neighborhood congratulations then and celebrated some more at a Sunday family party that included Mom's cousin, Mrs. George Hartson of Chicago.

A pre-nuptial party April 15 feted the former Carol Kindler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kindler, 407 N. Dunton, who was married Saturday to Alfred Faccini of Detroit. Mrs. Thomas Totzke, 1261 S. Walnut, cousin of the bride, was hostess to relatives and friends of the family and joined them in showering her surprised honor guest with miscellaneous gifts.

Bride-elect Susan Layson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Layson, 1109 N. Dunton, was the guest of honor Saturday night at a miscellaneous shower given by her bridesmaid-to-be, Miss Susan Keller, and Miss Patty Schanmier, Miss Betty Holloway and Miss Penny Fink. In the Keller home, 512 W. South, 65 high schoolmates and other local friends gathered to shower Miss Layson with gifts and good wishes.

A JUNE 16 wedding is being planned by Miss Layson and Michael Koenig of Palatine who will make their marriage vows in St. John United Church of Christ. They will live in Denver where the groom will continue his studies at the University of Denver.

Ellen Elizabeth, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stateler, 1014 N. Walnut, was christened Easter Sunday in St. James Catholic Church and the event marked later at a family gathering in the Stateler home. Adding their blessings to the day were the baby's grandparents, the G. Hamiltons of Park Ridge, and the C. D. Statelers of Evanston, and her godparents, Donald Stateler and Miss Susan Hamilton.

Dinner guests Monday evening in the Victor Dale home, 1020 N. Walnut, were the host's sister and brother-in-law, the Douglas Sowles of Montevideo, Minn. Mr. and Mrs. Sowles were in the Chicago area as chaperones for Montevideo high schoolers during the youngsters' 3-day tour of the city.

THE PHILIP M. Clancy family is home again at 116 E. Rockwell after a 2-week vacation in New Orleans, Biloxi and Hot Springs. With the Clancys for a week were former Arlington Heights neighbors and long time friends, the Robert Skamfers of Barrington. Fishing, golfing and celebrating the junior Philip Clancy's April 21 birthday filled the 2-family vacation schedule.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Black returned home to 701 S. Chestnut early last week after an Easter visit in Fairbault, Minn. with Mrs. Black's sister and brother-in-law, the Lewis K. Remleys.

Also recently returned are Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Brown, 509 S. Chestnut. and Mr. Brown's niece, Monica Light of Lake in the Hills. They spent about two weeks in Alabama, Georgia, Florida and Mississippi where Mr. Brown attended business matters and escorted his girls on pleasurable sight-seeing tours.

Not-so-gay sights were there, too, in the newly flood-stricken south and once they motored right into a dramatic rescue scene. They witnessed a family being taken from a tree where they had been clinging after their car was caught in a flash flood and swept under a culvert. Serene and lovely as always were the Golden Isles, off the coast of Georgia; the Browns and Monica stayed on St. Simon Island and Monica especially enjoyed a swim in Jekyll Island's Aquarama.

MRS. ALBERT HAWKES, 411 N. Carlyle, was hostess last Thursday afternoon to 10 fellow members of the Evanston Drama Club at a luncheon in her home.

Mrs. Albert Smothers of St. Johns, Mich. is ending a 3-week stay here with her daughter and family, the Carson Scoggins, 717 S. Walnut. Mrs. Scoggins spent a week in St. Johns with her mother early in April, then brought Mrs. Smothers back here for the Easter season visit.

Mrs. Howard Garrison, 1108 W. Miner, was guest of honor yesterday afternoon at a birthday luncheon for eight given by Mrs. R. W. Moreau, 1112 W. Miner. The festive luncheon and an afternoon of bridge made Mrs. Garrison's birthday as enjoyable for her neighborhood friends as it was for the honor guest.

THE FRANK LETHS, 503 S. Evergreen, returned early last week from a 10-day Easter vacation in Panama City, Fla. They left here Palm Sunday immediately after a family celebration in Mundelein, marking the baptism of their grandson, Craig Lowell Gallimore, born March 19 to the Leths' daughter, Joy, and her husband, David. Also present at the baptism was the Leths' daughter, Dawn, Mrs. Ted Lisec, with her children of Indianapolis who were ending a week's visit here with Mr. and Mrs. Leth.

MRS. ALFRED WILCOX, 210 S. Brighton. gave a coffee last Thursday to welcome her new neighbor, Mrs. Sidney Rosenfeld. The Rosenfelds moved to Arlington Heights from Palos Park, Ill., and are the parents of two young children, Laura and Phillip. Mr. Rosenfeld is an attorney, with offices in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Jurco, 217 S. Windsor, spent last week in Worthington, Ohio, visiting friends.

Gale Oberlin, 201 S. Dryden, celebrated his birthday Sunday at a surprise dinner party planned by Mrs. Oberlin. Guests included their son and daughter-in-law, the Gene Oberlins of Carpentersville, and their two children and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heiden of Arlington Heights.

Another birthday celebrated in Stonegate last week was the fourth birthday of Danny Shuart, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Shuart, 214 S. Stratford. He was host at a party for all his friends from the neighborhood.

MR. AND Mrs. Richard Dunlop, 1115 Mayfair, and their four children, spent 11 days in western Pennsylvania, exploring, visiting and discovering points of interest, while Mr. Dunlop gathered material for an article he is writing to be published in the "Home and Hyway" magazine.

The trip was an usually interesting one, especially for Mrs. Dunlop, who was born and reared in that area. She was able to revisit familiar places and friends and share this experience with her family. During their stay in Pennsylvania, they drove to Bradford and spent several days visiting Mrs. Dunlop's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Titus.

Bradford Godfrey of Tiburon, Cal., who was in the midwest on a business trip, spent four days in Arlington Heights, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Godfrey, 307 S. Carlyle Place.

AMONG STONEGATE families returning from spring vacations in Florida were the Ralph Lillebergs, 322 S. Derbyshire, and their son, Tom. The Lillebergs went to New Orleans and Biloxi first and then spent three weeks in St. Petersburg.

Their daughter, Karen, flew down, to join them from St. Olaf college.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Moore, 311 S. Windsor, and their daughters, Sally and Kate, returned Sunday from a 2-week stay in Sarasota. Here they renewed acquaintances with the Robert Barbour family, who formerly lived in Scarsdale, and they had Mrs. Clarence Livingston, a Stonegate neighbor for many years, come from her home in North Miami, for a week's stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hamilton, 111 S. Dryden, and their children, Tom and Peggy, joined her parents, the Howard Milburns of South Bend, in Fort Lauderdale for a 2-week vacation. One of the highlights of their stay was attending a polo game, their first.

MR. AND Mrs. Wilbur Downing, 115 S. Wilshire, and daughters, Barbara and Judy, are home from a 2-week vacation in California. They divided their stay between Long Beach, where they visited her sister and family, the Harold Schodrewskys, and in San Diego, where they visited Mr. Downing's sister and brother-in-law, the Richard Forts.

Miss Judy Strobel was home from Valparaiso University for a 10-day visit with her parents, the Walter Strobels, 1319 Mayfair.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hall, 1305 Woodford, entertained at a dinner party Saturday. Among their guests were the Peter Toffolis, Glen Carlsons and James Websters of Long Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sutton, 627 S. State, and daughter, Shelley, flew to Palm Beach, Fla. and then joined friends from Northbrook, the Jack Hitchons and their son, Steve, at Singers Island for a 2-week vacation devoted mainly to deep sea fishing.

The Suttons and Hitchons motored home, sightseeing along the way with a stopover at Lookout Mountain in Chattanooga.

MR. AND MRS. Albert Dunham, 401 S. Bristol, and their children, Tom and Sherry, returned Saturday from a 2-week visit with Mrs. Dunham's parents, the Charles Neals in Sarasota, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Johnson, 311 S. Belmont, are home from a 2-week vacation in the South. They spent a week golfing in Florida and a week in Rock Hill, S. C., visiting both their mothers, Mrs. E. B. Johnson and Mrs. J. F. Thomasson.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brauer, 447 S. Lincoln, were in Toledo the past week visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whitmore, and other relatives and friends.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Whiteman, 705 E. Rockwell, were her sister, Mrs. William Van Fleet, and her friend, Mrs. Charles Taylor and daughter, Linda, who were enroute to their home in Detroit from Ames, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter McQuillon, 760 S. Belmont, are back in Arlington Heights after spending three months at their home in Howey-in-the-Hills, Fla.

MR. AND MRS. George A. Glow, 603 S. Belmont, returned Sunday from a 2-week vacation in Hot Springs.

Mrs. Lois Bollinger of East Moline is here with her daughters, Linda and Susan, for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Goyke, 205 S. Pine. Sunday, Mrs. Bollinger and Mr. and Mrs. Goyke attended the first communion service of a grandchild, Miss Mary Susan Sielitz of Addison, which was followed by a reception.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gustitus, 400 S. Dryden, and two of their sons, Paul and Glenn, have returned from Cape Coral, Fla., where they visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Johns. One of the high points in their stay in Florida, was a reception Mr. Johns gave to celebrate three birthdays, her own, Mr. Johns', and her daughter's, all of which fall the third week of April.

At the reception they met all their old friends and relatives who came to offer toasts and to share the huge birthday cake. Mrs. Gustitus' birthday gift from her parents was a trip to Miami Beach for the whole family with visits to the Jungle Gardens, Caribbean Gardens, the Sea Acquarium and other points of interest in the area.

Another high point in their visit to Florida was attending the sunrise Easter service on the beach at Cape Coral.

There will be another birthday marked in the Gustitus household Thursday when their son, Paul, turns 16. While he celebrated the event in Florida with his parents, he is looking forward to his 16th birthday which will bring the acquisition of a driver's license. (A

VIRGINIA TERRACE

Terrace talk ranges from Mort Sahl's bright remarks to visiting one of New York's ball parks.

When George and Carol Clarkson, 1259 N. Chicago, visited Chicago last Saturday night they not only enjoyed dinner at the Embers Supper Club, but climaxed their evening being entertained by the sweatered, sardonic Sahl, who is appearing at Mr Kelly's.

New York's Yankee Stadium entered the picture when Mag and Martin Corley, 1326 N. Chicago, visited there last week to see the Chicago White Sox defeat the Yankees. The Corleys were spending the week house-hunting in New Jersey, as Martin's job transfer will necessitate their moving East at the end of this month.

IN LINE WITH the Corley's return on Monday, Barbara Wiederhold, 1322 N. Chicago, hosted a coffee in Mag's honor. Neighbors attending included Donna Garland, Alice Eisenhuth, Marcy Micek and Shirle Husted.

Last Thursday Shirley Vogtritter, 1208 N. Race, joined the United Airlines Pilot Wives Association for their monthly luncheon at Montana Charlie's in Elmhurst.

A bowling party was held Saturday in honor of Steve, son of Don and Jane Von Ebers, 1410 N. Illinois, who was celebrating his 10th birthday. Guests, all of whom enjoyed returning to the Von Ebers for cake and ice cream after bowling, included Steve's brother, Don, Chuckie Moser, Denny Herrity, Fred Schlexer and Steven Aldrich.

It was "Old Home Week" for Vaneta and Ray Kellogg, 1341 N. Wilke, last week when Vaneta's niece, Miss Marnell Shreve of St. Louis, whom they hadn't seen for two years, was their houseguest. When the Kelloggs bid farewell to Marnell at O'Hare Thursday, they greeted her brother, Dee Shreve of Connecticut, and availed themselves of his two hour layover to become reacquainted, inasmuch as they hadn't seen Vaneta's nephew in six years. Unfortunately, as they were leaving the airport a mishap occurred to mar their pleasant day, when Vaneta's mother, Mrs. Vivia Whitney, slipped and broke her wrist. Best wishes are extended to Mrs. Whitney, who is in Northwest Community Hospital

Timothy, son of Len and Ruth Stanley, 1408 Oakton, celebrated his seventh birthday last Saturday with a family party.

WHEN JIM AND Betty Spore, 1239 N. Wilke, returned home after spending the Easter holidays in Indianapolis with former Minneapolis neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hill, they were pleasantly surprised to learn their son, Jina, an Arlington senior, was one of the National Merit Scholarship awardees.

For the past month or so Arlene Lagerhausen, 1244 N. Chicago, has been dividing her time, along with daughters Suzanne and Kathleen, between her folks, Mr. and Mrs. Greeneltch in North Palos, and Jack's folks, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Lagerhausen in Skokie, while Jack was on a country-wide tour. He visited New York, Boston, Cleveland and Los Angeles assisting with an educational and advertising program for furniture dealers.

Last Thursday night Ed and Marion Nielsen, 1252 N. Illinois, joined friends to celebrate an anniversary at the Empire Room in the Palmer House. Marion reports the dining and dancing were second only to seeing the excellent performance of Andy Williams who headed the floor show. Following their "night on the town" the Neilsens prepared to greet Marion's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Soderstrom of Ogema, Wis., who will be their houseguests for the next few weeks

ANNA MARIE and Michael, children of Angela and Emil Piscopo, 1325 N. Race, provided a double-feature in the tonsillectomy department in Norwegian American Hospital in Chicago last Friday. Fortunately both patients were enough improved to join in a birthday celebration for their daddy on Monday night — at least in the ice cream category.

You've heard of bouncing Cechs? Well, that describes Ed and Betty Cech, 1402 N. Chicago, along with children Marcia, David, Linda and Alan, the past few weeks. Marcia joined a group of 100 students of Arlington and Prospect Heights High Schools for a week's tour of Washington, D C. After their jet flight, the group toured national monuments ranging from Lincoln's Memorial to Mount Vernon; as well as diverse points-of-interest including the Russian Embassy and the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

During this time, the rest of the Cechs "bounced" of to Lauderdale-By-The-Sea in Florida, where they enjoyed daily pool and ocean swims, as well as side trips to Cypress Gardens and Miami Beach.

WHEN BETTY and Bob Gumz, 1248 N. Chicago, along with sons Roger and Jimmy, returned from spending the Easter holidays with Betty's folks, Mr. and Mrs. George Deutsch in St. Louis, they brought Betty's mother back for a week's visit.

Kathy, daughter of Joan and Frank Zaucha, 1409 N. Race, celebrated her seventh birthday a few days early to enable her party guests to see "Pinocchio." Playmates attending the combination luncheon and movie party on Saturday were Mary Beth Paul, Susie Catlin, Marilyn Donath, Janet Fluhrer and Nancy Sorensen, as well as Kathy's sister, Laura.

During their long Easter weekend in Saginaw, Bill and Kay Platte, 1318 N. Race, hosted a birthday party for their youngest son, Jimmy, who was one-year old. The Plattes were visiting Kay's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Nuerminger.

With the thought of the "Mountain and Mohammed" in mind, several neighbors brought her birthday coffee and cake to Pat Mercer, 1248 N. Chicago, last Thursday. Due to her injured foot, Pat is unable to leave the house, which is why Shirley Landes, Arlene Lagerhausen, Pat Ross and Audrey Cornelius feted her there.

LAST WEEK Curt and Joan Wayne, 1237 N. Chicago, and their children, Bruce, Claudia and Constance, drove to Hagerstown, Ind., to visit Joan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Gates, for four days. Upon their return they included Nancy, who had been visiting her grandparents for the preceding two weeks.

The Murphy family, 1314 N. Illinois, have been busy people the past couple of weekends. Over the Easter holidays Karen, Bob and the children, Donna, Mary and Mike, drove to Kenosha to visit Karen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Medory.

Arlington Greens

The Arlington Greens round robin bridge games for the month of April were hosted by the A. Kalkhoffs, Ed Zelsmanns, William Lebsocks, Tom McCooks, Pete Bunnelles and the Pat Dannas. The top three scores to date are held by: Mr. and Mrs. Tony Bengal, 27,000; Mr. and Mrs. William Lebsock, 26,450; and Mr. and Mrs. Len Hauskey, 23,310.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Kalkhoff, 909 E. Olive, and daughter, Ann, motored to Louisville, Ky. for a four-day Easter weekend visit with a sister and her family, the C. P. Ossmans, and grandmother, Mrs. Ethel Reed.

A flight home on Tuesday of last week ended a two-week vacation trip to Detroit for Mrs. Norman Sterner and the children, Kathy, Danny and Norman Jr. They visited the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Burton.

PAULETTE TRAINA, 643 E. Clarendon, celebrated her sixth birthday on Easter Monday with an afternoon party for Robby Saflarski, Gary McNamara, Theresa Gorey, Susan Kay Lebsock, Neal Hall and Johnny Walsh.

Five-year-old Peter Damiano, 1120 N. Pine Court, observed his birthday last Saturday afternoon with a "Pinochio Party." Joining him for refreshments and the trip to the movies were Craig Warman, Mark and Patti Foreman, Mary Beth Woelck, Ricky Doherty, Tommy Wolfmeyer. Billy Bunnelle and his brothers and sisters.

Newcomers to the Greens are Lester E. and Jane Oliver, 1172 N. Beverly. Until April 27 they were residents of Park Forest. A son, Mark, is a student at Bloom Junior College. Mr. Oliver is employed by Hills Brothers in Park Ridge.

Sport Dates to Antiquity

Out of the Past . . . Falconry Survives

Woehrl, Fitch Fly 'Em Here

by JIM DAVIES

High up in the sky, so high it wasn't visible from the ground, "Magna" wheeled in a loose circle, "waiting on." Below, a flock of crows passed by, one with an injured wing straggling behind the rest.

"Magna" did a slow roll, folded its wings against its body, put its legs together and balled its talons into fists, and streaked toward the crippled crow, "stooping," at more than 100 miles an hour.

The crow didn't have a chance against the four pounds of guided missile that was and is "Magna," a gyrfalcon trained for hunting by George Woehrl of Maywood, who has been an active addict of the sport of falconry for the past seven years.

"Falcons, like any hawk, are opportunists," Woehrl said. "They'll tackle anything they think they have a chance of beating, but they take the weekest prey when there's a choice. For something larger like a fox, they work in pairs."

WOEHRL'S gyrfalcon, the largest of the falcons, is one of only 10 in the United States. Its natural habitat is arctic regions Iceland, and Norway.

Another local falconer is Ed Fitch of Arlington Heights. who has a prairie falcon named "Mule" because it was so stubborn during the training period. The prairie falcon is the Americanized version of the Old World peregrine, and about one-third smaller than the gyrfalcon.

Both Woehrl and Fitch consider falconry the most fascinating sport in the world. "The aesthetic aspect is as important as seeing them take the game," Fitch said. "Watching them fly and maneuver is something fantastic."

Falcons originally were trained to kill game for the table of the owner before the advent of firearms, and the sport itself dates back to antiquity. It is believed to have originated in China.

SINCE IDEALLY the birds should be flown every day or two, the sport gained great popularity in Europe among the nobility and monks, who had the time to devote to it. And the gyrfalcon was the most prized of possessions, then and now.

Fitch said the social status of a man could be told by the type of falcon he owned.

"At the height of falconry in the sixteenth and seventeenth century in England," Woehrl added, "the finest gift you could give to a head of state was a cast (pair) of gyrfalcons."

Technically, the term "falcon" is correctly applied only to the female but the term is loosely used to mean any hawk distinguished by its relatively long wings, notched tooth and method of killing its prey. The male is technically called the tiercel.

FALCONS KILL by slamming into their prey on the ground, or by "binding" to it in the air and plummeting with it to earth.

Falcons are probably the most pampered of birds and receive far better care than the caged parakeets and canaries.

"The thing is, you can't make a pet of a falcon," Fitch said. "You form a partnership with it."

This is one of the reasons training a falcon is so different from training a dog, for instance. You can't punish a falcon when it doesn't do the right thing. If you strike it, the chances are from then on it will have nothing to do with you, won't eat, and finally die.

"The only way to approach the training of a falcon is through handling and feeding," Woehrl said.

THE NEWLY-TRAPPED falcon is likely to be "electric," or nervous, and it is calmed by wearing it down. Two or three people take turns carrying the falcon on their fist for perhaps two days and two nights, keeping the falcon awake all this time. In the end, it calms down strictly through weariness.

Then it is made to come after meat attached to the lure. At first, the falcon is tethered to a perch with a 20-foot line. Gradually, the length of the line is increased and the falcon made to fly farther and farther to the lure. When it passes its tests repeatedly and successfully on a 100-foot line, the lure is detached.

The next time it comes after the lure, the lure is snatched away and the thwarted falcon will soar up into the sky and wheel, looking for the accustomed meat. The trainer whirls the lure with the meat attached and the falcon swoops down on it.

Soon, the bird will circle the trainer, "ringing," until the lure is produced, then "stoop," or streak down on it. It is ready for the hunt.

"USUALLY," WOEHRL and Fitch said, "you 'wed' a falcon to a particular game. You train it with this game and it develops an affinity for it and won't go after other types of game."

Although falconers are licensed by the State of Illinois to hunt with their birds, they can only hunt game birds during the regular season and this is dangerous because regular hunters often shoot at anything with wings and the falconers might lose a valuable bird to a careless hunter.

Consequently, they often "wed" their birds to crows, which can be hunted anytime.

Woehrl almost lost his gyrfalcon in Mount Prospect recently, a calamity he compares with the sinking of the Titanic. "After all," he said, "gyrfalcons are the living end in falconry."

The heart-stopping incident occurred about two weeks ago while Woehrl was in New York. He had left "Magna" with his brother-in-law in Mount Prospect and the bird got away one day as she was being tethered to her block perch outside.

SINCE THE falcon was not rigged for flying, it still had the jesses (leather thongs attached to each leg) down, the swivel and leash on.

The fear was that the bird would get the leash tangled in a tree, trapping the bird. Another worry was the weather. Thy gyrfalcon, being an arctic bird, is very susceptible to heat.

Immediately, Fitch was called to help hunt the bird, and a call was put in to Woehrl in New York. Woehrl caught the first plane back as soon as he got the word, arriving about dawn.

For two days, Fitch and Woehrl drove the countryside and tramped the fields, swinging the lure and hoping "Magna" was somewhere around and would see it. Even if the bird was so high it was out of sight from the ground, her microscopic and telescopic eyesight would catch the slightest movement on the ground.

AND THEN, while Fitch and Woehrl were driving along at about Wolf and Foundry Road, Fitch spotted "Magna" in a field. Woehrl attached a pheasant to the lure and "Magna" came to it immediately.

"What a feeling of relief," Woehrl said.

Woehrl's experiences with falcons include many which are funnier than they are near-tragic, since most people are unfamiliar with the sport of falconry and think it odd for a man to own a bird like "Magna."

One time when Woehrl had lost the hood (kept on the bird when traveling to keep distractions from making it nervous), he was tramping back and forth in a field with "Magna" perched on his fist, looking for the hood.

He had noticed a man in a car parked on the road by the field, but had paid no attention to him. Finally, the man tramped out into the field and stopped Woehrl.

"BEFORE I GO out of my mind, would you please tell me what the devil you're doing?" the man asked.

"I can imagine how it looked to him," Woehrl said. "A grown man walking back and forth in a field with a bird perched on his fist."

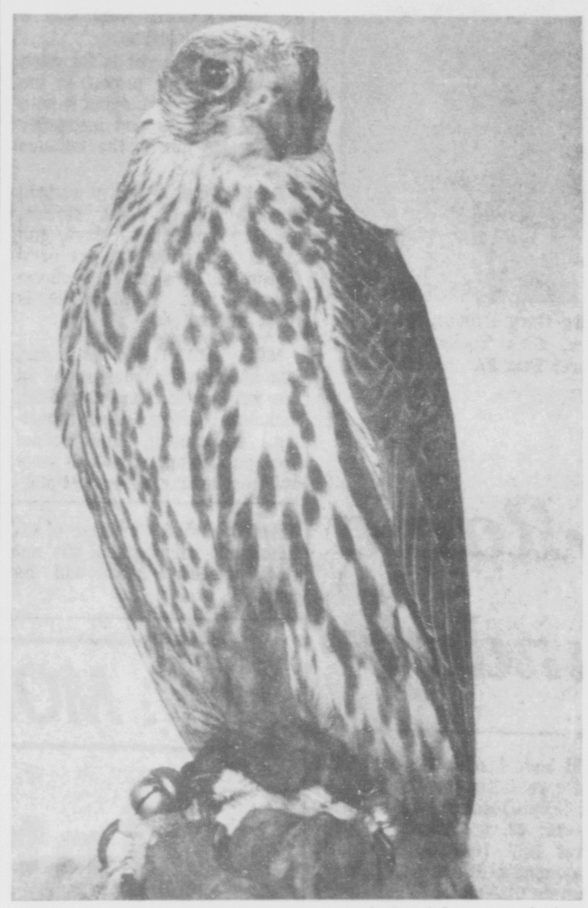
Some things aren't so funny, and one of them is the wanton destruction of hawks of all kinds, even though they are protected by law.

"You should stress the fact that these hawks are beneficial and rid the countryside of many pests," Fitch said. "Not only is it illegal to kill a hawk, or owl or eagle, it's morally unjustifiable."

"It's fantastic the way people seem to want to destroy these birds," Woehrl said.

So take heed, Mr. Hunter, the next time you get a yen to shoot that high-flying, wheeling, barrel-rolling bird circling and soaring above. It may be the flying partner of a falconer. (B8

GEORGE WOEHRL has been a falconer for the past seven years and wouldn't trade "Magna," his rare gyrfalcon, for four lesser falcons. (B8



"MAGNA" IS A gyrfalcon, largest of the falcons, and the pride of its owner, George Woehrl of Maywood. In hunting trim it weighs three and four-fifths pounds, and even a half-ounce difference either way will make it a poorer hunter. The bells on its legs, especially made for their clear chime in Pakistan or India, help Woehrl find "Magna" after she has made a kill. (B8

PERCHED on the fist of Ed Fitch of Arlington Heights is "Mule," a prairie falcon trained to hunt. The hood keeps "Mule" from becoming nervous and distracted while traveling or in a strange place. "Mule" is an eyass, a bird taken from the nest in contrast to an adult bird which has been trapped. "Mule" can fly about 80 miles an hour in level flight.

Village Theatre

Rehearsals Going On for 'Cadillac'

Like a capsized beetle pawing the air with his legs, W. R. (Red) Pownall lay flat on his back on a table in the auditorium of Pioneer Park in Arlington Heights.

A smiling and nodding Alice Linde held a telephone to his ear as he shouted into the telephone and continued his gyrations.

Stage manager David Dove and assistant stage manager Ann Hume scribbled notes and symbols on the margins of their scripts as director Richard Tyler, in true director style, called instructions and pantomimed action for Pownall and Mrs. Linde.

IT WAS A rehearsal of Act 1, Scene 6, of "Solid Gold Cadillac," which Village Theatre will present May 31, June 1 and 2.

Stage dimensions were blocked out with folding chairs, tables served as desks. Although no one was in costume and the only visible prop was a telephone, a play was taking shape before the eyes of onlooking Village Theatre members serving as the audience.

Harriet Smith entered on cue and began to deliver her lines. David Dove pushed a button on the sound board and the telephone rang. Pownall shouted into the telephone again and slammed the receiver down with a crash. Director Tyler called direction. Alice Linde trotted in.

OVER AND over and over again, the cast molded and shaped its performances, perfecting the scene to fit like a piece of a puzzle into the other scenes of the play.

Rehearsals will continue at Pioneer Park three hours a night, three nights a week, and gradually the actors will absorb their lines and throw away the scripts; gradually they will assume the mannerisms of the character they portray.

The afternoon of May 27 will be moving day for the actors. Into the chaos of set construction, flats being painted in back, lights being adjusted overhead, furniture pushed under and around them, they will move onto the stage in the Prospect High School theater.

And rehearsals will go on, the actors apparently oblivious to the confusion around them.

MOMENTUM WILL be gained the Monday before the big weekend with the arrival of props and the near-finished costumes; Tuesday the pace will pick up; Wednesday night the actors will be catapulted into the finality of dress rehearsal.

And opening night, appearing calm and confident, fully costumed and made up, the actors will present their wares to the audience, and a play will have been born. (Bill

TELEVISION TINKERERS

by ED LANDWEHR

The inside of a TV set is fascinating, and we can appreciate the urge a "do-it-yourself" person would have. But after seing some of the results, 'please don't!' The results can be saddening, and expensive, too.

It's risky, too, because there are from ten to twenty thousand volts stored up in the set. Even after it's shut-off and disconnected.

The thousand and more connections and components can only be checked with the proper electronic meters. This is no place for tinkering.

Better phone CLearbrook 5-0700 and watch a technician from LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights service it. In most cases we can do it right in your living room. We'll guarantee our services and your satisfaction, too. You can watch us.

There is much unrest in the world today, and it sometimes makes one stop and think how lucky we are that we live in this country. No, I'm not going to wave the flag, just a thought.

It is great that we live in a country where we still have the privilege of griping if we don't like something—and are able to shout it from the roof tops if we so desire. Yes, we enjoy so many small freedoms that we take for granted freedoms that would seem like miracles in other countries. I like to think about this every so often as it gives me a warm glow. (Come to think of it, a martini does the same thing.)

The wonderful thing about this freedom is that you can disagree with what I write.

Lift Bar's License to Sell Liquor

The Fox and Hounds tavern located at 1584 Rand Road near Des Plaines had its liquor license suspended by Cook County for 15 days effective April 25 for having gambling equipment on its premises.

The action was taken by County Board President John J. Duffy, liquor control commissioner for the county.

The liquor license was issued to Betty Sardo, a spokesman for Duffy's office said.

The county's Liquor Control Commission issued liquor licenses to establishments located in unincorporated areas of the county. (B-8

Three Scout Leaders to Attend Meet

The Northwest Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be represented by three leaders at the 52nd annual meeting of the National Council of the organization in Portland, Oregon, May 17 and 18, it was announced this week. Harold English of Barrington, council president.

The national meeting will be attended by 2,500 men representing the 529 local Scout councils which serve 5,210,214 members in 132,626 units. Local leaders will be representing 14,000 boys and leaders affiliated with 306 units. The meeting theme is, "Strengthen America —Character Counts."

REPRESENTING the Northwest Suburban Council at the meeting will be English, George F. Muhly, commissioner of Mount Prospect, and Frank B. Newton, Scout executive of Mount Prospect.

The annual business meeting will be held May 17 in the Sheraton Hotel ballroom with annual reports presented in an unusual way, resolutions will be adopted, and the election of officers and members of the national executive board will be held.

Adult Education

Writing Workshop Is May 8 to June 26

Due to the keen interest of participants in developing writing skills, Creative Writing Workshop conducted by Valerie Kraft during the fall and spring semesters of the Arlington Adult Education Program, will continue with a "Summerlab" for eight sessions from May 8 to June 26 inclusive.

The course target is for each student to pick a project at the first meeting, developing it with the aid of class and instructor suggestions during the balance of the term.

Past projects have ranged through short, short stories, mystery novelettes, plays, full length magazine articles and featurettes, the student choosing the field in which he is most interested.

MRS. KRAFT, the instructor, has had a wide background in the writing and teaching field, including editing, news reporting, advertising, and school book publishing, as well as present free lancing with short stories and articles currently appearing in national magazines.

Beginners are welcome to join the current course, which will meet at the Lauterberg & Oehler Community Room, 2000 E. Northwest Highway, Arlington Heights, on Tuesday nights, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Full information will be given to interested persons who telephone CL 5-1131.

Businesswomen's Club Wins State Award

Mount Prospect Group Is Cited

The Mount Prospect Business and Professional Women's Club was well represented and honored during the 41st Convention of the Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs held in Peoria April 26 through 29.

The Mount Prospect club was honored with awards for membership and promotion. Thirteen members of the club attended.

They included Mrs. Charles Gardner, president; Miss Marion Baesel, president-elect; Mrs. Alfred Martin; Misses Helen and Mary Atmore; Mrs. John L. Henry; Mrs. Robert Robertshaw; Mrs. Ruth Hoffmeister; Mrs. Charles Mertes; Mrs. Mae Bradshaw; Mrs. Ralph C. Lynn; Mrs. Robert Grinke and Miss Joanne Busse.

FIRST PLACE for promotion of National Business and Professional Women's Week went to the chairman of the project for the Mount Prospect BPW, Mrs. Barbara Johnson.

Promotion included a silhouette contest and an essay contest for high school girls. A trophy was presented by Mrs. Helen Bushell, state public relations chairman. It was accepted by Miss Baesel.

Membership awards were accepted by Mrs. Gardner on behalf of the club.

Dr. Frances Whitehead, outgoing state president, called the convention the largest in the 41 year history of the federation. There were 879 official voting delegates and 54 alternate delegates registered.

IN DETAILING the growth of the state federation, Dr. Whitehead reported there are 9,313 members in the federation. She said 1,180 new members joined this past year and two new clubs were chartered which brought the total of clubs in the state federation to 127.

Delegates heard Charles L. Dancey, Editor of the Peoria Journal Star speak on "An Editor Speaks about Community Life." He was featured speaker for the Friday luncheon.

Friday afternoon's business session featured a skit, "Show The Way" and detailed the new streamlined committee set up which will operate within a two committee structure.

Dr. Frances Whitehead was featured speaker at Friday evening's banquet. Her topic was "Awards and Rewards." During the evening membership and special awards were made.

SHE BEGAN her talk by reading words to a song written by the late Dr. Katherine E. James, charter member of the Rockford club. The song was written to be sung to the tune of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Dr. Whitehead is a candidate for third vice president of the national federation. A song written to the tune of "Mother" was presented during the evening, which will be the campaign song at the national convention to be held in Los Angeles, July 15 through 19.

Saturday was devoted to the business of electing new officers for the state federation, electing delegates to the national nomination committee.

MRS. MARY LOU Koonce, of Cairo, was elected new president of the state federation. Other officers elected include Mrs. Mildred Menard, Kankakee, first vice president; Miss Jean McCarrey, Tuscola, second vice president; Miss Dorothy Paddock, recording secretary and Miss Verna Larson, Chicago, treasurer.

The new officers were installed Friday night at the Golden Key Banquet.

Principal speaker for the closing banquet was Miss Pauline Frederick, NBC News' United Nations Correspondent. Her topic was "The United Nations in a Changing World."

She told the conventioneers "Some people seem unable to locate themselves accurately in time and place in relationship with today. They frequently talk as though they are living in another world, in another day and age."

SHE SAID, "The rocking chair may have been revived, but grandfather's clock has not been. Whether we recognize it or not, we are living in the 20th century where the time of day in Washington is only rocket seconds away from the time of night in Moscow."

She warned, "To write off all the political, economic and social restlessness across the globe as communist inspired is to do an injustice to our own intelligence."

The newswoman made fervent pleas for peace which she believes is possible only through conferences across the tables of the United Nations.

"Man dreams of peace but when the alarm rings he jumps to the sound, ready to receive his battle gear," she said. "It is traditional having him respond this way.

"This traditional behavior of some could mean sucide for all," she warned.

Miss Frederick quoted former president Eisenhower as saying "Nuclear war is ultimately insanity." She compared the spending of $60 billion for arms to "a game of chicken played by reckless adolescents."

SHE PLEADED for the survival of the United Nations saying while it is not perfect it is the only answer to world peace. She cited its successes and its weaknesses.

In telling of the late Dag Hammarskjold, Miss Frederick expressed a desire that his beliefs in the United Nations be upheld.

The convention closed Sunday morning following special breakfasts for new presidents and "old timers."

TWO MEMBERS OF the Mount Prospect Business and Professional Women's club posed with state and national federation officers in Peoria Saturday during a reception for new state officers. Mrs. Mae Bradshaw, left, and Mrs. Charles Mertes, second from right, are shown with Dr. Frances Whitehead, outgoing state president, next to Mrs. Bradshaw; Mrs. Mary Lou Koonce, new state president, center and Miss Fannie Hardy, right, immediate past president of the National Federation of BPW. (B8

MISS MARION BAESEL, president-elect of the Mount Prospect Business and Professional Women's club accepts a trophy for first place in the state for promotion of national Business and Professional Women's Week. Miss Baesel accepted the trophy in behalf of her sister, Mrs. Barbara Johnson, chairman of BPW Week who could not attend the State Federation of BPW Clubs convention held in Peoria. (B8

Drum & Bugle Show June 3

Although the blare of a bugle and the roll of a drum may make you think only of a parade of olive-drabbed groups playing strictly martial music, a modern day and bugle corps competition means much more — and one will be staged in the northwest suburbs next month.

Arlington Post 981, Veterans of Foreign Wars, is sponsoring such a show on June 3 for the benefit of the "Guardsmen," a junior drum and bugle corps with member from the northwest suburban area.

"Music on the March," the first annual invitational show will be held at 1:30 p.m. at Prospect High School athletic field, with six corps competing for trophies and cash prizes.

Invitations were issued only to the top corps in the area to insure a quality program.

Advance tickets can be purchased from any post member or Guardsman for $1.

One of the corps competing will be the "Royal Airs" of Chicago, sponsored by the Patrick T. Hallihan Post 3580, Blue Island, and Cicero Post 96, American Legion.

IN 1961, this corps traveled some 18,000 miles to compete in various contests. Their music ranges from "Yankee Doodle Dandy" to "Pagliacci."

The group has won many national honors and several individual champions are included in the corps. (ACM

Half of Cook County Injury Cases No Good

A spokesman for the Illinois casualty insurance industry said Tuesday that the trend of personal injury verdicts in Cook County courts indicates clearly that at least half of the 69,000 cases backlogged in Cook County may be without merit.

Thomas R. Flynn, financial analyst for the Allstate Insurance Companies, said that the actual ratio of unsubstantiated pending claims may run considerably above 50 per cent.

Only the so-called "prime" cases are pressed to verdict by plaintiffs' counsel, he said, and Cook County juries are rejecting 56.3 per cent of such "prime" cases.

FLYNN analyzed the insurance company roles in court congestion in an address before a breakfast meeting of the Old Orchard Optimist club, presided over by Optimist President Ed Reed.

As a representative of the Illinois Insurance Information Service, his address presented the viewpoint of the 23 principal Illinois casualty companies serving this state.

Flynn said the Illinois insurance community very much welcomes measures to expedite case handling in Cook county by steps such as the forthcoming addition of 17 circuit court judges to the bench.

WHILE responsible casualty companies welcome acceleration of litigation, he continued, the underwriters cannot and will not abdicate their responsibility for defending their insureds against exorbitant or spurious claims in the small fraction of cases which are pressed to final verdict.

Flynn pointed out that less than six per cent of all claims result in legal action; that only a small fraction of that six per cent are tried to verdict; and that Cook County juries are throwing out more than half of the claims that do reach the verdict stage.

"From Sept. 1, 1960 until July 1, 1961 — the last complete court term — there were 312 verdicts of not guilty as against 267 verdicts of guilty with damage awards in all courts of Cook County — federal, superior, circuit, county and municipal," Flynn said. "That represents just about 54 per cent of all verdicts for the defense.

"AND THE midway figures in the current court term now in progress show that the full term figures were no freak. At the midway mark in the current term, as of last Jan. 1, 56.3 per cent of all cases tried to verdict in Cook County ended in not guilty verdicts.

"On basis of those figures, it's pretty hard to escape the conclusion, indicated by impartial juries, that at least half of the personal injury cases in the Cook County backlog are without merit," Flynn said.

The public, said Flynn, often tends to overlook the service of the casualty industry in acting as a friend of the courts by the quick and amicable settlement every year of thousands of claims which never reach the courts.

OBVIOUSLY, he said, over half of the cases tried in Cook County should not have been pressed by the plaintiffs to trial, in the judgment of the impartial juries which threw them out.

"Significantly, in many of those decisions that went for the plaintiff, the awards arrived at were no greater and often were less than settlement that had been offered to the plaintiff and could have been his for the taking without any expensive litigation whatsoever and without adding to the burden of the courts," said the Allstate official.

"And remember, under the contingency - fee system with which most of these cases are tried, the lawyers for the plaintiff take at least 25 per cent and sometimes up to 50 per cent of any court awards," he concluded. (B8

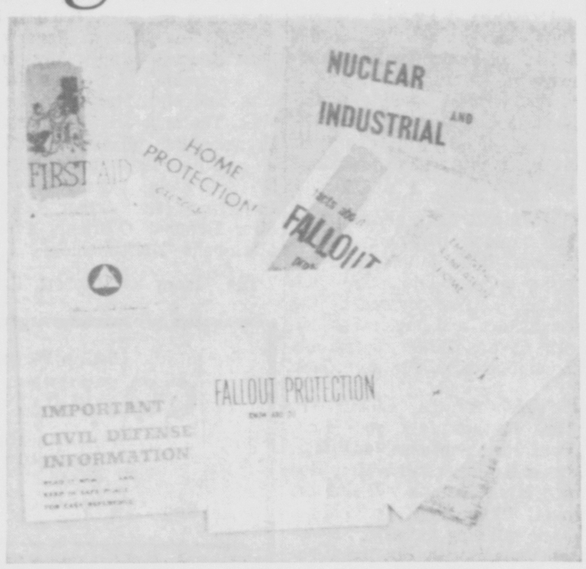
CD Booklets Mailed To Arlington Homes

In a move to fully inform Arlington Heights residents on how to survive in the event of a nuclear attack, village Civil Defense authorities this week mailed a complete set of information booklets to every local household and every business or professional office.

"If you're one of those people who can't realize the danger of nuclear attack and the importance of preparing yourself to protect yourself and your family, at least keep the materials in a handy place so you will have them available should an attack come."

This was the advice of Wallace Daughtry, village Civil Defense director.



THE UNITS mailed this week consist of six booklets, including the new "Fallout Protection" booklet issued by the Federal Government in December. Others deal with first aid, emergency sanitation at home, home protection exercises, and family fallout shelters.

Business firms will receive, in addition, a booklet called "Nuclear Attack and Industrial Survival," describing how industries can best prepare for survival from nuclear attack.

The booklets are contained in a string-tension envelope designed to permit both easy reference and permanent storage. Civil defense officials urge that every adult not only read and study the booklets, but also store them in a safe place for easy access in an emergency.

CITING HIS reasons for making the mailing at this time, Daughtry said: "It is time that people accept the fact that we may live under the threat of nuclear attack for the rest of our lives and that they must prepare accordingly.

"Preparation for the individual means knowing what to expect, what to do, and where to go.

Everyone hopes for permanent peace, but one's own common sense tells him this is practically impossible at this stage of world history. Even the people who believe that it is somehow possible to achieve a disarmament agreement with the Russian Soviet, admit that such an agreement still would not solve the eventual Chinese threat."

DAUGHTRY said that during the past 10 years there have been 863 meetings with the Russians at which either general disarmament or a ban on nuclear weapons has been discussed.

"These 863 meetings have ended without a single solitary agreement, despite numerous concessions offered by the free world," Daughtry said. "It is, of course, obvious that the Communists do not want an agreement."

The Arlinton Heights CD director came out strongly for the recent resumption of nuclear tests by the United States, "for it is apparent that the security of our nation and the rest of the free world depends upon our nuclear strength."

"THESE MISGUIDED people who are making pleas to Congress to stop testing are not only greatly misinformed as to the insignificant health hazards of such testing, but are also doing this country a great disservice by urging that its military strength be allowed to weaken compared to that of the Communists, which would simply mean that eventually the Communists would take over," Daughtry said.

Daughtry added that the closer we get to full civilian defense preparation, with everyone informed in basci Civil Defense techniques and fallout shelter provided for everyone, the more surely we prevent war.

"For we will never have war until the Communists are sure they can win." (A

THIS WEEKEND OR EARLY NEXT WEEK, every Arlington Heights householder and business firm will receive this material in the mail. The village Civil Defense authorities urge you to study it and put it in a safe place for easy access. It tells most of what you need to know to survive a nuclear attack, if survival is possible. "If not for your own sake, for your family's sake," Wallace Daughtry, village CD director, pleaded.

ALL RECORDS FOR attendance and proceeds were broken at this year's Little League Pancake Day in Arlington Heights. Unofficial figures indicate some 6,000 persons attended the all-day affair last Saturday and the Little League netted about $4,000. "The best ever," one of the sponsors said. At one point during the program, Kenneth Hood (left), of 604 W. Campbell, president of the village Little League, was presented a check for $200 from Walter Kehe of the local Elks Club. The check represented proceeds from last year's Little League all-star football game, sponsored by the Elks.

Streamwood Man

Hold Suspect In Palatine Bar Slaying

A 32-year-old Streamwood man, arrested April 24 in Portage, Wis., has been charged with the April 7 murder of Palatine tavern owner Everett McCrea.

Accused of shooting McCrea, 44, and firing three bullets into his wife, Louise, 42, is Ronald Martin, of 102 Hickory, Streamwood.

Martin and his 19-year-old brother-in-law, Fred Baum, of the same address, were picked up after a Portage police officer noticed the two cars they were driving had identical Illinois license plates. A routine check resulted in their return to Palatine.

Martin appeared before Police Magistrate John D. Hayes last Saturday, when the preliminary hearing was continued until 7 p.m.

POLICE SAY Martin has undergone four lie detector tests in connection with details of the shooting, and three in an effort to determine the whereabouts of the gun, which has not been found. All have been inconclusive.

He has not, as stated in some published reports, admitted the slaying either orally or in writing. Nor has he admitted owning a gun, police said.

Robert Centner, acting chief of police, said one of the cars in which Baum and Martin were arrested while driving was seen in the vicinity of the shooting shortly after the slaying, April 7, and again the night of April 21.

BAUM, BEING held as a material witness, provided police with a 14-page statement in which he described how he waited in a car near the tavern at 60 N. Bothwell St. while Martin took a gun from under the front seat and went in to purchase some beer.

According to Centner, Baum said he heard three shots while his brother-in-law was gone.

Police have been unable to find the murder gun, which they believe may have been thrown away in Milwaukee, where Baum said they drove after the incident. Because of possible legal technicalities, they have not yet searched the Streamwood home, which is owned by an out-of-state couple.

CENTNER SAID Mrs. McCrea has not identified Martin as the gunman with whom she attempted to wrest away a .22 calibre pistol, nor even identified him as among the patrons in the tavern the night of the shooting.

Centner said, however, that other patrons have stated both Baum and Martin were in the tavern the night of the shooting, and both men admit having been in the tavern that night.

Centner said he believes Mrs. McCrea is still suffering from shock.

MARTIN, AN ex-convict who served a 1-to-3 year sentence in the Wisconsin State Penitentiary for a sex offence involving a minor, has expressed willingness to undergo further lie detector tests, and to testify under the influence of so-called truth serums, Centner said.

Both Martin and Baum waived extradition and were returned here by Centner and Officer Frank Ortiz, Palatine, and Lt. Walter Weingart of the Cook County Homicide Division.

Arlington High

Prizes Pile Up for After-Prom Doings

Students of Arlington High School who attend the After-the-Prom party and train trip May 30 will have an opportunity to enter a photography contest and other competitions fo rgifts and prizes.

Al Wilcox, chairman of the entertainment committee, said all students should bring cameras using 620 or 120 film, and plenty of film.

DEVELOPING and printing of the film will be free, and the person taking the best picture on the trip will be awarded an 8 x 10 portrait, courtesy of Community Camera.

The train trip will take place May 30, after the prom given by the junior class for the senior class, to be held at Melody Mill in Riverside. Frankie Masters and his orchestra will play from 8 p.m. to midnight.

When the dancers return to Arlington Heights, they will find waiting for them at the Arlington Park race track two Chicago combos, the "Red Jackets" and the "Supremes." They will provide music for dancing in the race track parking lot until time to board the train.

WILCOX AND his committee are keeping many of the prizes to be awarded a secret, but they announced that some lucky boy and his date will receive a free train trip.

Other prizes will be steak dinners at restaurants in the area, gift certificates from local merchants, free haircuts and beauty shop appointments, cartons of soft drinks, and 150 McDonald's specials. Each person attending will receive at least one gift or souvenir.

The decorated, 10-car train will leave for Genoa City, Wisc., about 1:30 a.m. May 30. There will be two 81-foot cars for dancing, with music piped throughout the train. Fathers of the students will supervise entertainment aboard the train.

AT THE END of the four-hour ride, buses will be waiting to transport the youths to Nippersink Manor, about 2½ miles away.

After breakfast, the couples can choose from an extensive list of indoor and outdoor activities. Highlights of the indoor program will be a full length color movie and an exhibition dance group. Outdoor activities will include boating, swimming, shuffleboard, tennis, horseshoes, bicycling, softball and pingpong.

After lunch the students will board the buses and then the train for the return trip to Arlington Heights. The train will arrive at the race track about 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 30.

THE STEERING committee, headed by Frank Hauff and Harold Smalley, has arranged for insurance for the trip. Thomas Mathews and George Hoban acted as advisors.

Every effort, they said, has been made to insure the safety and health of the travelers. Two nurses and a doctor will be on the train and in attendance at the lodge. Police will be stationed at each key loading point to direct traffic.

About 25 mothers of students will drive to the lodge Wednesday morning and be on hand when the students arrive. Forty chaperones will assist in the activities at the lodge.

THE COMMITTEE expects about 600 students to participate in the trip. Tickets cost $25 a couple, which includes everything. No money will be needed on the train or at the lodge. Students have until May 12 to purchase tickets at the Bank of Arlington Heights in Arlington Market.

Merchants who have contributed prizes to be awarded during the party are:

Arlington Barber Shop, Jim's Barber Shop, Collins Barber Shop, Parkway, Rob Roy Golf Course, Beverly Lanes, Palatine Golf Course, Brandt's Restaurant, Jack Gunnell, Four Seasons Sporting Goods, Campbell's Hearthstone.

Community Camera, Muriel Mundy, Lorraine - Anne, McDonald's Drive In, House of Jarvis, Consumers Mart of America, Hapsburg Inn, Rick Casares Pro Bowl, Olivo's Beauty Salon, Flaherty Jeweler, Harris Pharmacy, Crawford's, Quaker Oats, Arlington Theatre, Bill Cook's Buick, Mrs. W. New BOLI Head Is Russell H. Colvin

The Board of Local Improvements of Arlington Heights elected Russell H. Colvin, of 605 S. Bristol Lane, its new president last week, succeeding Harold Klingner.

Klingner has been president of the board since May, 1959, and stepped down to let someone else take over the helm. Colvin has been a member of the board since May, 1959.

The board of local improvements is an advisory board which makes recommendations on proposed surface and underground improvements in the village - street, sewer, sidewalk work, for instance - to the village board of trustees.

MEMBERS OF the BOLI are appointed by the village manager, in contrast to the plan commission, which is appointed by the trustees.

Village Manager L. A. Hanson said the BOLI has been very active under Klingner's direction, and fostered many improvements in the village. He said Klingner has provided a fine example of leadership.

Colvin was elected by his fellow board members to a one-year term. (A

Three Veteran Firemen Are Retiring, Feted by Mates

FIRE CHIEF HARVEY CAROTHERS did the honors and served the canapes recently at a dinner honoring three retiring Arlington Heights volunteer firemen, one of whom could not be present. From left are Richard Glantz, village trustee; Martin Engelking, retiring with 18 years service; Floyd Dobbins, retiring with 25 years service; and Chief Carothers. Glantz also is retiring, but from the village board. His firm has transferred him and he will leave in June. The third fireman retiring is Marvin Rodewald, who has 26 years service. (A

Three veteran Arlington Heights volunteer firemen retired recently and were honored at a dinner at North Side Fire Station, given by their fellow firemen and Chief Harvey Carothers.

They are Floyd Dobbins, 25 years service; Martin Engelking, 18 years service; and Marvin Rodewald, 26 years service. Rodewald was unable to attend the dinner.

Gold retirement badges were presented to the retiring volunteers, and Dobbins and Rodewald also have received wrist watches for their 25 years of service.

CHIEF Carothers commended the men for their many years of service to the community, and said they had served in the finest tradition of the department.

The dinner was attended by the men's fellow fire fighters and by village officials.

Village President John G. Woods presented the retiring fire fighters with framed copies of official resolutions of commendation passed by the village board, adding the board's praise for the time the retirees have served the village, and the public spirit they have displayed as volunteer fire fighters. College President To Speak at Church

The Rev. Richard Waddell, interim president of MacKenzie College in Sao Paulo, Brazil, will speak in the First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights this Sunday, May 6, at both the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services.

The public is invited to hear his message on "20/20 Vision."

The Rev. Mr. Waddell was born to missionary parents in Salvador, Bahia, Brazil, in 1903 and began his education in a school his father founded in Ponte Nova. Later he went to MacKenzie Institute in Sao Paulo, one of Brazil's outstanding schools (kindergarten through college).

HE CONTINUED his education in the United States and was graduated from San Anselmo Seminary in San Francisco. After serving three years as pastor of a church in Nevada, he went to Brazil as a fraternal worker.

In 1935 the Rev. Mr. Waddell was married to another fraternal worker and the Waddells started their career together with a five-month trip on mule back through the San Francisco River Valley, covering some 2,500 miles. For the next 18 years they spent their lives in the valley.

In 1952 the Rev. Mr. Waddell was appointed field representative in Brazil and the family moved to Sao Paulo where their two sons were studying. (A

LaMonica To Assist In Crusade

MICHAEL LaMONICA

Michael J. LaMonica of 331 S. Donald Ave., Arlington Heights, is serving as co-chairman in the "beverages" group of the mercantile, food and general merchandise division for the American Cancer Society April crusade.

LaMonica is branch manager of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., in Chicago. He formerly helped with fund-raising activities in St. Louis and Kirkwood, Mo. His hobbies are gardening and carpentry.

His responsibilities as group co-chairman are to recruit volunteers to contact the beverages industry. The goal of the entire Chicago business division is $398,500, which is its share of the state goal of $1,900,000. (A

Local Couples Will Head YMCA Drive

The Stephen Jurcos, 217 Windsor Drive, and the Robert Bukowskis, 810 N. Dunton, will be co-chairmen for the Arlington Heights division of a wind-up building campaign planned for Northwest Suburban YMCA this month. The announcement came this week from Mr. and Mrs. William Busse of Mount Prospect, who will head the entire campaign.

A drive to raise $120,000 will kick off on May 20 with 512 volunteers expected to form the campaign organization. Of this group, 128 will serve under the leadership of the Jurcos and Bukowskis in the Arlington area. Their goal is $30,000.

OF THE total cost of the $1,100,000 YMCA building which serves this area, approximately $980,000 has previously been pledged by more than 10,000 industries, individuals, organizations and local businesses.

The campaign is being held at this time in order to receive a $50,000 anonymous contribution which has been pleged providing the balance of the build-in debt is pledged by the surrounding communities by the end of 1962.

PLANS ARE UNDER WAY for a wind-up building campaign for Northwest Suburban YMCA. Shown above are the Stephen Jurcos and Robert Bukowskis, left to right, mapping the Arlington Heights division of the drive, for which they are co-chairmen. Emphasizing that the 'Y' helps people to help themselves, the campaign leaders urge Arlington residents to support this oldest of voluntary youth-serving organization. (A

THE YMCA is a voluntary, that is, non-governmental organization serving in hundreds of ways in the northwest suburbs. Over 1,200 families from this area are members, and hundreds of others have used its facilities, including Arlington High School swimming team.

All but 12 per cent of the YMCA's current operating budget is paid by those using the facilities. The balance is contributed through suburban Red Feather organizations.

NO TAX dollars are used to subsidize the YMCA, and every dollar contributed does the work of four because of the large number of volunteer hours given by hundreds of civic minded indivduals. All money is used, with many additional dollars, to work 100 per cent in our community.

The campaign will appeal to all friends of the 'Y' to contribute or pledge to help eliminate the building debt. The Jurcos and Bukowskis invited those in the Arlington area who are interested in helping make this campaign a success to contact them. Both Jurco and Bukowski serve on Northwest Suburban YMCA board of directors. (A

Busy Firemen

The Arlington Heights Fire Department answered five inhalator calls last week and put out one grass fire. The department also was called to the Wash 'N' Shop, 36 N. Dryden, Sunday night when a faulty florescent light overheated. There was no damage. (A

Church Choir to Give 18th Century Cantata

"Gloria in D," a sacred cantata by Antonio Vivaldi, an 18th century Italian composer, will receive one of its rare American performances when it is presented by the choir of Our Lady of Wayside Church, Arlington Heights, accompanied by a small chamber orchestra, under the direction of Mrs. Norbert Hruby, this Sunday at 3 p.m.

The concert, which is free to the public, is the opening event in the celebration of the church's 10th anniversary.

This famous composition, an elaborate musical setting of the Gloria in excelsis Deo from the Mass, was written for solo voices and a mixed choir and scored for strings, oboe, C. trumpet, and organ.

ANTONIO Vivaldi (1689-1741), known as "the Red Priest" of Venice (so called because of his red hair), was a violin virtuoso and a distinguished composer, a contemporary of Johann Sebastian Bach, who greatly admired him.

Writing in the mainstream of the baroque tradition, Vivaldi enjoyed fame in his day, but his star went into eclipse until he was rediscovered by the conductors and musical scholars of the 1930's. Today his reputation is on the ascendant.

Soloists for the "Gloria" are Mrs. Howard Jack and Mrs. Paul Roy, sopranos, and Mrs. Louis Sorenson, alto. Mrs. Roy and Mrs. Sorenson will sing the duet, "Laudamus Te." Mrs. Jack will sing the aria, "Domine Deus," with Mr. Laurence Stocking, oboist.

"DOMINE DEUS, Agnus Dei" will be sung by Mrs. Sorenson with the chorus, and Mrs. Roy will sing the aria, "Qui Sedes ad Dexteram."

Other members of the soprano section are Mrs. Robert Ahnen, Mrs. Robert Epperly, Mrs. Edward Jaacks, Mrs. B. A. Mammina, Mrs. John Rokosz, and Mrs. Martin Trettenback. The altos are Mrs. Frank Hornof, Mrs. Michael Huck, Mrs. Charles Hume, Mrs. Thomas Klein, Miss Nancy Lonergan, Mrs. Arthur Long, Mrs. Edmund O'Brien, and Mrs. John McDonnell.

Exchange Student To Speak

Asda Kahwaja, an exchange student from Pakistan, will be the featured speaker at Dempster Junior High School's final PTA meeting of the year Thursday, May 10, at 8 p.m.

Kahwaja, who attends Prospect High School on the exchange program, is living with the Nels Anderson family in Mount Prospect while he is here.

IN ANOTHER highlight of the program, representatives of the High School Citizens Committee will discuss the need for a fourth high school in district 214 in the Wheeling area. They also will discuss the swimming pools proposed in the Wheeling and Forest View schools, which will be up for referendum May 19.

Installation of new officers for the 1962-63 school year also will be on the program. (ACM

Justified Lie

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Here are a few notable quotes from an accomplished satirist: "Everyone lives beyond his means . . . Everything has its own special price . . . The people care only for two things: Bread and the circus . . . Nobody thinks he owes you anything . . . People are sick; they can't sleep at night because of the noise . . . "

Actually, these observations may not be overly discerning in that they apply to so many people nowadays. What makes them noteworthy, however, is that they were penned about 2000 years ago by the famous Latin satirist, Juvenal.

Students Attend Convention

Led by sponsors Donald Thomas and Miss Martha Craig, Prospect and Arlington High students attended the Illinois Association of Student Council convention last weekend.

Highlight of the convention for the District 214 students was the nomination of Mary Musial of Prospect for the office of state secretary. Excitement of the election was dimmed for the local students when Miss Musial was defeated by Heidi Schultz of Oak Park-River Forest High School.

THEME OF THE convention was "Apprentices of Democracy." Among the major speakers were Sen. Gale McGee of Wyoming and Judge James B. Parsons of Chicago.

More than 1,100 attended the 28th convention in Chicago. The Illinois association has member council groups in 435 high schools. There were 310 schools represented at the convention. (ACM

'Project Sandbox' Is Real Hit Here

Some 35 to 40 tons of sand were shoveled into Arlington Heights sandboxes the past two Saturdays in the Arlington Heights Jaycees' annual sandbox project.

The project was described as an overwhelming success, so much so in fact that the Jaycees couldn't get the job done in the two days they had planned.

Consequently, they will be out again this Saturday shoveling the last five to ten tons of sand ordered by phone during the two weeks, but still undelivered.

THE SAND was delivered to the door or sandbox free of charge, for a fee of $1 a wheelbarrowful of sand. An article in last week's Herald mistakenly gave the impression the sand was free, also.

The Jaycees said this year's response was the best it had ever been, and they already are making plans for a bigger and better sandbox project next year. (A

Scout-Rama Week Called By Governor

Gov. Otto Kerner has officially proclaimed Scout - O - Rama Week in Illinois April 30 to May 6 and urges friends of Scouting in the 40 north and northwest areas to attend the weekend celebration at O'Hare International Airport, it was announced this week by Jim (Courtesy) Moran, chairman for the event.

The Governor's proclamation called attention to the Boy Scout emphasis on the theme of "Strengthen America . . . Character Counts."

The fourth anniversary Scout-O-Rama exhibit will reflect the Boy Scout credo of Allegiance to God and Country, Love of Nature and One's Fellow Man, and Development of Excellency in Outdoor Sports and Skills.

THE DISPLAY of 14,000 Cubs, Scouts, Explorers and leaders of the Northwest Suburban Council will emphasize the Boy Scout response to President Kennedy's Appeal that all citizens stress Physical Fitness, the governor's proclamation said.

The Northwest Suburban Council is an active, participating member of the Des Plaines, Schiller Park and Suburban Community Chests, the Skokie Valley United Crusade, the United Fund of Park Ridge, Inc., the Barrington United Drive, the Mount Prospect Combined Appeal, the Prospect Heights Annual Appeal, and the Palatine Community Combined Appeal. Republican Women Pick Mrs. Coker

Mrs. George T. Coker, 1611 North Ridge, Arlington Heights, was elected president of the Wheeling Township Women's Republican Club by the unanimous vote of the members who attended the club's meeting April 26.

Also elected for two-year terms were Mrs. Eugene Schlickman, second vice president; Mrs. J. T. Davis, treasurer, and Mrs. Donald Bunton, sergeant-at-arms.

Members presented a gift as a token of their appreciation to Mrs. Walter Brown, retiring president. Mrs. Brown has headed the club since its origin two and a half years ago. (ACM

YOU CAN FIND OUT what's goin' on up in the hill country where shoes are only for city slickers if you attend the three-act operetta being staged today (Thursday) and Friday at 8 p. m. in the auditorium by South Junior High School students. Three of the principals in "Up On Old Smoky" rehearse a scene, above, while others in the cast watch. (A

South Jr. High Students to Present Play Here Tonight

For two years Cindy has pined for her "true love" who left the mountains for a musical career in the city.

This sets the stage for "Up On Old Smoky," a three-act operetta by Ellen Jane Lorenz, to be presented today, Thursday, and Friday in Arlington Heights by South Junior High School students.

The operetta will be staged in South Junior High auditorium both nights at 8:15 p. m.

THE PLOT THICKENS when Cindy's "true love" and a troupe of actors are stranded in her mountain village—but "grandpap" just sits grinning during the feudin' and fightin' that follows.

The operetta includes 18 musical numbers and has a cast of 12, plus a chorus of 16.

JO ANNE MAYER, Sue Stratton, Chuck Krueger, Debbie McGehee, Robin Moreau, Steve LeVan, Doug McDonald, Bob Yeazel, Jim Auld, Karen Lawler, Ann Hathaway and Ron Thompson.

The chorus is composed of Karen McNeeley, Carol McNeeley, Lynanne Fouty, Debbie Zonsius, Beverly Seng, Monica Hoggay, Kathy Lynch, Debi Deehring, Kathy Bulinski, Sherry Schmelzer, Yvette Rodig, Arthur Kieck, Bruce Elliott, Kent Wendorf, Martin Stahl and Bill Elsner. (A

2 Appointed To Council On Business

A pair of Arlington Heights men were among 16 appointed to the Small Business Administration's Small Business Advisory Council for the State of Illinois.

The appointments of Earl A. Denton, president of Earl A. Denton & Co., Inc., Chicago, and Dwight D. Guilfoil Jr., president and chairman of the board of Paraplegics Manufacturing Co., Inc., 304 N. York Road, Bensenville, were announced last week by Richard E. Lassar, regional director of SBA.

"THESE appointments reflect a cross-section of Illinois business activity," said Lassar.

The council members who are appointed by SBA administrator John E. Horne, are part of a nation-wide organization of private individuals who know and understand the problems of small business, and who will meet on call with SBA officials at the state level to help evaluate the effectiveness of the agency's programs. The Forward Look

'Progress' Brochure Hot Off the Presses

Efforts to attract desirable research, office and light manufacturing facilities to Arlington Heights continued forward last week as a new brochure prepared by Arlington Heights Progress, Inc., came off the presses.

The brochure briefly outlines the advantages of Arlington Heights as a location for a company home or district office, research laboratory, or other campus-type facility.

"In the heart of 'Mid-America's Researchland' " is the way the pamphlet describes the Arlington Heights area.

FACTS ABOUT the village, of which even most residents probably are unaware, are listed: Population, 32,500; median family income, $9,789; average home cost, $21,000 (range from $15,000 to $80,000).

The brochure cites two areas for light industrial growth, one north and one south.

On the north there is a new 50-acre research and office park being established and 250 other available acres with good access routes.

On the south, only 10 minutes from O'Hare International Airport, there are about 500 available acres of open, easy-to-build-on land, adjacent to the new Northwest Tollway.

HERE'S WHY Arlington Heights merits consideration in your plans (the brochure states):

Unusually favorable village tax rate. Exceptionally convenient location. Approximately 900 available acres. Receptive community climate. Quality labor market. Great universities and technical schools to draw from.

Arlington Heights Progress, Inc., is an outgrowth of the annexation committee, a citizens study group which fostered annexation of desirable tracts to the village.

It now has set itself the task of attracting desirable light industry to these areas, which will broaden the tax base and take more of the burden off the individual homeowner.

MELVIN KURTZ is chairman of the organization.

Last week, the group sent out letters to village businessmen and asked them to join in support of the group's efforts. Businesses were invited to contribute $25 and individuals $10.

When a firm becomes interested in this area as a plant site, either through the brochure or through other means, the committee will assist the company officers in gathering more detailed information to help them make their decision. (A

Pecoraros Elected Officers

Joseph and Ann Pecoraro of Arlington Heights have been elected officers in the Independent Order of Foresters, Court Illinois No. 878. The court consists of about 5,000 members from the northwest section of Chicago and the northwest suburbs.

Pecoraro, a building inspector for Mount Prospect, was elected chief ranger. His wife, manager of the Arlington Heights Cock Robin store, was elected Woodward.

THEY LIVE at 727 N. Kennicott, Arlington Heights.

The Independent Order of Foresters is an international, non-profit family fraternity, dedicated to family security. (ACM

School Supply Drive To Aid Peru Pupils

New tentative dates for the collection of school supplies by Arlington Heights students, to be sent to the village's sister suburb in Peru, were set this week by the Arlington Heights Inter - American Friendship Program.

The tentative date for the drive is May 14 through 18. It previously had been set for the last week in April.

IF PLANS go as expected, elementary and junior high students in Arlington Heights will collect notebooks, pencils, and erasers to be sent to the children in the schools of Comas, Peru.

Wayne Brennan, Chamber of Commerce representative and president of the friendship committee, said the dates await only the approval of the school system administrators.

Brennan said the committee is in need of overseas shipping cartons in which to send clothes collected in a recent drive, and also needs waterproof paper in which to wrap the school supplies for shipment.

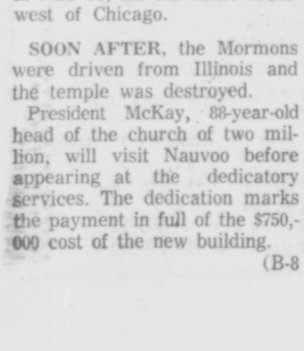
AT THE committee's meeting Monday night in Arlington High School, it was reported that a pharmaceutical company will donate vitamin tablets and perhaps some of the drugs necessary to stock the small infirmary in Comas.

Also that the committee appears to have made contacts which will result in donations of tools to stock a new technical school under construction in Comas.

The committee still is seeking ways of raising funds to carry on its program and to ship the various goods to Comas.

The next general meeting of the committee will be Monday, May 14, at 8 p.m. in Room 108, Arlington High School. (A

To Dedicate New Church Building



DAVID O. McKAY

David O. McKay, president and prophet of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, Salt Lake City, Utah, will give the dedicatory address Sunday when the Chicago Stake (diocese) Center in Wilmette is formally dedicated at 2 p.m.

The new Stake Center serves as the central headquarters in the Chicago and Milwaukee area of some 5,600 members of the LDS Church, and is the first major structure to be erected in Illinois since early Mormon pioneers built a temple at a cost of one million dollars in Nauvoo, Ill. 215 miles southwest of Chicago.

SOON AFTER, the Mormons were driven from Illinois and the temple was destroyed.

President McKay, 88-year-old head of the church of two million, will visit Nauvoo before appearing at the dedicatory services. The dedication marks the payment in full of the $750,000 cost of the new building. (B-8

Salvation Army Gets Approval for Tag Day

Official permission has been given to the Salvation Army to hold its annual tag day, "Doughnut Day," in Arlington Heights on Friday, June 8, it was reported this week by Mrs. Earl O. Ehrhardt of Elmhurst, suburban chairman for the area-wide drive.

Arlington Heights will be one of about 150 suburban communities in Cook, DuPage, Kane, Lake, McHenry, Will and Lake (Indiana) counties that will observe "Doughnut Day" simultaneously with Chicago.

ON "DOUGHNUT Day," Arlington Heights residents working as volunteer taggers will "sell" the little doughnut-shaped paper tags which have become familiar symbols of the Salvation Army's help for the unfortunate.

In Arlington Heights as in other communities where Salvation Army service units are organized, 20 per cent of the funds raised in the local drive will remain in the community.

These funds will be used to meet local emergencies, and to finance unduplicated programs of welfare service and health care. The local unit decides how the funds will be used to assist needy individuals or families in the local area.

The other 80 per cent of the "Doughnut Day" contributions will help support the social welfare services maintained by the Salvation Army for the needy in the greater Chicago area.

THESE SERVICES include a home and hospital for unmarried mothers, a day nursery, family welfare service, a dental clinic, a summer camp, a homemaker service, help for homeless men, visits with patients in hospitals and nursing homes, recreation and character developing programs for young people, emergency canteen service at fires and other disasters, an emergency lodge for women and children, and others.

Volunteers for "Doughnut Day" should telephone FInancial 6-1080 in Chicago. (A

Swim Pool Passes on Sale Monday, May 14

Season passes to the Arlington Heights swimming pools will go on sale Monday, May 14, it was announced this week by Bill Appleby, superintendent of recreation for the Arlington Heights Park District.

The park district offices at Pioneer Park, 500 S. Fernandez, and Recreation Park, 500 E. Miner, will be open every day of the week except Sunday from 9 a. m. to noon and from 1 to 4:30 p. m., for purchase of passes.

Season passes will be limited to residents of the park district. Non-residents wishing to use the pools may do so by paying the daily fee. Persons purchasing season tickets will be required to show proof of residence, such as a drivers license.

SEASON PASS rates will be the same as they have been since 1960. A family pass will be $15, an adult pass $8, a child's pass $6, and a wader pass $3.

Daily admission rates at the pools will be lowered this year from the $1 charged in 1961, to 75 cents. The charge for children will be 50 cents, and for the wading pools 25 cents.

Residents of the park district also are eligible to purchase family activities passes, which include a family swimming pass and registration for all members of the family for any number of recreation activities including all three sessions of swimming instruction.

IT DOES NOT include the fees for junior golf or Scuba diving.

Recreation activity fees will be the same as last year with one exception: the fee for handicrafts instruction has been increased from $2 to $3 to help offset some of the cost of special materials furnished.

The other fees are: Swimming instruction, $2; tumbling, $2; tennis, $2; junior golf, $7; Scuba diving, $25.

APPLEBY URGED residents to register early for the activities, because enrollment in the classes is limited.

The park district brochure describing the complete summer program will be mailed to all village residents next week, Appleby said. Further information may be obtained by telephoning the main park district office, CL 3-0620.

Three Area Students Winners Of National Merit Awards

Three Paddock-area students have been named as winners of your-year National Merit Scholarships. Only 1,050 students were named across the United States.

Scholarships range from $400 to $6,000 for four years of college.

The three winners are Harold C. Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Nelson, 3N740 Cardinal Court, Addison; William J. Stull, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Stull, 640 S. Belmont, Arlington Heights; and Marilyn P. Tedrahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tedrahn, 4N436 Gary Ave., Bartlett.

HAROLD C. NELSON

Nelson is a student of Willowbrook Community High School, Miss Tedrahn attends Glenbard West Township High School and Stull is enrolled at Arlington High School.

The first 1962 National Merit Scholarship qualifying test was held in March, 1961, with 576,435 students in 15,461 schools participating. The qualifying test is a three-hour examination of educational development designed for the merit program by Science Research Associates.

OF THE ORIGINAL group, about 10,000 students were named as semifinalists. These students took the three-hour Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board last fall.

A record of extracurricular activities, special achievements and interests, academic and other honors, academic records and an evaluation by the school counselor or principal also were submitted.

Almost all semifinalists repeated their first test performances and were named finalists in the program. Winners are selected from the list of finalists, with selections made for National Merit Scholars and many of the in-industrial - sponsored scholarships by a special selection committee composed of experts in academic selection.

Miss Tedrahn was named as a National Merit Scholar through choice of the selection committee.

MARILYN P. LEDRAHN

WILLIAM J. STULL

STULL WAS named as winner of the A. B. Dick Foundation Merit Scholarship. The foundation is endowed by A. B. Dick Company of Chicago, manufacturers of office duplicating equipment and electronic communications systems. The scholarship is awarded on the basis of scholastic aptitude, leadership and good citizenship.

Nelson was named winner of the Thomas J. Watson Memorial Merit Scholarship of the International Business Machines Corp. International Business Machines provided 43 scholarships, with about half of these limited to National Merit Finalists who are children of employees. Nelson's father is regional sales manger for IBM.

The Watson Memorial Merit Scholarship was the second major scholarship for Nelson. He was named as winner of a $500 scholarship several weeks ago when the Green Meadows scholarship awards were given. These are scholarships provided by Addison businessmen in a local scholarship program. Nelson was named winner of the Justin A. Caron Scholarship.

Miss Tedrahn was recently named as a winner of an Illinois State Scholarship, making the National Merit Scholarship her second major scholarship aid.

DURING HER four years of high school studies, Miss Tedrahn has held a straight "A" average in accelerated courses. She will be one of four honor speakers at the Glenbard graduation this spring.

She is a member of Mu Alpha Theta, mathematics honorary society; Quill and scroll, journalism society; and Latin Club. She is copy editor of the Glenbard school newspaper.

For her four years of high school, she has been a member of both concert and marching bands playing clarinet. Last summer she was named as the only Glenbard band member to attend a special University of Illinois music clinic. An accomplished pianist, Miss Tedrahn has achieved both an excellent and superior rating in state high school music contests. She served as accompanist for the school choral groups in their spring concert.

Miss Tedrahn plans to major in education at Concordia Teachers College.

Nelson is President of the Willowbrook National Honor Society. He has taken honors courses in chemistry, biology, freshman science and three years of English. He attended a special mathematics course at Illinois Institute of Technology where scholarship and ability were an entrance prerequisite.

NELSON PLANS to attend Michigan State University. He plans to major in physics.

Stull has chosen Northwestern University as his school. He will major in mathematics aiming for a career as an actuary.

At Arlington, Stull is a member of the National Honor Society and has received both four and seven semester honor pins for scholarship. He was selected as a participant in the summer science institute at N.U. last summer.

Active in school activities, Stull is a member of the Math, German and Chemistry Clubs. He is on the staff of the school yearbook. He participated in the school swim team in 1962.

OF THE 1,050 National Merit scholars in the 1962 program, about 625 students received merit scholarships sponsored by more than 150 business corporations, foundations, unions, professional associations and individuals.

Another 425 Merit Scholars received their scholarships from the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

NMSC scholarship funds come from a $20 million Ford Foundation grant made in 1955. An additional Ford Foundation grant of $14.5 million was announced on April 2.

In addition 175 students were named Honorary Merit Scholars. They received this designation in recognition of their outstanding achievement in the competition although they will receive no financial assistance from the program.

THE NATIONAL Merit Scholarship Program was established in 1955 through grants from the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corporation of New York. In the first seven years of the Merit Program, nearly 6,000 scholarships have been awarded with an estimated value of almost $29.5 million.

This includes both scholarships awarded by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation and private groups. (A14

Bell Ringers Will March Here May 15

Wearing tags which identify them as "Bell Ringers," 37,000 Marchers in Chicago and suburban Cook, Lake and DuPage County will call on their friends and neighbors the evening of Tuesday, May 15 to collect funds for the Mental Health Society of Greater Chicago.

Using the slogan "Mental Illness is No Longer Hopeless . . . Give Now for Prevention and Cure," the campaign, which has a $200,000 goal, will involve 178 area chairmen and 1,800 captains. The Marchers will attempt to complete their solicitation in a two-hour period on the evening of May 15.

Clyde E. Murray, executive director of the Mental Health Society, points out that "the Society has tackled many significant jobs in the last year. In addition to our educational and community planning work for better mental health programs, we are serving in a 'watch dog' capacity in regard to all tax-supported mental health programs."

AREA CHAIRMEN who will be responsible for directing the Bell Ringer March in their communities are as follows:

Arlington Heights, Mrs. James McElhose, 507 N. Evergreen; Bartlett, Mrs. Lester Cooper, 257 Main St.; Bloomingdale, Mrs. Erik Bergmann, 123 Prairie; Hoffman Estates, Mrs. John Caldarola, 146 Newark; Palatine, Mrs. Fred Ziesk, 322 N. Brockway St.

Rolling Meadows, Mrs. Harry Johnson, 2203 Park St.; Roselle, Mrs. Robert E. Cloonan, 344 Berkshire; Schaumburg, Mrs. Carter C. Berg, 28 Westover Court, Roselle; Streamwood, Mrs. Robert Meyers, 22 Big Oaks Road. (A-14

Suburbanites Lose Driving Privileges

Secy. of State Charles F. Carpentier announced this week the revocation or suspension of driver's licenses of 17 persons in the northwest suburban area. Also, 16 persons were granted probationary driver's permits in this area.

Three of the 17 persons had their licenses revoked because of charges of driving while intoxicated. They are LeRoy W. McCabe of Des Plaines, Lester W. Moltz of Arlington Heights, and Glen J. Shaker of Barrington.

The other 14 persons had their licenses suspended because they had three moving violations within a year's time.

THEY ARE John E. Amoroso of Mount Prospect, Gertrude E. Haugsness of Northbrook, Robert E. Kist of Prospect Heights, Virginia B. Michaels of Des Plaines, Kathleen C. Mosher of Des Plaines, Robert E. Piotrowski of Des Plaines, Michael Russo of Mount Prospect, Selig Spun of Des Plaines, and Edward R. Suwalski of Barrington.

Also, Ronald A. Annala of Bensenville, Felipe F. De La Rose of Schaumburg, Roswell J. Field Jr. of Roselle, John W. Massard of Bensenville, and Robert J. Fennell of Streamwood.

The probationary permits were granted the 16 persons from the northwest area because, after an earlier suspension, they did not have more than a total point accumulation of 62 points.

PROBATIONARY permits were granted to Alvin J. Brettman of Mount Prospect, Ralph J. Gjoen of Schaumburg, Lawrence F. Herff of Arlington Heights, Frank E. Huber of Arlington Heights, Ruth Mustain of Arlington Heights, Richard G. Nickol of Palatine, Lawrence P. Sullivan of Arlington Heights, Robert C. Swanberg of Mount Prospect, and Walter C. Weadley of Elk Grove Village.

Also, there is Theodore E. Dickinson of Itasca, Peter J. Fazio of Wood Dale, Ronald D. Garr of Addison, James J. Klein of Bensenville, Robert J. Svoboda of Wood Dale, William C. Zeeb of Roselle, and Charles E. Huss of Palatine. (A-14

4-H Members Look Forward To 'Week'

Plans are well under way for the Illinois State 4-H Club Week program on the University of Illinois campus June 20 - 22. Some 1,200 4-H Club members and leaders representing every county in the state are expected to attend the big three-day event — the second of its kind in Illinois since before World War II.

Maine objectives of the program are to review and discuss 4-H project and activity goals in Illinois and to outline career opportunities available to young people after high school. All delegates will be high school sophomores or older.

PROGRAM chairman Bill Stone of the U. of I. 4-H staff says group discussions on 4-H projects and activities, addresses by prominent speakers and career discussions are educational highlights of the 4-H Club Week program.

Entertainment features include a barbecue near the U. of I. football stadium and a 4-H friendship party in Huff Gymnasium. A major highlight of this year's program will be a special performance by Illinois' first all 4-H chorus made up of 4-H members from all parts of the state. (B8

To Your Health

Proper Food Is Essential

Good food is essential to health, but it is astonishing how many persons omit certain foods or even skip meals to reduce expenses. However, to consider health from the standpoint of dollars and cents is poor economy.

The body needs fuel, just as does a furnace or automobile or any other source of power. In the machinery of the body, food is converted into energy and distributed among the organs to maintain a normal state of health.

Breafast, therefore, is important. Why? Because ordinarily at this meal the body has been without food for eight hours or more, the longest interval between meals.

AN ADEQUATE breakfast restores the energy level needed to carry out the day's work with efficiency. It initiates the intestinal activity necessary for bowel regularity. It prevents midmorning fatigue and maintains a high level of productivity during the morning hours.

In children, breakfast should supply every element necessary for good nutrition as well as provide for growth and energy. Ripe or cooked fruit or a fruit juice; hot or cold cereal with milk; toast, bread, or rolls with butter or margarine; and a substantial dish such as bacon and eggs, plus a glass or two of milk, should be included.

For the adult whose daily activities do not call for bodily growth, fruit, toast, or rolls, and/or a protein (ham, eggs, bacon), and a beverage will frequently suffice.

PERSONS engaged in heavy physical labor, however, require a bigger meal, including eggs or meat, and some other hot dish, such as potatoes. This is in addition to fruit, cereal, bread, and beverage.

With the high cost of living steadily going higher, and suggestions for economy of food persistently being recommended, it is well to remember that a good functioning, healthy body can most efficiently use the food it receives.

A poorly nourished body is like an automobile with the wrong octane rating of its gasoline. Unless your physician orders you to cut down on food, don't do so. Let a physical examination determine the state of your health—then eat your meals accordingly. (A14

60 Years Ago—May 3, 1902

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS: Real estate is in good demand in this locality. Good farm land is a solid investment. It can't burn up or be stolen.

H. C. Moehling has bought the Mark Jones farm, 120 acres at $100 an acre, and Louis Gobbert has bought the Frank Russell farm of 200 acres at $100 per acre.

Geo. Schneberger has bought the old Atkins place now occupied by J. H. Hood, 40 acres at $200 per acre. (This was once the show place of Arlington Heights—beautifully landscaped, a lake, water animals as well as deer, elk, and others.)

Dr. R. M. Gibbs accompanied by Dr. McCarty of Chicago, had a bushel of fun hunting snipe April 24. Our expert marksman bagged 90 while his city friend secured forty-three.

The A. H. Fife & Drum Corps is now composed of 24 boys who meet for practice with Prof. Van Horn at Arlington Hall every Thursday evening. They are chaperoned by Messrs. A. H. Niemeyer and H. G. Lorenzen and will give a patriotic entertainment—an original drama in four acts—"The Spy of Gettysburg" Decoration Day evening to secure funds to buy drums which will remain the property of the club. Tickets 15 and 25 cents.

Gen. Green B. Raum will make the address at the Memorial Day exercises here.

PALATINE: The Palatine Memorial Assn. met Monday evening to receive reports of committees. Attorney J. Redmond of Chicago has been secured as speaker. The Palatine Band has been engaged and everything is well in hand. $18 has been raised by subscription for slicking up the cemetery.

Mrs. Herman Stroker, nee Dorothea Kublank died April 26. She was born Dec. 26, 1838, in Brandenburg Province, Germany.

BENSENVILLE: Our section men are still on a strike for better pay. They have been getting $1.25 per day, but want $1.50. We hope the railroad company will grant their reasonable demands.

Some Bensenville parents ought to teach their children decent manners toward older people. A good dose of strap-oil, three times a day, before meals, would no doubt cure them in a short time.

Half the children are out of school—lots of them are down with measles.

ITASCA: Itasca is reveling in fresh paint. Christ Witt's house shines in handsome color. Itasca is bound to be a handsome suburban residence town.

SCHAUMBURG: Henry Kastning had his windmill repaired last week. It is the oldest mill in the country.

The commissioners say they need lots of money to gravel the roads this year and they hope the liquor dealers will be liberal with their license.

The wind storm Friday night did a lot of damage. The cupola was blown off Henry Dohl's new barn. The barn was moved off its foundation and the windmill blown down on the old Sunderlage farm.

MEACHAM: For latest ideas in sunbonnets call at Meacham store.

50 Years Ago—May 3, 1912

PALATINE: The Ladies' Aid will give a roast beef supper Thursday evening May 9. Tickets 25 and 15 cents.

The excavation has been started for the Salem church which is to be moved here from Plum Grove.

The Ford automobile which is sold by Henry Schoppe demonstrated its strength and proved that it is the car for country roads, when a number of Bensenville men went to Lake Zurich last Sunday and attempted to return in the driving rain in their three autos. which were an Overland, a Mitchell and a Ford. On the way the two higher priced cars, the Overland and the Mitchell, gave up while the Ford took two more passengers, making six in all, and continued on to Bensenville. The other men were compelled to walk to Palatine from Helms place, and secure clothing before they could take the train. They returned the next day and got their machines, very much chagrined over the fact that the Ford beat their larger cars.

ROSELLE: William Benhart has opened his ice cream parlor for the summer.

The new Trinity cemetery will be dedicated Sunday afternoon, May 5.

SCHAUMBURG: Boys, get ready for a charivari up north.

Trost Heide wedding takes place Sunday.

Lots of building.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS: The last half of April averaged many degrees colder and more unpleasant. More like March weather.

Miss Sophie Pohlman and Mr. John Kahling were married Saturday evening, April 27 at the home of Rev. Noack. The boys must have been tired—the charivari sounded so weak.

The new members of the Village Board will be seated and committees appointed at the close of business of the old Board. Their constituents will turn out expecting eloquent inaugural speeches by the mayor and four new members.

Arlington Heights Flour and Grist Mills have changed hands again. Joseph Lindner, the new proprietor is a practical miller, having had 22 years experience in Germany and 7 years in Chicago.

40 Years Ago—May 5, 1922

PALATINE: All the churches adopted the new time Sunday to the surprise of some, who had forgotten to turn their clocks ahead.

Bowman Dairy whistle refusing to obey the laws of the village blows the 7 o'clock whistle at 8. Track laborers started the week on the old time, but Wednesday followed the crowd to the new time.

The dust is fierce and everyone is wishing for oil. The receipts from the vehicle license money is supposed to be used for oil, we understand. So, if you want oil, hurry up and pay your vehicle license.

The school house will be wired this week as a precaution against lightning. The building has been hit so many times that this action was thought advisable.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS: Mr. George Fredricks, a civil war veteran, died April 29. He was born in Germany in 1840; came to America when four years old. His parents settled in Elk Grove. At 20 years of age he married Miss Sophia Gathman. Eleven children were born to them. Mr. Fredricks was a soldier in the Civil War and was made seriously ill through impure water supplied his regiment, from the effects of which many of his comrades died; and although Mr. Fredricks survived to return home, his health was permanently impaired. Pall bearers were four veteran members of the Grand Army of the Republic, Messrs. Fairchild, Reed, Bolte and Niemeyer.

The voters of A. H. High School District will have the opportunity Saturday to take their choice of the two most feasible sites that have been considered by the Advisory Committee and the high school board. One site is eleven acres of the "Altenheim" farm facing Euclid Avenue. The other site is the Fiene farm of 10 acres fronting on Sigwalt Street. The price of each piece of property is $1,000 an acre. The Citizens Advisory Committee has unanimously recommended the Euclid Street tract which included the original Altenheim home now occupied by Trude Apartments and Elms Shopping Center. (A-14

Reduced Telephone Costs Proposed By Illinois Bell Co.

New "After Nine" bargain prices for telephone calling within Illinois from 9 p.m. to 4:30 a.m. are included in a schedule of lowered station-to-station long distance rates proposed Monday by Illinois Bell Telephone Company. The reduced rates were directed by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

The new schedule, which goes into effect May 20, also includes reductions for calls made during the daytime, evening (6 p.m. to 9 p.m.), Sundays, Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's holidays.

The reductions, the commission said, will effect an annual saving to Illinois users of $2,815.000. Charges will be reduced on more than seven million station-to-station calls per year.

TOP RATE for any three-minute, station-to-station call within Illinois during the 9 p.m. to 4:30 a.m. period will be 50 cents. There also will be substantial decreases in overtime charges, an Illinois Bell spokesman said. The over-all decreases, in some instances, will amount to more than 50 per cent, he poined out.

The new "After Nine" rates do not apply to person-to-person, collect, credit card calls, or to calls charged to telephones other than those from which they are placed.

The revised schedule for station-to-station calls over 76 miles in distance will remove or reduce differences which now exist between charges for interstate and intrastate calls over comparable distances.

RATES FOR some evening (6 p.m. to 9 p.m.), Sunday, holiday station-to-station calls will be reduced by as much as 20 cents for the initial, three-minute talking period.

On daytime station-to-station calls of three minutes, there will be five-cent decreases on calls for distances from 76 to 98 miles, and other decreases of 10 to 20 cents on calls for distances of more than 98 miles.

The new rate schedule follows an agreement reached earlier this year by representatives of the Federal Communications Commission, the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners (in which the Illinois Commission has membership) and the Bell System.

IN ACCORDANCE with the agreement, changes were made in accounting procedures by which plant investment and expense items of the Bell companies are allocated to intrastate and interstate long distance operations. Effect of these changes was to decrease the revenue requirements for intrastate operations of Illinois Bell.

Illinois Bell this week also filed a petition with the commission asking for permission to put the new rates into effect with less than the 30 days' notice usually required. (A-14

Correction

It was erroneously reported in the March 15 edition of Paddock Publications that the drivers license of Robert A. Bloecker, 821 N. Vail Ave., Arlington Heights, was suspended for his contributing to an accident resulting in death or injury.

In fact, Bloecker's license was suspended on Feb. 27 for 60 days because he committed a third moving traffic violation within a 12-month period. He was not involved in an accident.

Paddock Publications regrets this error. (A-14

Here's the Story On Cankerworms

When buds are ready to break it's count-down time for pesky spring cankerworms.

Living time capsules, they hatch from eggs only when their chow is ready for gulping — precisely when leaves unfold.

Among the hungriest critters in insectdom, they frequently chomp their way through tender greenery until the tree victim is completely defoliated. Infestations of two or three years weaken trees to the point where many may die.

FORTUNATELY, the cankerworm, often known as the measuring worm or inchworm, is easily controlled. One spraying of DDT, arsenate of lead or malathion is usually enough to exterminate the bulk of the population.

Cankerworms are something of mystery guests. They have the habit of appearing in certain areas about every seven to nine years, but nobody is able to foretell where or why they'll appear. The Epicurean taste of the cankerworm leans to elm, oak, apple and linden. Maple, dogwood and other valuable specimen trees are also included on the menu.

Cankerworms are such gluttons they'll consume new leaves as fast as they'll grow. Severely infested trees will remain bare until the feeding is completed in late spring.

CATERPILLARS are green to black and about one and one-half inches long when fully grown. They have legs on the front and rear and crawl by inching along. They couldn't exist without their wonderful built-in timing mechanism. Caterpillars hatched before leaves unfold would starve.

Similarly, caterpillars hatched later in the growing season would find adult leaves too tough to chew and digest.

Cankerworms have an annoyance factor for humans too. They spin down on silk threads and are picked up on clothing of people walking under infested trees. (A14

ONE OF THE MANY SKITS to be performed by the Beth Tikvah Sisterhood and Men's Club is being rehearsed by (l. to r.) Flossie Beard, of Hoffman Estates, Leonard Goodman of Arlington Heights, and David Alter of Hoffman Estates. The show will be this Saturday in Rolling Meadows. (A-14

Variety Show Rehearsals Windup; Set for Saturday

Final rehearsals are now in progress for the Beth Tikvah Variety Show and Spaghetti Dinner this Saturday, at 8:30 p.m. at Salk School, Rolling Meadows.

"Matzahs in The Spring (and a Few Other Crumbs)" is the title of the show which is a combined effort of both the Sisterhood and Men's Club.

The variety show revolves around a committee discussing plans for such a show. As the members of the committee plan their show, the various skits will be presented.

DIRECTOR is Howard Risberg, well known member of the Hoffman Theatre Guild and other theater groups. Risberg will also perform in the show.

Costumes will run the gamut from sober mountain folk and evil men to zany "flappers' and high spirited medics.

Tickets are available now. For information contact: Frances Speigel, TW 4-6436 or Dave Alter, LA 9-7104. (A-14

Here's Prevue for Coming 'Suburbia'

The May issue of "Suburbia Today," which will reach readers in the May 3 edition of Paddock Publications, leads off with a feature by Temple Fielding, in which the veteran traveler urges use of the "Lazybones Class" — travel light, take it easy, and let people wait on you when it's their business to do so.

Then, Pulitzer-prize winning author Pearl Buck writes about how to be a good guest. She talks about what she expects of her hosts and of herself, and ends with the most important aspect of a good visit—knowing when to go home.

The second in Suburbia Today's series of Round Table discussions takes up the subject, "How to Stretch Your Education Dollars," and shows how communities from coast to coast are finding new ways to hold school costs down and still give our children a good education.

MARGARET FARRAR, the world's foremost compiler of crossword puzzles, is also represented with a puzzle that would stump any city dweller —but, as you will see when you try it, it should be a walk-through for all the people who ever commuted to a pleasant place.

There is also a look at Architect-Designer Richard Buckminster Fuller, inventor of the geodesic dome, and his "Garden of Eden" dome, that could revolutionize the housing industry and the way you live.

In "Hand Me Down My Walking Cane," author Colin Fletcher talks about the rewards of walking, and says that whether you do it alone, or with your favorite human or animal by your side, you can't beat the view of the world you get on foot, under a soft May sky.

Square Dance Club News

Dorothy Meyer — CLearbrook 3-2298

SWINGIN' SQUARES

Tomorrow night the Swingin' Squares will feature their second annual Silver Dollar Jubilee, a repeat from last year's schedule and one that was very well received by members and guests. The giving away of silver dollars is probably still a pretty attractive lure and the club's generous invitation to everyone interested in dancing and dollars will no doubt be accepted.

Club Caller Don Finfrock and his wife, Kay, will conduct round dance instruction from 8 to 8:30 tomorrow night, then Don will square 'em up for dancing till 11 when coffee and cake are served. Like all Swingin' Square dances, the Silver Dollar Jubilee will be held in Recreation Park Field House, 500 E. Miner, Arlington Heights.

CLUB OFFICERS report with regret that the press of business has forced Don Finfrock's resignation, effective at the end of this season. In tribute to Don and Kay the Swingin' Squares are having a special dance for them May 18. Promising that it will be a night to remember, the club urges all of the Finfrocks' many friends and ex-students to join the membership that night in saying, "Thanks Don and Kay."

New officers and Don's replacements were chosen at the club's last dance. Officers for the 1962-63 season will be Fred and Min Brautigam, presidents; Art and Ruth Youwer, secretaries; and Earle and Wilma Strehlow, treasurers. Calling on alternate Fridays next season will be Bob Lewis of Franklin Park and Dale Manson of Cherry Valley.

Plans are being made for the season's annual finale, the pot-luck supper dance, scheduled for Sunday, June 3. During the two regularly scheduled dances in May, members and guests will sign the food list for the supper, thereby guaranteeing that the menu won't be 49 pots of baked beans and one salad. Everyone is invited to attend and plan now to sign the food list. (A-14

That's the Law

'Have Another Drink' Could Prove Illegal

(This is another in a series of articles provided as a public service by the Illinois Bar Association for Paddock Publications.)

"Have another drink, old pal!" With these words the unsuspecting bartender, tavern owner, building owner, patron, his wife, children and dependents may soon become acquainted with an Illinois Law commonly referred to as the Dram Shop Act. Legally it is referred to as Chapter 43 of the Illinois Revised Statutes.

There are 209 Sections in the Act, but the average citizen who finds himself in the position of having to rely on this law, to seek legal redress, will only be interested in Section 135. This article will briefly acquaint the reader with the provisions of that Section, and its application to our everyday way of life.

BRIEFLY STATED, Section 135 provides that when a person is injured or his property damaged, by an intoxicated person, he or she may file a lawsuit for damages against the person or persons who sold or gave alcoholic liquor to the intoxicated person, which caused either in whole or in part the person's intoxication.

It is not necessary for the person being sued to have sold the alcoholic liquor to the inebriate. He may have given it to him without charge. Therefore, the generous tavern-keeper or bartender who says those cherished words, "have one on the house," is no less liable than the bartender who takes money for every drink served.

Moreover, intoxication may be caused in whole or in part. It is not necessary that the person being sued sold or gave the inebriate the last drink which caused him to arrive at the point where he no longer has complete control of all of his senses.

IT IS ENOUGH that sometime between the time of sobriety and the point of intoxication, the inebriate received alcoholic liquor from the person being sued which in whole or in part caused his intoxication.

The injured party is not restricted to filing the suit against one tavern owner or bartender, but may designate as defendants all who contributed to the inebriate's condition through the gift or sale of intoxicating liquor.

The Section states further that persons who have their means of support injured by an intoxicated person or in consequence of the intoxication may also recover against the defendants if their complicity is proven.

NOT ONLY may the individual directly injured in person or property recover, but any person who is dependent upon the individual injured by the intoxicated person may also recover damages; and this is true even if the intoxicated person is the one on whom they are dependent and even though the injuries may be caused by the inebriate's own action—such as running into a viaduct, pillar, etc.

Any lawsuit filed pursuant to this law must be filed within one year from the date of the occurrence. The maximum amount that may be recovered by any person who has been injured or whose property has been damaged is $15,000. Any person whose means of support has been injured may recover up to $20,000.

However, the total amount recovered in any one action for injury to means of support shall not exceed $20,000, and it shall be distributed to the respective dependents as the jury or court shall determine by verdict. No matter how many dependents there may be, only $20,000 can be recovered and distributed among them.

THERE ARE many additional provisions in the Dram Shop Act, and many areas of law in this particular field are still unsettled. Therefore, if you believe you may have a claim under this Act, consult with your attorney before going any further.

This column is written to inform and not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without consulting his attorney. Even a slight difference in the facts may change the result under the law.

Q. Is it absolutely necessary to acknowledge the receipt of a birth announcement with some kind of gift for the baby?

A. While a popular custom, it is not an obligation. A little note of congratulation, however, would be in good order if no gift is sent.

Gray, FEPC Director, Talks Here

Charles W. Gray, chairman of the Illinois Fair Employment Practice Commission, will address a general meeting of the Opportunity Council tonight, Thursday, at 8:30 p.m. at Pioneer Park in Arlington Heights.

Gray will tell how the work of FEPC relates to the Spanish-American population of the northwest suburbs.

A Prospect Heights resident and director of industrial relations for Bell and Howell, Gray was appointed to the commission by Gov. Kerner last fall.

THE OPPORTUNITY Council, to which Gray will be speaking, was founded three years ago to bridge the gap between the Spanish-American population here in the suburbs and the communities in which they are now living.

The council has been active in the field of social services, working closely with other social service organizations and civic bodies.

Tonight's meeting is open to the general public. (A-14

MISS ILLINOIS PREVIEW—Part of the Miss Illinois Pageant, set for June 27-30 in Elk Grove Village, will be the swimsuit judging. The girls will also appear in evening gowns, and display their talents and intellects, all part of the over all process of selecting Miss America, 1962. The Miss Illinois winner will compete in Atlantic City, N. J., September 3-9. Last Miss America from Illinois was Lois Delander of Joliet who won in 1927. The girls above (left to right), Linda Beth Eaton, Miss Des Plaines; Pamela Gaye Whitlow, Miss Wheeling, and Vivian Annette Morris, Miss DuPage County, posed for this picture at last July's 1961 Miss Illinois Pageant at Aurora.

Kerner: Need More Funds

MARION, ILL., (UPI)—Gov. Otto Kerner told a Southern Illinois District Retail Clerks Convention here last Sunday that Illinois cannot retain its rating as the third greatest state in the nation unless it faces up to its revenue problem.

He said the legislature must "act like grown up, mature people instead of like a bunch of cheap politicians" in passing legislation to increase the state's revenue.

Kerner outlined progress that has been made at the state level in promoting Illinois and the welfare of its citizens.

HE CITED the increase in maximum unemployment compensation benefits; passage of the Fair Employment Practices Act, which he said the Republican Party had blocked for 18 years; creation of the Board of Economic Development; the retraining of workers, and efforts to expand Illinois exports.

He said Illinois has approximately 250,000 unemployed. Kerner praised the program to re-train workers because "six months of public relief and it becomes a habit for life."

He said Illinois is the greatest exporting state in the nation, yet only about 15 per cent of its firms do export business. He said if the figure could be raised to 30 per cent, much of the unemployment problem would be solved.

HOUSE SPEAKER Paul Powell told the clerks he hopes legislation can be passed that will provide for Sunday closing of businesses except those of emergency nature "so you can go to church as the Bible says we should."

He said he thought unemployment compensation benefits should be extended to persons "who are sick or in the hospital."

Powell lashed out at legislators who vote for new tax appropriations and vote against revenue measures to pay the bills.

He said Cook County pays $10 million more a year in taxes into the common school fund than it receives from the state "and this money helps counties in Southern Illinois."

Powell said Cook County should receive funds for school transportation "whether they ride the CTA or a mule" because they help pay school transportation costs in other counties.

He cited and defended increased costs of education. In 1935, he said, the appropriation for Southern Illinois University for one biennium was $756,000. Today it is $95 million. (A-14

Mausoleum Tycoon Teaching Survival

LOUISVILLE, ILL., (UPI)—Self-styled anti-Communist John R. Harrell, who believes that a Russian atomic attack on America is "very close," said Tuesday that his followers are being taught survival training.

Harrell said that about 75 members of his Christian Conservative Movements still live on his 100-acre estate here.

The estate was raided last Aug. 4 by the FBI and state troopers, who seized marine Pfc. Dion Davis, 19, Greenville, Pa., after Davis took refuge on the estate.

The raiders also took guns and ammunition from the estate.

HARRELL EARLIER had refused to permit Davis to be taken against his will.

Harrell and some of his followers were indicted on federal charges of harboring a Marine deserter and are out on bond pending their trial in Federal Court at East St. Louis.

Harrell, 40, a mausoleum tycoon who claims divine revelation, operates his own school on the estate.

He said his followers have prepared more than 15 fallout shelters in the sides of riverbanks on the estate. (A-14

Miss America?

Girls: Here's Your Chance

by BILL HALLS

Listen girls! If you are five feet, six and one-half inches tall, weigh 125 pounds, measure 34½ - 24 - 35, are 19 years old, and have blue eyes and brown hair, pay close attention.

You could be Miss America. No kidding!

These are the average statistics of all winners in the 41-year history of the Miss America contest.

AT LEAST that's what Loren R. Hollembaek, the public relations man for this year's Miss Illinois contest told a Paddock Publications reporter this week.

Sure, he's just a PR man but he's got a good argument.

The girl who won last year, Maria Beale Fletcher - she's from Asheville, N.C. - well, she is five foot, five and one-half inches tall, weighs in at 118, measures 35-24-35, is 19, and has brown hair and hazel eyes.

"That's pretty close to the composite," said Hollembaek.

(That's pretty close to any girl's ideal - composite or no).

"INTELLIGENCE and talent rank with beauty as the major criteria in selecting the pageant winner," said James B. Snyder Jr., state director for the pageant. "These same criteria will be used in crowning Miss Illinois 1962 in Elk Grove Village June 27-30."

(Well, what did you expect him to say? Did you ever hear of an ugly Miss America? Come to think of it, never heard of a stupid one either). But 35-24-35. Hmmmmm boy!

State Starts Taking Idle Bank Accounts

SPRINGFIELD, (UPI)—The State of Illinois Tuesday begins to pick up a financial windfall from thousands of idle bank accounts across the state.

Under a law effective May 1, passed by the last legislature, bank accounts and property valued at more than $10 which have remained unclaimed for 15 years or longer must be turned over to the state.

The state, after taking over the money, is required to put it in a special fund for four months before it can be used, meanwhile making additional efforts to find the owners.

THE AMOUNT of money that the unclaimed deposits will yield is not known. Some early predictions ranged all the way up to $100 million, but Financial Institutions Director Joseph E. Knight has estimated the amount the first year will be closer to $10 million.

Sen. W. Russell Arrington, R-Evanston, head of the Senate Revenue Committee, estimated the yield could be from $10 to $40 million, considerably lower than predictions he made earlier.

One factor that has cut the estimated yield has been the effective efforts by banks and other financial institutions in discovering the locations of depositors of the idle accounts.

THE UNCLAIMED money is slated for the state pension and retirement fund, but already members of the powerful State Budgetary Commission have talked of transferring the incoming cash to the hard-pressed General Revenue Fund. Such a transfer could be made by a special session of the legislature if one is called to consider the pending $100 million deficit in state public aid funds, which come out of general revenue. "YOU'RE ALL GOING TO KISS ME?" is the exclamation of Bob Johns as Taffy Poulson, Colleen Tanner and Vickie Wilkins "zero in" during rehearsals of "Mrs. McThing" the spring play of Prospect High. The production is scheduled for 8 p. m. Friday and Saturday, May 4 and 5, in the school Little Theatre.

NORTHWEST COMMUNITY Hospital candidates for the Chicago Hospital Council "Employee of the Year" and "Patient of the Year" were recently honored at a special luncheon at the hospital, and will be included in the Chicago Hospital Council luncheon in Chicago on May 9. Named as Employee of the Year at Northwest Community was Mrs. Ruth Salisbury, Palatine. The hospital Patient of the Year is Thomas Donohoe of Arlington Heights, cited for his cheerfulness and cooperation during an extended recovery period. Donohoe suffered burns of 30 per cent of his body surface—face, neck, back, shoulder and arms. Also cited by the hospital were two other employees—Mrs. Adella C. Weinrich and Hugh M. Holahan, both of Arlington Heights.

Court Gives Green Light To Annexation of Hatlen

An order which will allow Hatlen Heights to be annexed to Mount Prospect was signed recently by Cook County Judge Thaddeus Adesko. Announcement was made Tuesday night during village board meeting by Trustee Parker Ekren.

Hatlen Heights petitioned the county in January to allow annexation to Mount Prospect. Mount Prospect can now legally consider the annexation.

Since the petition for annexation to the county was made a 47-acre piece of property along Central road, and virtually surrounded by Hatlen Heights, has been zoned for a commercial and multiple housing development and annexed to Arlington Heights.

ATTORNEYS for this land report they intend to appeal Adesko's ruling.

Hatlen Heights and Mount Prospect objected to the annexation by Arlington Heights.

It is now legally possible for Mount Prospect to consider the annexation according to Ekren. He suggested Tuesday, however, that before any definite move is made, to have a third appraisal made of the water and sewer system made. The Cook County Water and Sewer Co., a private utility, owns the services provided to Hatlen Heights.

AN APPRAISAL has already been obtained by Mount Prospect from Consoer, Townsend and Associates, village engineers and Arthur Anderson and Co. Ekren suggested a third appraisal be made by Greeley and Hansen, of Chicago, for $2,500.

The board voted to have the third appraisal made in order that the village may know the value of the water and sewer system if the village at any time is in a position where it has to purchase it.

Ekren thanked trustees for supporting his suggestion. He said "As you know I have been unqualified in my support of annexation of Hatlen Heights. We cannot slow down. This is a move ahead."

'Mrs. McThing' Is Spring Production At Prospect High

Witches, gangsters and wealthy characters provide wide contrast in the spring drama presentation at Prospect High.

"Mrs. McThing," a play which thrives on its contrasts, is set for Friday and Saturday, May 4 and 5, in the school Little Theatre.

Curtain time is 8 p.m.

TICKETS AT $1 will be available at the door as seats remain open.

Major roles in the production are taken by Ricki Robbins, Bob Johns, Fred Lindeman, Mike Smith, Bob McAndrew, Toni Crabbe, Kitty Johnson and Barbara Liston.

In addition to the contrast in personalities and characters in the play, the scene settings provide a wide difference for audience viewing. The basic set includes an interior scene of an exclusive home—Larue Towers. The second scene shown is that of a cheap restaurant—Shantyland Pool Hall.

COOPERATING with the Prospect stage crew to make the background effective have been members of the school Art Department. The sets, displaying both talent and hard work, were designed by Vicki Hermann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hermann, 304 Cedar Lane, Mount Prospect.

Directors of the drama are Mrs. Maryanne Dillard, Miss Marilyn Meyer and LeRoy Hollenbeck.

Concert Set For May 12 At Prospect

Over 400 Prospect High School students will present the annual spring concert Saturday, May 12, at 8 p. m. in the Prospect field house.

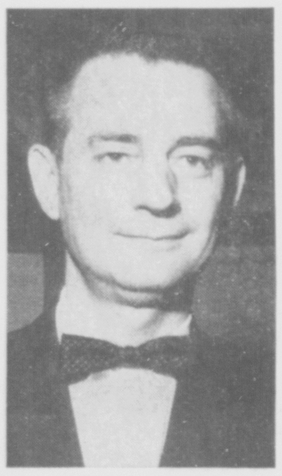
The entire vocal and instrumental music departments will combine for the event.

Feature selections will include the 260-voice chorus singing "Moon River," by Henri Mancini, a recent Academy Award winner, and five numbers from Leonard Bernstein's West Side Story, which received 10 "Oscars" at the Academy Award presentations.

During its portion of the program, the 91-piece Symphonic Band will interpret selections from "The King and I," along with several other outstanding compositions.

At Arlington High

Name Bruno Waara School Principal



BRUNO WAARA

High School District 214's Board of Education this week announced the appointment of Bruno Waara as principal of Arlington High School, beginning with the next school year.

Waara, 40, and presently assistant principal at the school, will succeed Dr. E. Eugene Oliver, who has resigned to become assistant dean of admissions and records at the University of Illinois.

In recommending Waara for the appointment, Supt. H. L. Slichenmyer called him "one of the outstanding young administrators in the suburban area."

A FATHER of two children, Waara and his wife, Madge, reside at 804 N. Ridge, Arlington Heights.

He is a former teacher of distributive education and economics at Arlington and was assistant principal for five years.

Waara came to Arlington Heights after receiving his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Minnesota, piloting a B-24 liberator bomber in the Far East during World War II, and doing sales work with Sears, Roebuck, and Company.

HE ESTABLISHED the distributive education program at Arlington, becoming an administrator in 1957.

Slichenmyer pointed out that Waara had had the very valuable experience of working with Dr. Oliver for the past five years.

Suburbs to Battle Detroit Income Tax

DETROIT, (UPI)—The Detroit Common Council took two minutes recently to pass unanimously a one per cent city income tax that would affect 850,000 persons in metropolitan Detroit.

By a 9-0 margin, the council approved the tax designed to raise $35 million a year and solve the city's financial problems.

Mayor Cavanagh signed the measure just 21 minutes after the council passed it.

The future of the city income tax, however, was clouded by two things.

The State Senate has already passed a 3 per cent state income tax . . . and the Bowman Bill, which would prohibit Detroit from imposing its tax on non-residents, was on the desk for action by Gov. John Swainson.

The governor has not indicated whether he would sign or veto the Bowman Bill. But Mayor Cavanagh said if it became law, Detroit would continue to tax city residents.

Cavanagh told newsmen that a special bureau would be set up under the controller's office to collect the tax. It would be withheld from workers' paychecks. The plan also includes a corporate tax to be paid by businesses.

The tax was to become effective July 1.

Officials of suburban towns have announced they would make a legal fight against imposing the city income tax on non-residents. (A-14

If Don't Choke to Death

Says Smokescreen Can Block Out Nuclear, Pollen Fallout

MILWAUKEE, (UPI) — A flying doctor's research on wind blown pollen may someday help protect against nuclear fallout.

"A huge smokescreen across the nation," Dr. Herman A. Heise said Tuesday, would create a warm barrier of air which tiny particles, such as the radioactive bits that linger weeks after a nuclear blast, could not penetrate.

The fallout, he said, would then be "walked across the nation" by prevailing west winds and dumped into the Atlantic Ocean.

Heise, a specialist on allergies, said an artificial smokescreen during the daytime holds up the pollen grains that make asthma and hay fever sufferers miserable.

To hold up either pollen or radioactive material of a similar size, he said, city factories could make smoke at nighttime and smokey fires be lit in rural areas. He estimated a city like Chicago could cover a 1,000 square mile area with a protective smoke blanket.

"THIS WAY I think we might survive the long range effects of nuclear fallout," he said, "providing we don't choke to death."

Heise said Milwaukee may soon become the first city to include pollen casts along with weather forecasts. "It's very simple to do," he said. The pollen forecast combines temperature readings and atmospheric pollen counts.

Heise, who has logged thousands of hours flying time in measuring pollen at various altitudes, said asthma and hay fever victims usually suffer most at night because of pollen fallout.

THE POLLEN, he said, is lifted by unstable daytime air to high altitudes. "Those fair weather clouds you see in August are just loaded with pollen. At night the earth cools, the clouds disperse and the pollen falls to earth."

Cities usually have a lower pollen count, he said, because the smoke and lights heat the air somewhat and create updrafts that hold the fallout up.

The worst times for hay fever and asthma sufferers, he said, was on cool, windless and damp nights. "These can be forecast with the weather and the relative pollen count predicted," he said.

Heise began his investigation of pollen in the atmosphere about 10 years ago.

"I began by asking asthma and hay fever patients what they thought caused their attacks," he said. "Most of them replied 'the dampness.' When I asked them what they did to relieve it, most replied 'I use a steam kettle.' Now there was a paradox."

TO INVESTIGATE the paradox, Dr. Heise and his wife, Eugenia, learned to fly a plane and used it to measure pollen counts at altitudes from 500 to 25,000 feet.

They logged thousands of hours flying all over the United States and to Canada and the Caribbean. He has discovered pollen from plants in the air 1,000 miles from the place the plants grow.

He collects the pollen on a wire mesh vent coated with vaseline and then takes a square centimeter and carefully counts the tiny grains.

Heise and his wife often met near disaster on their flying trips. Once they were shot up 2,000 feet a minute by a terrific updraft in a thunderstorm and another time he was taking samples at 25,000 feet, "Much higher than the makers think it can go, when I noticed the horizon started to get wavy. I was admiring it when I thought — Teise you're crazy. I managed to lean forward on the stick and dive straight down a few thousand feet to get air and avoid blacking out. Apparently my oxygen wasn't working right. Incidently there wasn't any pollen up there."

Heise plans to go right on counting pollen and flying. "I try to make things easier for my patients by warning them of a possible high pollen count, maybe I can help others too," he said. (A-14

Waiting to Take Ride in Space?

ST. LOUIS, (UPI) — It'll be the Year 2,000 before the head of the family will be able to take his wife and children for a space ride.

A KMOX-TV newsman asked L. Eugene Root, president of the Institute of the Aerospace Sciences, (IAS) when the average man will be able to take a flight in space.

"We've kicked that around quite a bit," said Root, president of Lockheed Missiles and Space Co., Sunnyvale, Calif.

Root said there'll be space travel for those with "material backing . . . and a purpose." In all cases, he said those traveling will require astronaut training.

At first, Root gave the year 1980 for limited space traveling, then he extended the period through 2,000. He said space travel will be on a "restricted and very special basis."

"And a certain amount of training has to go in it," he added. "I would take a big safe distance right now and say around the Year 2,000."

ROOT SAID it won't be "like commuting on a train." He said "that'll be some time away."

On space know-how, Root said on a scientific view, the United States is "ahead," but he said "we're short on powerful boosters."

"They have the jump on us in putting a heavy load in space," he added.

Root said the purpose of the meeting of engineers and scientists here is to communicate first hand what we know.

"Things happen so fast, we hardly have time to write them down anymore," he said.

Scientists and engineers held a series of classified meetings today barred to the press. Delegates to the institute spoke on the landing of spacecraft on the moon. The speakers were Howard H. Haglund and Kermit S. Watkins, California Institute of Technology.

They said that the current and projected NASA program for landing unmanned space vehicles on the surface of the moon stems from the necessity and desire to obtain "detailed knowledge and understanding of the lunar environment."

IN THEIR discussion, Haglund and Watkins considered lunar missions in terms of landing craft that would make "hard," "semi-hard," or "soft" landing on the surface of the moon.

Francis M. Rogallo of the NASA Langley Research Center, reported on efforts to investigate the recovery of space vehicles by means of flexible gliders (paragliders) that have "aerodynamic characteristics of rigid gliders and the 'packageability' of parachutes."

Rogallo said that work being done at Langley "indicates that such recovery is feasible. He summarized recent research and development steps in perfecting paraglider recovery systems.

Harold W. Bixby, of the Northrop Corp., gave a paper on "impact attenuation methods for manned spacecraft.

"Of several possible methods of controlling the shock of final landing impact," Bixby said, "only three-shock struts, pneumatic bags, and crushable structures — have progressed to the general application stage with manned spacecraft."

BIXBY SAID "shock strut technique is favored for horizontal landing touch-down on prepared runways.

"Both pneumatic bags and retro-rockets offer good impact attenuation in conjunction with vertical landing methods."

U. S. Rep. George P. Miller (D.-Calif.) chairman of the House Committee on Science and Astronautics, told the institute of the extensive collaboration between scientists and the governments of the western world in space research.

"Every effort is being made so that the civilian space program of the United States reduces rather than increases the technological gap in the Western world," Miller said.

"This has the greatest long-range implications for the economic well-being and the security of the free nation."

OF TANGIBLE benefits to mankind from the space program, Miller said that these are "hard to determine at the start of the voyage." But some benefits now can be visualized as reasonably to be expected.

Among these, he suggested the possibility of developing inexpensive and nutritious food by utilizing algae.

"The developments, aimed at providing food for space crews on long trips," he said, "appear adaptable to use in providing food for the over-populated and underdeveloped nations of the earth.

"It might be that the algae tank could become as important to a family as the garden plot is today." (A-14

Clark Urges Tighter Insurance Firm Rein

Attorney General William G. Clark has urged the National Association of Attorneys General to foster more strict state regulation of the insurance industry, with an especially watchful eye on foreign corporations and companies which peddle health and accident insurance by mail.

"The basic purpose of insurance," Clark said in addressing the 56th annual meeting of the association in Puerto Rico last week, "is to protect the insured. When an insurance company cannot pay its claims the life savings of many families may be jeopardized."

Clark spoke as the chairman of the association's Insurance Laws Committee. He reaffirmed the principle of state regulation and surveyed the status of such regulation as it exists in all states of the nation today.

"With few exceptions," Clark said, "the states can effectively regulate the insurance industry, provided that some defective areas be corrected, and that the states remain vigilant to needed changes. In the light of the Kefauver Committee report issued last year, it is a must that the state be sensitive to the changing needs of regulation of the insurance industry."

CRITICAL AREAS in the insurance industry, Clark reported, are: "proposed legislation and new regulations to insure solvency of insurance companies; state regulation of foreign insurance companies and of mail order health and accident insurance companies; methods by which states can collect revenue on transactions with nonqualified insurance companies; and a continuing study of rate regulation to provide citizens with a fair and reasonable cost for insurance.

Clark listed several areas of particular concern:

1. A higher degree of responsibility should be imposed on the board of directors as well as the officers of an insurer.

2. Clarification is needed of the areas of responsibility of mutual companies where there is responsibility only to policy holders and claimants, and in stock companies where there is an additional responsibility to stockholders.

3. There is a need for general principles defining and clarifying areas of responsibilities and possible conflicts prohibiting loans and mortgages made between the insurer and its directors and officers.

4. STRICTER regulation of closely held and one-man corporations where there are no regularatory requirements other than an annual meeting. Legislation is required providing for quarterly meetings unless there is a further provision for monthly executive committee meetings. An alternative provision would require monthly board meetings.

5. Directors should be required to be stockholders of the insurer corporation. In the event of sale of stock belonging to a member of a board of directors, a provision should be made for immediate dismissal of the said director from the insurer corporation.

6. Detailed financial reports and statements should be required at stated intervals providing administrators with sufficient data upon which to make solvency determinations.

7. Issuing policies while an insurer is insolvent should be prohibited by statute. (A14

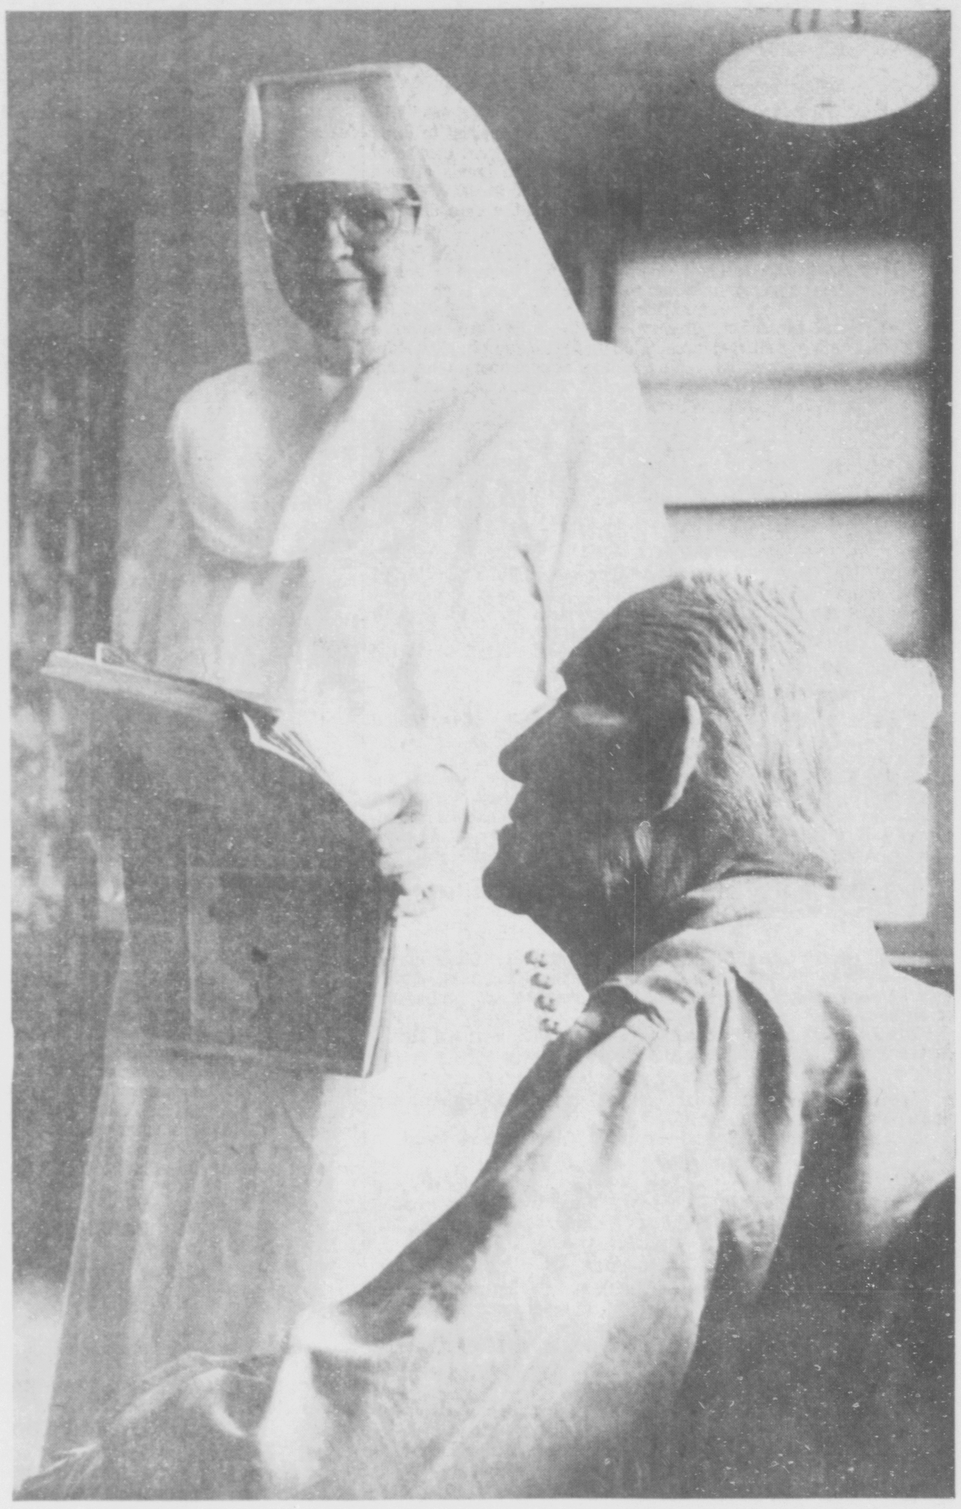
NINETY-EIGHT HOLIDAY SPORTS SEDAN

The tragic plight of the aged in state mental hospitals is complicated by overcrowding — as much as 250 per cent in some buildings. This has created serious problems in caring for 1,903 elderly patients at Elgin State Hospital, where the senile sit out their final years in idleness and isolation.



Sister Mary Mechtilde is supervisor of St. Elizabeth Home for the Aged in Belleville, one of the better institutions for aged in the state. Almost all homes for the aged have waiting lists of one to four years.

A Report on the Aged of Illinois

These Lonely Rooms

Scattered families, social isolation, low incomes, and physical infirmity all combine to create desperate housing and living problems for our million aged in Illinois . . .

By CHARLES E. HAYES • Photographs by LARRY CAMERON

(Fourth in a Series)

I stood in the middle of a dirt street in Exeter, a rural hamlet 50 miles west of Springfield, on the last leg of a 2000-mile trip to investigate the problems of the aged of Illinois.

Exeter, like scores of downstate towns, is dying.

The community's younger citizens have left in search of a brighter future; most of the few dozen who remain are of advanced age.

Photographer Larry Cameron and I found the aged of Exeter no different from the elderly in the slums of big cities, in sprawling suburbs, county nursing homes, or in the depressing private and public hospitals for the aged throughout the state.

The town typified the most pressing personal problem of the aged: loneliness and inactivity. It also reflected the lack of their most urgent physical need — adequate housing.

There was a time when aged parents moved in with their children, but no more. The children are heavily mortgaged in small suburban ranch homes and have bigger families; there's little room for Grandma's rocker.

Two-thirds of Illinois' senior citizens live in their own homes — but they face critical problems, too. In addition to upkeep costs, the aged are burdened by rising taxes; many of the homes are too large and ill-designed to meet the needs of persons with infirmities. Loans to convert older homes are hard to come by; zoning restrictions prevent remodeling for rental income.

"What can I do? Where can I go?" asked the recently-retired salesman, 68. He and his wife must soon sell their Arlington Heights home; they can no longer afford high taxes on a modest retirement income.

For a fortunate few, Plum Landing in downtown Aurora will be the answer. Only one of its kind in Illinois, the 70-unit project is an imaginative residential apartment development for retired people. Developed by the non-profit Mighell Fund, it incorporates a variety of services and group facilities with rentals geared to both single people and couples in middle and upper middle income groups.

For the majority, the future is not as bright. In the dying towns of rural Illinois, in the shabby rooming houses, in the nursing homes, and in the seedy flop hotels of Skid Row, the elderly citizen sits out his remaining years in virtual squalor.

Throughout the state, we found the older core of cities full of aging residents living in furnished rooms, third floor tenements, condemned buildings. Everywhere, the oldest and most substandard housing filters down to the aged — and most of it is not fit for occupancy.

Nearly half the people over 65 have such low incomes as to be eligible for public housing. But public housing for the aged is scarce, and increased longevity is increasing the scarcity. Fewer than 3,000 public housing units in Chicago have been built or authorized for the aged; there are an estimated 300,000 qualified aged living in metropolitan Chicago.

Opposition to expanding public housing for the aged to meet this need comes from several quarters. Legislators point to a scarcity of funds; many more call such housing "socialism." And there is strong opposition from special interests.

Said Frank Higgins, regional director of the Illinois Public Aid Commission in Belleville: "The whole problem of the aged is motivated or tarnished by the profit motive. The aged have been ignored for 2,000 years and now everyone's trying to cash in on them."

Cameron and I saw many examples of the tarnish.

We walked through the grounds of River Bluff Nursing Home in Rockford. This county institution — built in 1872 as a poor farm — was described by a local newspaper as "a shocking fire trap . . . honeycombed with tiny rooms, narrow hallways, steep stairways, inadequate and dangerous fire escapes — and loaded with elderly or paralyzed patients who couldn't escape if fire should break out."

We found this description accurate. Despite the handicaps of an inadequate plant, officials at the home had developed excellent nursing care. But a major expenditure of money was necessary to remove the hazards.

A $2 million bond issue, supported by the Winnebago County Medical Society, was defeated in a 1958 referendum. Gloated the Journal of the American Nursing Home Association, organization of private operators, in its November 1958 issue:

"Success in defeating this issue can be attributed to the tremendous effort put forth by the Illinois Association . . . It goes without saying that here is proof of what concerted effort, education, and the winning of friends can accomplish in the interests of private enterprise."

We found too many for-profit facilities rundown, overcrowded ghettoes for the elderly — warehouses for the infirm, virtual boneyards. Illinois has 24,483 nursing home beds of which 20,100 are rated as non-acceptable on the basis of fire and health hazards.

The exceptions to these deplorable conditions are largely public or church-supported.

St. Elizabeth Home for the Aged in Belleville has met the social and physical needs of the elderly with reason and charity. Here, 135 residents from 65 to 96 are housed in a modern building with a warm, cheerful atmosphere. The staff provides activities that include hobbies and crafts, entertainment, and social programs.

The Lutheran Home and Service for the Aged in Arlington Heights also lacks the sordid institutional atmosphere. Says the Rev. John Kempf, superintendent: "When this becomes an institution, it should be closed. This is a home to live a full, normal life, not as a last resort or a place to come and die."

From here, we went to Elgin State Hospital where one-third of the 5,800 patients are aged. A majority of these elderly do not belong in a mental institution. Said the superintendent, Dr. Daniel Haffron: "Many of our residents are merely senile and require personalized care not unique to a mental institution. What can we do? We have overcrowding, a poor physical plant, and are under-staffed."

We found 250 per cent overcrowding in some buildings. The capacity of Loewy Cottage is 52; today, some 133 women are jammed into this firetrap built as a "temporary" structure more than 40 years ago. Forty-two rollaway beds are shoved away from dining and day room walls each night. Rows of old women sat for hours on end against the vacant walls. The babbling deranged walked among the lonely aged to whom this was home.

Richard C. Blair, executive director of Plum Landing Residence for Retired People, stands on balcony of unique apartment development in Aurora. Designed for middle and upper middle income groups, the first of 70 units will be occupied in June.

An E. St. Louis, Ill., caseworker calls on a recipient of old age relief. In E. St. Louis and Belleville, 85 per cent of the residents over 65 years of age live in the slum districts.

Census figures show that twice as many houses owned and occupied by older persons are in poorer condition and repair than other homes.

Institution Goes Modern

'Space Age' Computer System Operates at Arlington Bank

In a major move to provide better services to its customers, the Bank of Arlington Heights has introduced a computer system into its everyday operations.

The bank has converted its standard bookkeeping system to a completely electronic method. The changeover is the first for any financial institution in the area.

The new system also places the Bank of Arlington Heights among the handful of the nation's 14,000 commercial banks which have already entered the electronic era of accounting.

The bank is doing its electronic bookkeeping through the computer facilities and electronic's staff of Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago. General Electric equipment is being used.

W. C. Wolf, president of the bank, said Continental is the first bank in the Midwest to make computer services available to other banks in the area.

HE EXPLAINED that without this assistance, it would be practically impossible for his bank to convert its bookkeeping system, because the cost of purchasing the necessary automated equipment would be prohibitive to a smaller bank.

Wolf said the reason his institution has begun using the most advanced form of electronic equipment available is to speedily process the bank's growing mountains of paperwork.

"As a result of processing our checks faster," Wolf said, "our bank will be able to concentrate more in other areas of customer service.

"BY USING A computer to perform certain tedious mechanical operations, we feel that more of our staff will be freed from time-consuming, behind-the-scenes chores and given the opportunity to become more directly engaged in customer contact and service."

"Of course our electronic bookkeeping system also has other benefits," Wolf pointed out. "The computer program provides our bank with a higher degree of accuracy and control in the processing of checks.

"It also will help us stabilize our operational costs at a time when an increasing flow of checks through our bank has pointed toward higher bookkeeping labor costs in the future."

As one example of the paperwork that makes bank automation vital, Wolf said that in 1939 a total of 3½-billion checks was processed in the United States. By 1952 the volune of checks written reached 8-billion, and this mounted to approximately 14-billion checks in 1961. Conservative forecasts peg the figure at more than 22-billion checks at the end of the next decade.

HE EXPLAINED that his bank now processes approximately 6,000 checks and checking account deposit slips each day, or approximately 1½-million items during a full year.

Before converting to electronic bookkeeping, the bank of Arlington Heights' bookkeeping department would begin processing current checking account items at 10 a.m. This detailed work would last throughout most of the business day.

Now, with the new computer system, all processing is done at night electronically. Instead of taking nearly a full business day as before, the computer system completes the work in less than two hours.

INSTEAD OF beginning its bookkeeping chores shortly after opening its doors each morning, the Bank of Arlington Heights now has up-to-date information available on every account at the start of each business day.

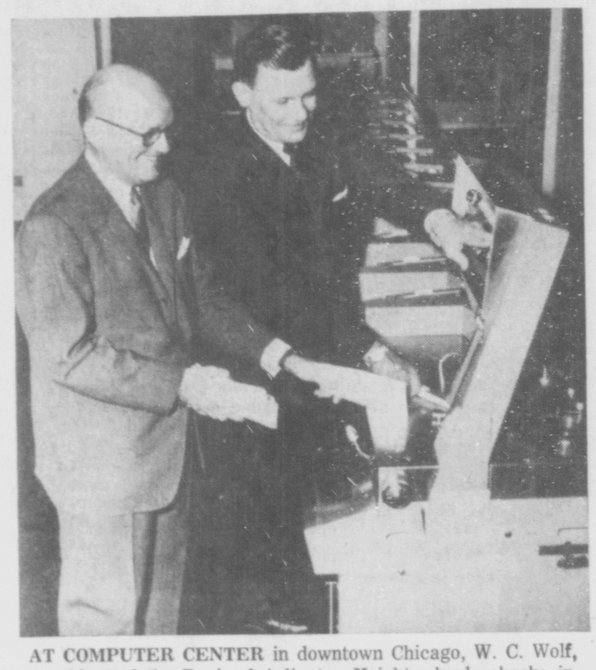
Basically, the bank's new bookkeeping system covers only checking accounts, both personal and commercial. The bank, according to Wolf, has approximately 4,000 such accounts, often referred to as demand deposits because these deposits are payable on demand at any time the depositor elects.

All checks used by Bank of Arlington Heights customers are encoded, which means the bank's transit number and the customers' account numbers have been printed in magnetic ink in the lower left-hand corner of each check.

THROUGH this new code of specially designed characters printed in an iron oxide ink, a computer can actually read the magnetized numerals and symbols. This sets the entire electronic system into motion.

Wolf said his bank is delighted with its new electronic bookkeeping system. He said he feels that the capabilities of the computer service can be extended into other areas of bank operations. (B-8

WHEN CUSTOMERS' checks arrive at The Bank of Arlington Heights, an operator there encodes them with additional numerals and symbols. On the face of each check in lower right-hand corner, encoder operator Mrs. Dolores Kiral prints dollar amount of check in magnetic ink. Mrs. Kiral, head of bank's bookkeeping department, resides at 1222 N. Dunton Ave. (B8



AT COMPUTER CENTER in downtown Chicago, W. C. Wolf, president of the Bank of Arlington Heights, loads checks into document handler and is ready to start the machine. Tilden Cummings, president of Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Company, gives Wolf an assist in feeding checks into document handler. Machine "reads" magnetic characters on checks at rate of 750-checks-per-minute. Continental Bank has made its leased computer facilities available to the Bank of Arlington Heights.

For Monday

Talented Teen Audition Set

The first audition for the Chicagoland Talented Teen Search in the Arlington area will be this Monday, May 7, at 7 p.m. in Kimball Hill School, Rolling Meadows.

The winner of this district contest, to be held July 2, at 3 p.m. will advance to the finals Aug. 4 in McCormick Place during the International Trade Fair.

Winner of the final competition will get a jet trip to Hollywood with a tour of a movie studio, visits with motion picture stars, and a trip to Disneyland.

COMPETITION IS open to singers, dancers, musicians, twirlers and novelty acts. Any youth 13 through 19 years of age may enter.

Trophies will be awarded to winners in eight divisions in the district contest — group singers, solo singers, group dancers, solo dancers, combos, solo musicians, twirlers and novelty acts. The grand prize winner will advance to the finals.

The competition is being sponsored by the Coca-Cola Company, and conducted by the Talented Teen Foundation. Sponsor of the Arlington area district contest is the Rolling Meadows Chamber of Commerce's Fourth of July Committee.

ALL AUDITIONS will be held in the Kimball Hill School. Auditions are May 7, May 14 and May 21.

The contests will be judged by a panel which will evaluate each performance on the basis of talent, 60 per cent; showmanship, 20 per cent; costume, 10 per cent; and poise 10 per cent.

In addition to the trophies and the grand prize, scholarships to various professional schools will be awarded.

TO ENTER the contest, teenagers should fill out an entry blank and send it to the Talented Teen Foundation, Box 142, Itasca. Entry blanks are available from the foundation or soon will be found in Coca-Cola cartons in local stores. There is no entry fee.

Each act is limited to three minutes. Dancers should provide their own music, either records and record player or tape recorder, or an accompanist. Singers should bring their own accompanists also. A piano will be available. (B8

Big Speaking Schedule for School Group

A gigantic speaking schedule faces members of High School District 214's Board of Education and members of the Citizens' Lay Committee, who are "spreading the word" about the May 19 bond issue to provide a fourth 2500 student high school.

Over 50 meetings with PTA groups and area civic organizations have been arranged by the Citizens' Committee, which has endorsed the board's plans for the $4.9 million bond issue for a school to be built at the northwest corner of the Route 83-Hintz Road intersection, near Wheeling.

The rostrum delegation, which includes a member of the board, a Citizens' Committee member, and a member of the high school staff, presents enrollment and financial data and then answers questions about the proposal.

"WE HAVE as many as six meetings scheduled for the same day," informs Don Paisley, a Citizens' Committee representative from Wheeling.

In the next week, presentations will be made to the Lions Park PTA (May 3), Mount Prospect's Fairview School (May 3), Mount Prospect's Busse School (May 3) the congregation of the First Baptist Church, Elk Grove (May 6), Wilson School PTA (May 8), Arlington Heights Junior Women's Club (May 8).

Grove Junior High School (May 8), Cardinal Drive-Kimball Hill combined meeting, Rolling Meadows (May 8), Central School, Mount Prospect (May 9), Arlington Heights VFW (May 9).

"THE FOLLOWING week's schedule is even heavier," Paisley informs. "However, we're still signing up organizations which want to schedule a short talk on the proposal."

Interested organizations can phone Paisley at LE 7-4534.

"By the time the May 19 election comes around we want to feel that every resident has had an opportunity to examine the board's plans. We feel the proposed school is a bargain for the District and deserves extolling as well as the taxpayer's questions."

The proposed high school is to make room for the 10,000 high school students expected in the District by 1966. Citizens' Committee members have pointed out that despite the opening of Forest View High School next fall, the three schools (Forest View, Arlington, and Prospect) will be overcrowded in two years.

THE BOARD has emphasized that the bond issue approval is necessary in order that ground might be broken this summer and the school completed by the 1964-65 school year, when the overcrowding crisis will be reached.

The board of education this week will mail a brochure to the District's 25,000 homes. The brochure, due to reach the residents Monday, explains the May 19 bond issue.

Adult Golf Course Is Announced

High School District 214's Adult Education Program has announced a six session golf instruction program to begin May 7 at the Rob Roy and Golden Acres Country Club driving ranges.

Conducted by professionals, the instruction is open to both men and women at a tuition fee of $7.50. Because of the demand for golf instruction, two courses are being offered, although participants will receive instruction only at the course at which they have registered.

ROB ROY instruction will begin on Tuesdays and Thursdays with a 7 p. m. starting time. Golden Acres (Roselle) instruction is set for Mondays and Thursdays at 7 p. m. beginning May 7.

Registration and further information is available at the night school office, Arlington High School.

Reservations Due For Train Party

Only a little more than a week remains for juniors and seniors at Arlington High School to get their reservations in for the after-the-prom train trip to Nippersink Lodge in Genoa City, Wis.

The "Arlington Special" will leave the Arlington Park race track about 1:30 a.m. Wednesday, May 30, after junior and senior couples return from the prom at Melody Mill in Riverside.

PRICE FOR the trip, and breakfast and lunch at Nippersink, is $25 per couple (no stags allowed) and the cut off date is Saturday, May 12.

By that date, completed forms signed by the parents of both the boy and girl must be turned in with the money to the Bank of Arlington Heights in Arlington Market.

Two Chicago combos, the "Supremes" and the "Red Jackets," will provide entertainment and music for dancing during the train trip.

The trip is sponsored by the Parents After the Prom Club of Arlington Heights, Inc. (A

Psychologist Shared By Suburban Schools

Arlington - Prospect High Schools, Prospect Heights Elementary Schools and Feehanville Grade Schools really do "understand"—or at least next fall they will make every effort to do just that.

Parents who have difficulty in understanding a single child, can sympathize with local schools who are faced with literally hundreds of children to understand.

For educators formal testing programs and specialized interviews have become standard procedure in finding and helping children with potential gifts, handicaps or problems.

TO A GREATER degree each year, school districts have turned to doctors, psychiatrists and trained psychologists for help.

This year most local school districts have engaged in a program of hiring a qualified testing psychologist with experience in dealing with school-age children. Among the first of the school district-psychologist programs is a three-way cooperative venture with Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Elk Grove elementary school systems.

Next year this combination is slated to break into an Arlington Heights - Heights - Mount Prospect two-way arrangement, with Elk Grove joining Wheeling-Buffalo Grove elementary schools in a similar program. Schaumburg - Hoffman schools and Palatine - Rolling Meadows schools also share services of a psychologist.

STARTING in the 1962-63 year, the high schools and the two grade school districts will engage a psychologist. As approved by the three school boards, the psychologist will spend half of his time at the high schools, 30 per cent at Prospect Heights and 20 per cent at Feehanville.

Essential responsibilities will be in testing and identifying children who may be helped by special education programs, from those for handicapped children, for mentally retarded or for intellectually gifted. The psychologist will deal with children with special learning problems and develop programs for children in special categories. He will work with teachers and administrators in establishing procedures and programs to handle students with special behavior problems.

He will be expected to aid school officials in pinpointing students who need deeper psychological, medical or psychiatric help, and make firm recommendations on referrals to outside sources of help.

COST OF A qualified school psychologist is shared by the state through special grants made in connection with special education work. Salary for the Arlington - Prospect, Prospect Heights and Feehanville psychologist is expected to range from about $7,000 to $11,000 according to Edward Gilbert, administrative assistant to the superintendent of the high school.

Of this amount as much as $5,000 could be received from state aid, Gilbert indicated, but a lower figure due to increasing demands on available funds by local school districts is "probable" Gilbert said.

List Membership

Working Committees Named for Dist. 214

The major role played by building programs at Arlington-Prospect High Schools was amply demonstrated Monday night when new working committees were named for the board of education.

Three "standing" committees had been named in the past—Finance, Education and Building—each with two of the seven board members, while the president remained an ex-officio member of all three committees.

For the coming year of operation, Board President John Haas appointed three special "working" building committees in addition to the finance and education committees.

THE EDUCATION committee will retain veteran board member Ken Dougan as chairman, with Mrs. Eugenia Chapman, board secretary, replacing Haas as a member of the committee.

Heading the Budget and finance committee will be Charles Fyfe. Fyfe takes the chairmanship vacated by William Spomer who did not seek re-election to the board. Mrs. Chapman will remain as a member of the committee.

In the important building field, with the new Forest View school due for completion before the fall opening of school, and a bond referendum for the fourth high school near Wheeling slated for May 19, special three-man committees were appointed.

Continuing to act as chairman of the building committee for Forest View high school south of Arlington Heights is George Laubenheimer. Also continuing as a member is Fyfe, with Charles Lockwood named as the third member. Lockwood, just re-elected to the high school board after an absence of more than a year, served as a member of the original Forest View building committee.

THE THREE-MAN committee for the new Wheeling-area school will have Laubenheimer and George Paris as members and Lockwood as chairman. Paris, associated with the Portland Cement Association for many years and with experience in the construction field, was just elected to the school board.

A general building-problems committee, to deal with district-wide building problems, maintenance and building needs at the present high schools and to coordinate efforts by the two new-school building committees will have Fyfe and Paris as members with Paris serving as chairman.

Until passage of a bond referendum for the fourth high school, a special board committee of three members will continue to work with a Citizens Lay Committee appointed from the entire district to coordinate, recommend and counsel on plans for the Wheeling-Area school. Chairman of this special committee will be Dougan with Mrs. Chapman and Fyfe continuing as members.

There's a big difference between making money and making the most of it

"How do they make their money go so far?"

How do they do it?—those families who always seem to have more, even though their income may be less.

Often you'll discover the answer in the way they use their full-service bank. They keep their budget on the track with a checking account that spots overspending before it becomes serious. They have a savings account for emergencies—and use low-cost bank loans to take advantage of cash bargains that save them money.

A full-service bank—such as ours—can help make your money go further, too. For here all your money matters are handled at the same place. Make it a point, this week, to see how much more we can do for you—and your money.

'Man Who Came to Dinner' Set For Tonight, Friday, Saturday

Directing a high school play is like trying to find a Chirstmas tree in May. In fact, directing a high school play is finding a Christmas tree in May.

So concluded technical director Gayle Beckway as her stage crew concluded preparations for tonight's opening of "The Man Who Came to Dinner," Arlington High's spring play.

The show, which has a 7:30 curtain tonight and an 8 p.m. showing Friday and Saturday nights, demands a fully decorated Christmas tree.

"AND THAT'S not all," Miss Beckway smilingly complained. The Arlington speech teacher, who assists director Douglas Murphy with Arlington dramatics, informs that her crew had to find leg irons for the cast's convicts and a packing case for penguins.

However, the technical director reports that the 39 member cast has been fully "propped" for tonight's show.

The comedy, a 1939 hit by Pulitzer Prize winners George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart, features senior Steven P. Olson as the "man," Sheridan Whiteside. Olson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Olson, 1219 Watling Road, Arlington Heights, has the Herculean task of being on stage in all but a few minutes of the entire play.

OLSON HAS previously appeared at the high school as Friar Laurence in "Romeo and Juliet" and as the orphaned clerk in last November's "The Lady's Not for Burning."

Whiteside's dinner guests, besides the penguins and an uninvited Egyptian mummy, include his secretary, Suzanne Katovich, junior; and newspaperman Charles Vlcek, a junior.

Heading the household of the unfortunate and hilarious confinement are Claude LaRose, sophomore, and Margaret Moeller, senior, as Mr. and Mrs. Stanley. Their son, Richard Stanley, is junior Alan Massie. As their young daughter June Stanley for the Thursday and Saturday performances is Toni Marsala, senior.

LYNNE BRODERICK, freshman, plays June Stanley for the Friday performance. Diana Brenyas, senior, plays Mr. Stanley's strange sister Harriet. Servants in the household are Jeff Huebner, freshman, as John; and Darlene Raupp, junior, as Sarah.

A spectacular arrival in the small town in Ohio is Hollywood actress Lorraine Sheldon, who is "every movie queen who has read her own publicity and believed it." Rebecca Moulton, sophomore, opens in the role Thursday evening. Mary Jane Heberling, junior, completes the role on Friday and Saturday evenings.

As a bullied doctor and nurse, Richard A. Hawley, junior, and Linda Trimmel, senior, try in vain to please their tyrant patient.

"CHARACTERS" who visit Whiteside include theatrical composer Beverly Carlton, played by Charles King, and a Hollywood comedian named Banjo, "who probably once played Andy Hardy-type roles," portrayed by junior Kendell Bond.

Bringing in a city of 10,000 cockroaches is unconventional Professor Metz, played by Tony Hey. Luncheon guests from state prison include guard Hugh Smeed and prisoners James M. Ewart, Bob Bardach, and Paul Ukleja.

Expressman Cliff Hadick expresses disgust over deliveries such as four penguins and an Egyptian mummy case. Deputies Joseph Mueller and Mike Fitzpatrick and plainclothes man Dale LeFevre complete the list of special services personnel.

IN TOWN from the network to do a radio broadcast are lady announcer Jan Sauer and her technical assistants Ed Burke and Steve Castor. With Whiteside on his Christmas broadcast are director Georganne Sedor and her choir consisting of Linda Hosek, Julia Holsapfel, Martha Hodge, Lynne Broderick, Peggy Castle, Kathie Dunn, Cathy Erickson, and Jan Unander.

Jack Johnson plays a suitor of Stanley's daughter, June. Neighbors are Andrea Rogozinski and Deirdre LaPin.

Special features of the Arlington production include a Cole Porter composition written for the original production, played and sung by junior Charles King; the designs for actress Lorraine Sheldon created by cast member Margaret Moeller; and the beard grown for the show by actor Steve Olson.

IMPORTANT IN the preparation of the show are assistant to the director Rita Jo Klabe, properties chairmen Jeanne Anderson and Susan Carle, and stage manager Walter Meyer. Susan Allison doubles as chairman of the publicity and make-up committees.

Robert Johnston, sophomore, and John Bowdle, senior, designed the lighting and sound for the production. (ACM (EG

"GET OUT OF HERE with that medicine, Miss Bed Pan," screams Sheridan Whiteside (Steve Olson) in tonight's opening presentation of "The Man Who Came to Dinner," Arlington High's spring play. The nurse (Linda Trimmel) takes the bombardment for nearly three acts before resigning.

IGNORING COMPLAINTS of a $784 phone bill, the man who came to dinner — and stayed — listens patiently to Mr. Stanley's (Claude La Rose) complaints while glamorous Lorraine Sheldon (Mary Jane Heberling) adds to the costs. Attempting to quiet her husband is Mrs. Stanley (Margaret Moeller) while newspaperman Bert Jefferson (Charles Vlcek) is amused by the scene. The show, in Arlington's Little Theater, curtains tonight at 7:30 and Friday and Saturday nights at 8 p.m. (ACM-EG

Lions See Exhibition Of Judo

An eight-member team from the Northwest Suburban YMCA Judo Club staged a 40-minute demonstration Tuesday night for Arlington Heights Lions Club.

The team, instructed by Ernest Hauser of Chicago, included seven men and a girl, Carol Brouwer, 630 N. Belmont, Arlington Heights. The men demonstrated sport and self-defense judo; Miss Brouwer demonstrated women's self-defense.

The Lions meeting was at St. Peter Activity Building. (A

Especially for Women

"FASHIONS OF YESTERYEAR," featuring clothes dating to the 1880's to the 1940's will be the theme of the annual mother-daughter tea to be held at 3 p.m. Sunday, May 6, in Our Saviour's Lutheran Church, Arlington Heights. Models will include Mrs. James Garrison, who wears a linen duster and matching skirt of 1912, Miss Martha Sorgatz in a cotton gingham of 1910, Mrs. Dean Willmann, in a black silk taffeta dress worn by her grandmother in the 1880's, and Mrs. Marlin Peickert wearing the wedding dress of Mrs. Garrison's mother, which dates to the flapper days of 1928.

Mother-Daughter Tea

Yesteryear Fashions To Highlight Fete

Button front shoes, lace hats made of horse hair, dazzling evening wear from the Roaring 20's and the Torrid 30's, plus a bicycle suit from 1910 and other ensembles that many in the audience will be reluctant to admit they can remember, will comprise the "Fashions of Yesteryear" next Sunday when Our Saviour Lutheran Church in Arlington Heights holds its annual mother-daughter tea at 3 p.m. in the church.

Fashions for the show will date back to the 1880's and include outfits through the Fateful 40's. Background music will be keyed to the era of the costumes and will include a cylinder record played on a hand operated phonograph. A garden scene with geraniums will be used for the show's backdrop, and antiques will be on display.

MODELING WILL be Mrs. James Garrison, president of the church's Women's Guild, Mrs. John Petersen, wife of the church pastor, Mrs. Malvin Rygh, Mrs. Vern Heim, Mrs. Harry Wickstrom, Mrs. Jerome Downing, Mrs. Edward Stein, Mrs. Gust Hermanson, Mrs. Wendell Swenson and daughter, Lisa, and teenagers, Martha Sorgatz, Sharon Rausch, Karen Hertel and Beth Hansen.

Co-chairmen of the tea are Mrs. Marlin Peickert and Mrs. Dean Wfllman. Mrs. Willman is also chairman of the fashion show and will do the narrating. Other committee chairmen include Mrs. Hermanson, Mrs. Aub Johnson, Mrs. Louis Schultz, Mrs. Eugene Baker and Mrs. Grace Ekstrand.

SPECIAL MUSIC will include vocal solos by Mrs. Dean Jacobsen, accompanied by Mrs. Nelville Quam and a barber shop quartet from the Arlington Chapter of SPEBSQSA. The quartet, "The Tune Ups," will sing old-time favorites such as "In the Good Old Summertime" and "I Want a Girl."

Mrs. Aub Johnson will conclude the program with a reading on "Memories." after which refreshments of coffee, tea, punch, open-faced sandwiches and cookies will be served.

Cut Capers For Salad Interest

Variety gives zest to good eating. Next time you're tossing up a greens salad, try adding a few capers. These little dark green pellets have a subtle, peppery taste that's just zingy enough to be different.

You won't mind adding them to your condiment stock, for they're adaptable to other foods besides salads. Fish with lemon and capers in the butter sauce is tasty, too.

And don't stop with capers. Splashes of unusual cheeses, those colorful strips of pimiento that come in small jars, ripe olives and red Italian onions—these are just a few of the tricks that can turn an otherwise ordinary salad into a gourmet's delight.

Helpful Hints

Residents of North Cook county are being offered a service of helpful homemaker hints by the University of Illinois. Number to call for the telephone encyclopedia messages which change daily is 392-3060.

Twenty people are employed full-time and 15 others part-time in the average new super market opened during 1961, Super Market Institute reports. This did not include the extra personnel employed during the opening weeks.

A REFRESHINGLY NEW collection of furs and fashions from Burns-Silvey of Oak Park will go on parade Thursday, May 10 in Itasca Country Club, the setting of an annual spring luncheon and style show sponsored by the Medinah Woman's Club. Meeting recently in a member's home to discuss final details for the 12:30 p.m. show were Mrs. David Howland, Mrs. Roland Dunteman, and Mrs. Walter Schultz. Top Journalist Says

Women Suffering From Job Bias

UN Reporter Defends Gals

by MELDA LYNN

A woman who has reached the pinnacle of success in the field of journalism believes there is definitely discrimination against women holding top positions in business and government.

In an exclusive interview for Paddock Publications, Pauline Frederick, NBC News' United Nations correspondent, said she has had to fight this discrimination.

Miss Frederick was featured speaker in Peoria Saturday for the Golden Key Banquet of the 41st annual state convention of the Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

She believes a woman should not be given a job just because she is a woman, but by the same token, should not be held back because of her sex.

IN CITING discrimination she has observed, and fought, she pointed out that there is only one woman permanent delegate to the United Nations. She is Agda Rossel of Sweden.

"There are a number of women in the various delegations, but she is the only one of the 104 permanent delegates," she reported.

Miss Frederick believes the only way discrimination can be broken down is to convince men that women can do a job, especially in the United Nations. "A woman can bring some sense into this mad arms race. I do not think men should decide whether we will have war or peace. I think women should demand to have the same right to voice their opinions on the course we are to take as men have," she emphasized.

ONLY WOMAN ever elected to the United Nations Correspondents Association, she is heard daily on radio and television giving her analysis of happenings in the United Nations.

Her attractiveness is highlighted by her intenseness and apparent devotion to the United Nations and the part she feels it must play in the prevention of another war—which she says would be "suicide." She believes women must convince men that another nuclear war means mass killing.

It's easy to see why the only woman U. N. correspondent has been able to get "to the top." She is completely devoted to her work. She dresses immaculately and is definitely "all feminine." She also impresses all who talk with her that she is a hard worker, sincerely interested in her work and in furthering the cause of eliminating discrimination against women. On the other hand, she is generous in her praise for the men who are equally devoted to their work, not just because they are men, but because they are able and willing to do their jobs.

HOWEVER, she advises women who want to get into top positions to prepare to work twice as hard as men do in the same type of job. "Do not be easily discouraged," she advised.

Pauline said she had a great deal of discouragement in trying to break into the news field. She began as a newspaper reporter in 1946 in Harrisburg, Pa. She reported school and social news following graduation from college. She has a BS degree in political science in the liberal arts college.

She attended graduate school in Washington and received a masters degree in international law. She decided she would go to law school, but a history professor suggested she "go back to journalism," which she did.

"I'M GLAD I did, because I would have made a very poor lawyer," she confided.

She then worked for the Washington Star interviewing wives of diplomats. Later she worked for the North American Newspaper Alliance as a feature writer and as a state department correspondent.

She became radio and educational assistant to H. R. Baukage in 1945, in 1947 she went to Europe as a "stringer." The work in Europe did not fulfill expectations and she soon found herself back in America in New York and finally with NBC in her present position.

In between snatches of conversation about her life abroad, her climb to success in a field dominated by men, the topic of conversation always turned to the United Nations.

MELDA LYNN left, of Paddock Publications interviewed Miss Pauline Frederick, NBC News' United Nations Correspondent, last week in Peoria while attending the 41st Annual Convention of the Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs. Miss Frederick was featured speaker for the convention Saturday night. Her topic was "The United Nations in A Changing World."

PAULINE took women to task for not taking an active role in the UN. She said women must let congress know they believe in the UN and must urge early issuance of the $200 million bonds.

"This money is a very small fraction of what we are spending on arms and only half of what it cost to send John Glenn around the earth."

She believes the present nuclear tests are "nonsense" and will just call for more tests by Russia, which will in turn call for more tests by the United States. "Then some fool will make a mistake and push the wrong button."

The peace marches have no effect on either the public or the leaders, she believes.

SHE URGED women to fight discrimination with hard work and to fight for the United Nations as the only sensible way to try to work out a solution for saving the world.

"The UN is here to stay," she said with determination. "If this one goes out of existence, they will just have to create another one."

And, if the determination, loyalty and hard work expressed in every word spoken by Pauline Frederick can be backed up by other equally hard working women—the UN will thrive — women will take their rightful places in the business world — in government — and still have a free hand to successfully rock the cradle.

Wood Dale Juniors 'Crusade' on Cancer

Due to the enormous task of sponsoring this year's Cancer Crusade in Wood Dale, every member of the Wood Dale Junior Woman's Club, participating to the fullest, found April a busy month.

With collection packets and vital information, members conducted the recent door-to-door campaign, leaving behind them useful literature as part of the Cancer Society's educational program.

But earlier, the group watched several films on the subject provided by the society, in order to be better prepared to supply answers to their neighbors.

SETTLING DOWN to usual club business, new officers for the coming year were recently elected. Mrs. Jerald Blodgett, who served as vice president this year, will move into the presidency.

Mrs. John Murray was named as vice president; Mrs. George Ecklund, secretary; Mrs. Richard Hugren, treasurer; and Mrs. Frank Fichter and Mrs. Joseph Masotti, ways and means chairmen.

Many of these women will represent the club at the IFWC Convention Junior Day, slated for Wednesday, May 9 in the Sherman Hotel, Chicago.

DELEGATES are Mrs. Robert Terese, out-going president, and Mrs. Blodgett. Serving as alternates are Mrs. Fichter and Mrs. Joseph Greeley.

The morning session of the convention will be devoted to a discussion of each region's accomplishments during the past year and future plans; the afternoon is set aside for a viewing of winning fashions from the Vogue sewing contest.

Following is the presentation of state awards and the gathering will wind-up with a banquet in the evening and a special premier showing of a movie.

IN ADDITION, Mrs. Greeley plans to attend a special workshop on press and publicity to aid her job as publicity chairman. At the same time Mrs. Fichter will join mothers in a public health and welfare workshop.

Principal organizer of the Wood Dale Juniors and its first president, Mrs. Greeley has also brought additional honor to the group, having been appointed secretary of the 11th District, Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs.

Smorgasbord Set by OES

Swedish meatballs, turkey, ham and salads are just a few of the delicacies heading the smorgasbord menu being planned by members of Bloomingdale OES.

They have set the date of Saturday, May 5 for the event, to be held in the Gingham Inn on Lake Street, Hanover Park, from 5 to 8 p.m.

Tickets will be available at the door, announces Mrs. Charles Roe, chairman. Proceeds are to be used for improvement in the Bloomingdale lodge room.

Quite Contrary by Mary

'Helpful' Neighbors

I'll wager there is a woman in the neighborhood who is one puzzled female right at this moment. You know how maddening it can be not to be able to find something in your home that is absolutely essential. Like for cooking. Or changing beds. Or getting dressed. This gal is not going to be able to find anything. And, all us little Busse Avenue Adorables did it.

MARY

When this couple bought a house just a few doors from where they were living, we were all pleased as punch. We don't like to lose members of our motley group. We cling a lot. We were all so glad they were going to stay, we told them not to give another thought to hiring movers and a van. WE would take care of everything. WE would move them.

Unfortunately, for them, they took us up on it. In the first place, none of us arrived at any specified time. In ones and twos we sort of straggled in and asked what we could do to help. The fellas were happy as they rode the borrowed truck back and forth and tracked mud all over. They panted a lot over such things as the sofa and washer and dryer but as long as they kept smiling, we knew that it was all right.

Not getting much of an answer from our fraught hostess on what we could do to help, we girls looked at each other and decided to take things into our own hands. And what busy hands they were too. Armed with wet rags and complete determination, we set to with a will. When it came time to decide where the food would go, we consulted each other on what seemed right. When the poor housewife goes to cook, it will be a merry game of button, button, which cabinet has the spices.

I decided that my job would be to put the books in the bookcases. I was not too selective in my arrangemen, so Mila 18 is nestling right next to The Joy of Cooking. After we got these little items taken care of, we loused up the linen closet pretty well. Then we proceeded to move furniture around in the bedrooms. To suit ouselves, naturally. When all was as neat and tidy as our busy hands could make it, we accepted her grateful thanks graciously. It was the least we could do for a friend.

Come to think of it, as we bade her a fond farewell, she did look a little harried.

The bride-to-be is a 1961 graduate of Prospect High School and Mr. Berg is with the Stockade Trading Post, Wheeling. (Jenart Studio

Betsy Creviston

Former Arlington Heights residents, the Mark S. Crevistons of Centerville, Ohio, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Betsy Ann, to Joel Jan Hall, son of the Dahl Halls of Kankakee.

Miss Creviston was graduated from Arlington High School in 1960 and is attending the University of Illinois where she is affiliated with Delta Delta Delta Sorority. Mr. Hall is a graduate of the University of Illinois and is affiliated with Acacia Fraternity. He is now employed by Illinois Bell Telephone Company in Chicago.

The wedding date has been set for June 9 in First Methodist Church, Arlington Heights. (S

Susan McDonald

The engagement of their daughter, Susan, to Joseph A. Corrado, son of the Frank Corrados, 201 S. Wilke, Arlington Heights, is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. McDonald, 215 W. Orchard, Arlington Heights.

Both young people were graduated from Arlington High School. Miss McDonald was also graduated from Moser Business College and is now employed as a secretary at Neptune Meter Co., Elk Grove Village. Mr. Corrado is an assistant engineer for the Sanitary District of Chicago.

The couple has not set a wedding date. (S

Sheila Priester

The engagement of their daughter, Sheila Lois Priester, to Charles F. Augustine, son of the Elmer L. Augustines of San Rafael, Cal., is announced by Mr. and Mrs. George J. Priester of Wheeling.

Miss Priester will be graduated in June from St. Mary's College of Notre Dame, Ind., and will be entering Northwestern University for her master of arts in teaching. Mr. Augustine will be graduated from Notre Dame in June with a bachelor of arts in Economics and will be commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Force.

No date has been set for the couple's wedding.

Just Around the Corner from Patty McArdle

A Crawling Eye...Shut

Dear Peg:

Let me go on record as saying I don't approve of those Saturday night horror movies, that can be seen on TV around 10:15; on the other hand, I don't particularly disapprove of them. I guess what I really don't approve of is children who try to talk their mother into watching with them.

For some reason, Megan and Bridget have the idea that I simply must not miss these tales of terror. Probably, because I like to watch Alfred Hitchcock's program and Boris Karloff's Thriller, they think my taste in TV runs toward the ghoulish.

I know Patrick thinks I'm wild about cartoons, because my favorite program is the Flintstones. (And I must admit Top Cat runs a close second.) However, it's a little embarrassing to have him shout the way he did last night, "Mama, come on! Bugs Bunny is on!"; while I was chatting over the phone with Megan's teacher.

But these Saturday night monstrostities are another story. They are neither good ghost stories nor good science fiction and the acting is consistently hammy. For instance, last Saturday night the epic was "The Crawling Eye."

"The what?!", I said, when Megan gleefully told me the title. Now, I could imagine crawling toes or crawling fingers, but a crawling eye!

As usual, when Bob and I made the mistake of staying home on a Saturday night, I was coerced into Coke, popcorn and the horror show. And, as usual, I fell asleep half way through the film. This annoys the girls every time I do it — and I do it every time. This time they thought they had me licked. The demons refused to let me sit with either one of them in their beds, propped up against the pillows the way they do. In fact, they made me sit in a straight chair, but what they forgot was to take away the lamp table.

Before the rescue party had even reached the snowbound party to find out why the man screamed for help over the telephone, my elbow found the lamp table and my head found the cupped hand attached to the straight up and down arm attached to the crooked elbow.

I never did see the "crawling eye" and the girls were so mad at me for going to sleep, they wouldn't tell me about it. You'd think they'd give up. But they won't—next Saturday night we'll all try it again and they'll probably take the lamp table away from me this time!

My love,
Patty

Heights Women Take Lead in AAUW Meet

Three Arlington Heights women took prominent parts in the 17th biennial conference of the Northeast Central Region of AAUW. held in Detroit last Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

More than 1,000 delegates attended from the five-state region that includes Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin and is the largest among the AAUW's 10 regions.

MRS. GEORGE Bailey, 350 S. Belmont, national vice president for this region and past president of the Illinois division, opened the general session on Friday morning and presided at the luncheon that day. She also presided at the Friday evening banquet where Miss Eva B. Adams, director of the U. S. Bureau of the Mint, spoke.

Other Heights women serving at the conference were Mrs. John Gessert, 929 S. Chestnut, and Mrs. John R. Wallschlaeger, 707 S. Ridge Ave.

MRS. GESSERT, past president of the Arlington Heights branch, participated as a Friday morning panel speaker on "An Analysis of Proposed Changes in Structure."

Mrs. Wallschlaeger was in charge of the Thursday evening dinner for members of the five state boards. (S

Homemakers Take Tour

Twenty-seven members of Arlington Heights Homemakers Extension Unit, formerly Wheeling Home Bureau, visited the Vignola Furniture Co. in River Forest April 26. Upon arrival they were shown a film and given a short lecture on furnishing various types of rooms and the use of color in the home.

Refreshments were served to the group after which a tour was made through the plant. The group lunched at Nielsens.

The group's third sewing lesson, given by Mrs. Frank Henry, will be held May 8 in the home of Mrs. Gus Anderson at 10:30 a.m. (S

Country Club Is Meeting Spot For TOPS Club

Members of M. T. TOPS are now meeting in Mount Prospect Country Club instead of St. Paul Church, Mount Prospect. The group, which reports a weight loss of 284 pounds, was formed in January when the original TOPS group in the area divided into three groups, one each in Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights and Palatine.

M.T. TOPS has now reached its membership quota of 30, but guests are welcome at all meetings which are held at 1 p.m. each Monday. Mrs. Robert Haugh, CL 3-3996, is leader of the Mount Prospect group. (S

Schaumburg Juniors Set Cancer Film

"Time and Two Women," a film from the American Cancer Society, will be shown at the May 7 meeting of the Schaumburg Junior Woman's Club. The meeting, at the Campanelli School in the Weathersfield subdivision, will begin at 8 p.m. and the film showing will begin at 8:15.

Members are invited to bring guests as the evening's program is not only interesting, but may be lifesaving as well, commented a spokesman.

Slogan Inspires DAR; Plan Potluck Lunch

"For Evil to Triumph, Good Men Need Only Do Nothing." This slogan, carried out by National Society DAR and all chapters throughout the organization inspires the program of Eli Skinner Chapter in Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Douglas F. Gutzman, 344 S. Windsor Drive, Arlington Heights, will entertain the chapter at a potluck luncheon, today, May 3, at 12:30 p.m.

Mrs. Arch G. Shaver, Jr., Joliet, Mrs. Ivar Stockel, Mount Prospect, and Mrs. John Gustitus, Arlington Heights, will assist Mrs. Gutzman in serving the luncheon.

ELECTION OF chapter officers for 1962-63 will be held and plans for the Annual Flag Day luncheon will be announced.

Reports of the DAR State Conference, March 20-22, at the Pick Congress Hotel will be given.

Mrs. Gustitus, regent of Eli Skinner Chapter, will give her report of the 71st Continental Congress in Washington D. C. This meeting is scheduled each year to coincide with the anniversary of Paul Reveres' famous ride, on April 18.

MRS. GUTZMAN, state DAR Good Citizenship Committee, reminds readers of two other important April anniversaries in our country's history: April 17, "the shot heard 'round the world" in the Battle of Lexington and April 19, which marks the firing of the First shot by the United States in World War I.

Mrs. Gutzman quotes objectives of the National Society DAR which are: "To perpetuate the memory and the spirit of the men and women who achieved American Independence; to promote the development of an enlightened public opinion; and to foster patriotic citizenship." (S

Our Redeemer Women Plan Film, Style Show-Dinner

Our Redeemer Women's Guild invites the public to enjoy with them the film, "Operation Abolition," at 8 p.m., May 3 in the social hall of Our Redeemer Lutheran Church, Prospect Heights. Following the movie, a business meeting will be conducted at which time election of officers will take place.

To complete the evening of fellowship, the hostesses Elsie Kusch, Jo Liesik, Pauline Meyer, will serve refreshments. Helen Thiele, publicity chairman states, "it will be an evening well worth attending for both the young and old."

MRS. THIELE announces the second mother and daughter banquet and fashion show to be held Wednesday, May 9, in the social hall of the church.

Fashions will be by McMahons of Mount Prospect, songs will be by Mrs. Gertrude Lemme, Miss Sharon Collett accompanied by pianist Mrs. Elsie Kusch along with selections by Prospect High School "Mellotones." Toastmistress will be Mrs. Morelle Staufenbiel. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. by men of the church according to the dinner co-chairmen, Mrs. Elsie Kusch and Mrs.Charlotte Thorsen.

Models for the fashion show will be Mrs. Shirley Bacon, Miss Gail Bresina, Miss Ginger Dietz, Miss Diane Geffe, Mrs. Emma Grimm, Miss Gail Herrmann, Miss Jennifer Meyer, Miss Denise Modrow, Miss Tammy Modrow, Mrs. Barbara Newkuekatz, Miss Barbara Noll, Mrs. Louis Streccious, Mrs. Marion Sternberg and Miss Margie Wargin.

Mrs. Ida Brezina is in charge of the fashion show which will be narrated by Mrs. Mayme Andrew. Decorations will be made by Mrs. Caryl Pflughaupt and the program and music will be handled by Mrs. Josephine Liesik and Mrs. Gertrude Lemme.

Mrs. Lorraine Herrmann, CL 3-8207 is ticket chairman. (S

Salvage Has Added Value

by BETTY ANSLIE

Have you noticed the king-sized rummage sale that has been going on around town the last few weeks? No money changed hands but a good deal of basement salvage did.

Lawns were piled high with the things that we as housewives decided to thankfully donate to the rubbish collection semi-annual pick up . . . and what a wonderland of junk to delight even the most choosey of trash connoisseurs.

Several lawns were so completely covered it must have been an accumulation of years and careful hoarding to make such an impressive display for the rubbish collection.

ONE LAWN was filled to the sidewalk with wheel goods, a wash machine, old water softeners, odd springs, mattresses, barrels and boxes enough to fill a good sized truck at one stop.

Small boys and girls have a wonderful time sifting through the contents of all the debris and seizing upon one-blade-missing fans, old Venetian blinds, and bundles of hangers. Several youngsters together I found could even push a badly beat up washing machine down the street for future dismantling.

Strangers entering the tree shaded streets from the downtown area are confronted with what resembles a mighty fire sale, a curb to car street vending service or another Maxwell Street.

I WAS amazed to see a taxi leisurely wending its' way down a main street of town and slithering from the curb on one side to the curb on the other. It was very early morning and I figured the driver must have imbibed too freely, until I noticed a little old lady in the back seat would stick her head out of the back window as the cab drove slowly from junk heap to junk heap. She would carefully survey the assembled piles of goods, and every now and again something would strike her fancy and she would alight quickly, grab some treasure, shove it into the car and they'd be on their way. It looked like a really interesting hobby and I was almost tempted to follow suit. However I figured I should rush home for dark glasses and a face shading felt hat first before I took out on my personal scavenger hunt.

There was a well dressed woman in a Cadillac who also found a barrel of colored bottles irresistible, she selected one of a dirty odd shape, beat a hasty retreat to her car and drove away.

A FRIEND of mine called to tell me about her experience with a stove. A very old stove. Seems this stove had been second hand in the first place and sorta handed down from family to family until it took refuge in her basement. Her husband hauled it out to the curb, but first took the drawers and burners out to make his load lighter. The burners and drawers he left in the basement.

After a struggle and help from a neighbor he got the almost dismantled stove to the curb and went back for the burners. Imagine his surprise to find on his return with the innards that the stove was gone. that someone in a red station wagon had taken it so he added the burners and drawers to the pile of other junk and shaking his head over the oddities of his townspeople he went back into the house.

About half an hour later a red station wagon stopped, picked up the drawers and burners and drove away. They now had the stove, ancient as it was, complete.

There were several large salvage trucks noisely going from one pile of debris to the next, and I really wondered come the actual day for the pick up would there be anything left?

There is always something fascinating about someone else's junk, that's what makes the white elephant table so popular at a bazaar. Your dislike or monstrosity might be a treasure to another. The old barter system lives on and nothing is more irrestible than attic and basement discards to a passing stranger.

SAY, DO you remember the old junk man with his horse and wagon? (or am I much older than you?) He had a rusty scale from which he suspended the string tied newspapers and bags of rags, and a very dirty, strong thumb which always kept the scale pointer from slipping too far as you were paid by the pound for salvage. Our rag man sent three children to college on our neighborhood rubbish and his horse and wagon and familiar voice crying "rags, papers" were a part of our street.

Son number two and his crowd spent a vacation morning trundling a wagon from one group of rubble to the next. They arrived home delighted with some rusty files, a couple of bedraggled lamp shades, some straw baskets delivered by a long forgotton Easter bunny and assorted nails and bolts. How could I scold him when he declared seriously? "Gosh everybody has such interesting junk, so much better than ours." Anyway comes the trash pick up in the Fall I can add the lamp shades, files, baskets, nails and bolts to liven up our uninviting junk.

The 6:30 show will feature Kim Hunter and the original New York cast in "Write Me a Murder." Mrs. R. J. Hlavac, 1513 N. Ridge, Arlington Heights, social chairman, would like as many reservations as possible made and paid for before the meeting. She may be reached by phone for further information at 255-3064.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

During the past few weeks, members of Kappa Alpha Theta Northwest Suburban Alumnae Club have been busy addressing approximately 2500 May Basket Brochures to be sent May 1 to all Illinois Theta Alumnae. This is an annual appeal for funds to help further the purpose of the Kappa Alpha Theta Illinois State Project for Handicapped Children.

Since the organization of the Theta Project in 1942, hundreds of handicapped children in the state of Illinois have received financial aid that would not have been available from other sources. For 20 years such cases have been presented to the Project's Central Council at their monthly meetings by a representative from the Illinois Commission for Handicapped Children.

THE THETA PROJECT has parties for patients in the Orthopedic Department at the Illinois Research and Educational Hospital since 1942. Volunteers from the 11 alumnae groups in the area help serve the cake and ice cream. The Thetas see that each birthday child has a gift and each winner receives a prize.

Since the Illinois Children's Hospital-School opened in 1946 the Thetas have had a close working association with the staff. They have supplied much needed clothing, specially built wheelchairs, and gifts for each graduate.

A LUNCHEON was held recently at the Union League Club celebrating the 20th anniversary of the Kappa Alpha Theta Illinois State Project for Handicapped Children. The two guest speakers were the founder of the Theta Project, Mrs. Frank C. Allen of Oak Park and Portland, Me.; and the former Chairman of the Illinois Commission for Handicapped Children, Mrs. Henry C. Dormitzer of Chicago.

Thetas who attended from the Northwest Suburban Alumnae Club were Mrs. Wilbur Daeschner, chairman of the project; Mrs. George Sexton, former publicity chairman of the Northwest Suburban Club; and Mrs. Norval Stephens, recently-elected president of the Northwest Suburban Alumna Club.

Sorority Activities

PANHELLENIC

Northwest Suburban Panhellenic Association held its annual Sorority Information Party for Maine West senior girls planning to attend college in the fall on Sunday, April 29, at 3 p.m. in West Park fieldhouse, Des Plaines.

This party for senior girls and their mothers acquainted them with the 29 N.P.C. sororities, rushing rules and college life in general. Guest speaker was Mrs. Burton S. Pearsall of Dundee.

A SIMILAR party for Prospect and Arlington High School senior girls is being given by the Wheeling Township Panhellenic group Sunday, May 6 at 3 p.m. in Pioneer Park, at which Mrs. Pearsall will also appear.

Next regular meeting of the Northwest Suburban Panhellenic Association will be a 1 o'clock dessert Thursday, May 10, in the Des Plaines home of Mrs. John Leer, to which N.P.C. sorority alumnae in the Paddock area are invited.

This is the final meeting of the season, and will feature slides of a recent trip to Russia presented by Mrs. Ione Moran, investment officer at Talman Federal Savings and Loan.

Mrs. Richard C. Cooper, CL 5-1465, will take reservations.

All alumnae and friends are urged to bring the clothing, toys, housewares, they have saved for the sale to the field house Friday between 9:30 and 1:30. Those unable to deliver the rummage may call Mrs. Donald Underwood, CL 5-7008, for pickup.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

A floral arrangement demonstration by Mrs. E. Saunders Rtinhard will be the program for the May 7 meeting of Northwest Suburban Alumnae Club of Alpha Chi Omega. Mrs. Reinhard is making a return appearance to the group, which will meet at 8:30 p.m. in the Arlington Heights home of Mrs. Ralph Ruthenberg with Mrs. William Grashorn as co-hostess.

Presiding at the meeting will be the group's newly-elected officers, Mrs. George Lebsock, president; Mrs. William Schumaker, vice president; Mrs. Paul Chaffee, secretary; and Mrs. Grashorn, treasurer. Newly-appointed chairmen include Mrs. Paul M. Black, Lyre editor; Mrs. Glenn Ofsthun, Altruistic chairman; Mrs. William Truax and Mrs. Frank Callahan, rushing chairmen, and Mrs. Roger Girard, calling committee.

During the evening, final arrangements will be completed for a May 17 book review to be held in Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association. Book to be reviewed is "Little Me," by Patrick Dennis with Mrs. Glenn D. Thrasher of Deerfield as reviewer. Proceeds of the review will go to the Clearbrook School.

PI BETA PHI

Flower arranging has been selected as the final program to be presented to the members of the Arlington Heights Alumnae Club of Pi Beta Phi at the regular meeting next Wednesday evening.

The program will be under the direction of Mrs. John Miller and Mrs. E. Saunders Reinhard.

Business of the evening will include the installation of officers and a report from the recommendations committee.

New officers are: president, Mrs. John M. Otzen; vice presi-

Psychiatrist Says:

Should Encourage Mourning In Interrupted Pregnancies

A noted psychiatrist told 125 of her colleagues Wednesday, April 25, at Forest Hospital in Des Plaines, that "inner mourning following interrupted pregnancy" should be encouraged by therapists treating such patients.

Eleanor A. Steele, M.D., associate professor of psychiatry, University of Colorado School of Medicine, told Chicago-area psychiatrists and others professionally involved in the treatment of mental illness, that the need for such mourning is nearly always present but that "rigid defenses against it may prevent its display or expression."

This defense, she said, often can be traced to the patient's repression of loss and longing for a mother or father who rejected her as a child.

In wide-ranging discussion of the entire problem of interrupted pregnancy, Dr. Steele noted that "in medical circles the problem has never been solved." According to some statistics, over 300,000 operations to prevent birth are performed annually, she said. "We must admit to insufficient knowledge of the psychological consequences because of the vast numbers involved."

SHE ADDED that women who report no outward effects following the interruption of pregnancy "may not be aware of the unconscious results which, in time, may hamper physical and emotional adjustment in silent and subtle ways."

She noted also that an interrupted pregnancy may result in revulsion against the husband who, in some cases, instigates the wife's illegal action in stopping her pregnancy.

"Involved here," the speaker added, "is the narcissistic wound and the loss of self esteem in the attack upon the body. The patient, in fact, may look upon the deed as a death dealing insult."

THE WORK of the therapist, in such cases, is to restore self regard and lessen destructive self-inflicted punishment, she continued.

"I am sure there would be some agreement among us that a therapist may find himself in a difficult position when a patient announces her intention to have an illegal interruption of her condition." A refusal to offer aid or agreement represents rejection of the patient who then may "repeat deep feelings of bitterness and guilt hidden among her childhood memories.

"The therapists lot is not a happy one in this whole matter," Dr. Steele added.

The wide divergence of individual patient reaction, she said, adds to the therapist's problem. Guilt feelings are aroused in some patients because they feel that interrupted pregnancy is a form of murder.

The same intensity of guilt, however, may be felt by another woman who, unready for motherhood, suffers deeply because she is bringing an unwanted child into the world.

THE REACTION to interrupted pregnancy obviously is affected to a marked degree by the maturity and stability of both married and unmarried women, as well as by "the unconscious and conscious motives which determine the decision," Dr. Steele said.

"There may be some degree of unfortunate scarring in all cases, but this varies with individuals," the speaker concluded.

Dr. Steele, who also is the training analyst in Denver for the Institute for Psychoanalysis, presented the seventh lecture in the current series on "Special Treatment Situations" conducted monthly at the psychiatric treatment center. (S

Eastern to Relax 'Air-Bus' Rules

An easing of the "no-show" regulations on its domestic "Air-Bus" flights to match the new procedures now in effect on its similar reduced-cost services to and from Puerto Rico is announced by Eastern Air Lines.

The new rule, to become effective on May 15, if the Civil Aeronautics Board approves, will provide that if a passenger reports at an Eastern Air Lines office at the airport of departure within two hours after the scheduled departure of the "Air-Bus" flight on which he held a confirmed reservation, the ticket will be honored on the next "Air-Bus" flight to the same destination on which space is available.

UNDER EASTERN's present domestic "Air-Bus" tariff, no refunds are paid unless tickets are turned in not later than 24 hours before scheduled departure time of a flight. On Eastern's overseas flights to San Juan, Puerto Rico, the two-hour grace period went into effect on April 15, to take care of "hardship" situations such as when a passenger experiences some unexpected traffic delay en route to the airport, causing him to miss the flight.

Eastern now operates its low-cost, simplified domestic "Air-Bus" services over routes between Pittsburg - St. Petersburg-Miami, St. Louis-Tampa-Miami, Detroit - Cleveland-St. Petersburg-Miami, and Boston-Philadelphia-Miami. "Air-Bus" flights to and from San Juan are operated from New York (Idlewild), Newark, Philadelphia, and Miami.

Schedules, subject to CAB approval, have been announced for additional "Air-Bus" services starting April 29 between Minneapolis - St. Paul-Chicago-Cincinnati-Fort Lauderdale- Miami; Detroit-Toledo-Columbus-Miami; Newark - Washington-San Juan; Boston-Philadelphia-San Juan; and New York (Idlewild)-Washington-St. Louis, and starting May 11, between Boston-Newark-St. Louis. Arlington Juniors Set Final Meet

Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club will hold its final club meeting of the year Tuesday, May 8, in Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan at 8 p.m. To culminate their active club year, various committees will give annual reports, and also present humorous skits as part of the evening's program.

After the meeting a group of the members will check into a suite at the Sherman Hotel in Chicago to attend the annual convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Arlington Junior's president, Mrs. Henry Wieditz, invites anyone interested to join the club when it resumes in September. Those interested may call Mrs. James Davis, membership chairman, at CL 5-8729.

ELEVEN-DAY CRUISE to Puerto Rico was recently enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Slaight, 314 Bode Road, Hoffman Estates, who sailed April 9 aboard the SS Alcoa Ranger. The couple spent three days in San Juan during which they made a flight to St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands. Mr. Slaight is export supervisor for the Beckley-Cardy Company and Mrs. Slaight is production clerk for Bastian Blessing, both in Roselle. (T

Secretaries Hold 3rd Ann'l Executive Nite

The evening of April 25, 59 executives and their wives were feted at a "Night of Knights" by the secretaries of Park-Plaines Chapter of National Secretaries Association, International at the Dolphin Restaurant in Niles.

The Third Annual Executive Night, with a medieval theme, began at 6:15 when the "knights and their ladies" were serenaded by Steve VonTill, a strolling troubadour, who sang old English folk tunes during the cocktail hour.

DINNER followed a welcomin gaddress by President Joyce Exner, and introduction of guests by Leona Weight, chairman of the event.

Marjorie S. Sayers was named "Secretary of the Year" of the Park-Plaines Chapter, and received a bouquet of red roses, the official flower of NSA and her award. It was announced that Miss Sayers of General Finance Corporation of Evanston would be among the five secretaries from Illinois competing in the Illinois Division Contest in Aurora the following weekend.

A CONTEST to select a "Boss of the Year" was conducted, with a panel of executives' wives as judges. Kenneth C. Cunningham, Director of Public Works for the City of Park Ridge, and the 1961 "Boss of the Year" was present to pass along the trophy to the new winner, J. William Didriksen, President of Ekco-Alcoa of Wheeling. The award was made after a question and answer competition on various office problems.

Roger Franz, a memory expert, was speaker of the evening and entertained the guests with "Three Steps to a Better Memory." (S

Former Restaurateur Shares' Sweet Recipes

Fruit Bread Wins Diners' Plaudits

by LOIS SEILER

Originality is the keynote to Mrs. Kenneth D. Hartman's success, both in business ventures and culinary endeavors.

This talented woman is well-known in Arlington Heights, having at one time owned the Lantern Grill and Hartman's Restaurant where her home-baked delicacies were featured. She is now offering her services as a bridal consultant in a new enterprise, the Gigi Marie Bridal Shop.

In all of these undertakings this outgoing and energetic woman has exercised creative ability and offered her customers something new and different.

One of the specialties of her restaurant was a homemade fruit bread that brought plaudits from her patrons. When queried about this recipe, Mrs. Hartman modestly replied, "I just took a good basic recipe and played around with it."

This basic recipe is Betty Crocker's Sweet Dough for Yeast Breads, which Mrs. Hartman simplified to suit her needs, and omitted one of the risings to save time.

BUT HER OWN ingenuity is responsible for concocting fruit bread, banana bread, nut bread, pineapple bread, cherry bread and chocolate chip bread all from this one recipe.

Chocolate chip bread is something really new and unusual in a dinner bread and is a delightful taste treat. Glazed mixed fruits are used in Mrs. Hartman's fruit bread, which is similar to a stollen in flavor.

Crushed pineapple, as well as mashed bananas, are other unique additions to a yeast bread recipe.

If all the loaves are to be the same, the fruit can be added to the liquid ingredients in the first stages of preparing this bread, or if each loaf is to be different, the additions are worked into the dough when it is formed into loaves.

THE CHOCOLATE chips and nuts, however, are never added until after the first rising.

After baking, Mrs. Hartman drizzles an orange-flavored glaze over the fruit breads, while the nut and chocolate chip breads get a vanilla-flavored confectioners sugar glaze.

"This is such a good substantial recipe that any number of things, such as dinner rolls and coffee cakes, can be made from it as well as the bread," said this good cook. She often makes caraway and poppy seed rolls from this recipe, too.

EVEN THOUGH her career keeps her extremely busy, Mrs. Hartman's love of cooking persists and she continues to make practically all of her own bread and baked goods for her family. And with her expert technique, wonders can be accomplished in her kitchen in a very short time.

Surely a versatile recipe, such as the excellent one she is sharing with us today, can be adapted to any family's taste requirements. The possibilities for experimentation are unlimited, and the pleasure in eating a tempting loaf of homemade bread is immeasurable.

The Hartman family lives at 24 Seegers Road in Arlington Heights. They have one daughter, Patricia, who is a high school senior and a professional equestrian.

Mrs. Hartman is hospitality chairman for the Coterie Dance Club, a member of the VFW Women's Auxiliary Bowling League and a leader of a 4-H Equestrian Club. Both she and her husband are members of the Town and Country Equestrian Association.

BASIC SWEET DOUGH FOR YEAST BREADS

2 cups lukewarm milk
½ cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
2 cakes compressed yeast
2 eggs
½ cup soft shortening or Wesson or Mazola Oil
6½ cups unsifted flour
1 cup unsifted flour

Mix lukewarm milk, sugar and salt together. Crumble yeast into the mixture and stir until dissolved. Stir in eggs and shortening or oil.

Mix in, first with a spoon and then with your hands, 6½ cups flour. The remaining one cup flour is to be used when handling the dough while kneading.

Turn the dough out onto a floured board and with floured hands knead thoroughly until dough doesn't stick to the hands, about 4 to 5 minutes. Place dough into a greased bowl and cover with tea towel. Let rise until double in bulk, about one hour.

DIVIDE DOUGH in half, stretch it out, pound with fist and sprinkle with glazed citrus fruit, chocolate chips or chopped nuts and knead up. Place dough in two well-greased bread pans and let rise again until double in bulk.

Bake at 400 degrees for 20 to 30 minutes. (Three small loaves may be made instead of two regular-size.)

If all loaves are to be the same, the mashed bananas, crushed pineapple or mixed glazed citrus fruit may be added to the liquid ingredients when preparing this bread. Use one mashed banana per loaf, or one small can crushed pineapple, well-drained, per loaf, or ½ cup mixed fruit, chopped nuts or chocolate chips per loaf.

After baking, mix together confectioner's sugar and orange juice and drizzle over the fruit breads. For the chocolate chip and nut breads, use the following:

CONFECTIONER'S SUGAR GLAZE

1 cup sifted confectioner's sugar
1 to 2 tablespoons warm water, milk or cream
½ teaspoon vanilla extract

Mix ingredients together and drizzle over bread while slightly warm.

HIGH, LIGHT AND handsome are the tempting loaves of homemade bread being sliced by Mrs. Kenneth D. Hartman of Arlington Heights. Featured regularly at a restaurant once owned by Mrs. Hartman, this wonderful bread will be remembered by many of her former patrons, who will welcome the recipe being offered by this good cook today.

Ripe Bananas Add Appeal To Salad, Fowl, Desserts

NATURE'S OWN CONVENIENCE FOOD — Bananas provide the answer to the easiest way of preparing a delicious luncheon. Just a couple bananas, cut in chunks and mixed with minced ham of beef, make a marvelously nutritious meal for the whole family. (SH

A whole generation of Americans has grown up believing that it is a cruel and inhumane thing to put a banana in the refrigerator!

Now comes a qualifying statement from the big banana shippers: "When bananas have reached the stage of ripeness which you prefer, then it is quite permissible to place them in the refrigerator in order to keep them for 2 or 3 days. The skin will turn dark after such refrigeration."

That figures, for many fruits reach perfection while on the tree. A banana is one of the fruits which keeps better and tastes much better if it is picked mature-green, then ripened in the controlled atmosphere of specially constructed ripening rooms.

These rooms provide just the right warmth and moisture to develop the sweetness and smooth texture that puts bananas among the top three best selling fruits in the U.S.A.

Research findings show that bananas are a highly acceptable and favorable food for people of all ages from infants to the very old.

WHILE RIPE bananas with dark skins may not look as glamorous in the fruit bowl, they're perfect in all kinds of dishes such as the banana salads and desserts which follow.

A banana is nature's own convenience food. Just slip off the skin, slice or dice and mix with cooked ham or dried beef and you have an easy delicious luncheon salad.

Banana Applesauce Cake is a very good lazy-day dessert—fun to do, even more fun to eat.

ANOTHER banana convenience dessert is Banana Angel Cake. You whip this up with leftover or commercial angel food or sponge cake and it's good enough for your fussiest friends.

BANANA LUNCHEON SALAD

Head lettuce
1/3 cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon milk
4 medium bananas
1 cup minced dried beef or cooked ham
Fresh parsley

Arrange lettuce on salad plates. Mix mayonnaise with milk. Cut bananas into 1-inch chunks. Dip in mayonnaise and then roll in minced dried beef or cooked ham.

Arrange 5 pieces bananas on each serving. Garnish with fresh parsley. Yield: 4 servings.

CAKE

36 graham crackers
3 cups fresh applesauce
4 medium bananas
½ cup heavy cream
1 tablespoon sugar
¼ teaspoon pure vanilla extract
Sliced bananas for garnish
Ground nutmeg

Arrange 7 graham crackers in the bottom of a 10 x 6 x 2-inch baking dish. Cover with a ½-inch layer of applesauce. Top with a layer of bananas sliced ¼-inch thick.

Repeat until dish is filled having graham crackers as top layer. Refrigerate 1½ to 2 hours. Just before serving, combine cream, sugar and pure vanilla extract. Whip until cream stands in soft peaks.

Spread over top of pudding. Serve as dessert garnished with sliced bananas and a dash of ground nutmeg. Yield: 8 servings.

BANANA ANGEL CAKE

2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon pure vanilla extract
1 dup heavy cream
2 medium (1½ cups) bananas, sliced
Angel Food Cake or Sponge Cake

Combine sugar, pure vanilla extract and cream in a bowl. Beat with a rotary beater until it stands in soft peaks. Fold in sliced bananas. Serve over slices of angel cake or sponge cake. Yield: 6 servings.

BANANA STUFFING FOR DUCK

1½ cups diced bananas
1 teaspoon fresh lemon juice
2 cups package prepared stuffing mix
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
½ lb. sausage
1 egg beaten
4½ to 5 lb. ready-to-cook duck
Giblet gravy

Combine bananas, lemon juice, stuffing and butter or margarine. Brown sausage and discard fat. Add to stuffing along with beaten egg. Mix thoroughly but lightly.

Spoon into the crop and body cavity of a 4½ to 5 pound duck. Close opening with skewers and lace tightly with strings. Place on a rack in a shallow pan. Bake in a preheated slow oven (325 degrees) 2 hours. Serve with Giblet Gravy. Yield: 6 servings.

Giblet Gravy: Place gizzard, heart, duck neck, 1½ cups water and 1 teaspoon salt, one small sliced onion, a sprig of fresh parsley and the tops from 1 rib of celery in a saucepan.

Cover and cook one hour or until tender. Add duck liver and cook 15 minutes or until tender. Remove giblets from stock. Cut into small dice.

Remove parsley and celery from stock and discard. Mix 2 tablespoons flour with ½ cup milk until smooth. Add to the stock along with diced giblets. Season to taste with salt and ground black pepper. Yield: 2 cups.

COCONUT BANANA SCALLOPS (meat Accompaniment)

3 medium bananas
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
½ cup shredded fresh coconut

Cut bananas into chunks 1-inch long. Roll in lemon juice and then in shredded coconut. Serve as an accompaniment to ham, pork, veal or poultry. Yield: 6 to 8 servings. (SH

Zippy Zing Gravy Simple as A, B, C

If zip denotes speed and seasoning gives zing, this should be called Zippy Zing Gravy, for it takes no more time to fix than heating the meat.

The added seasoning comes in a can. This is just one of the flavor tricks that give variety to left-over meats.

ZIPPY ZING GRAVY

Cooked roast slices
½ to 1 cup roast gravy
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed onion soup

Mix left-over roast gravy with condensed onion soup. Heat slices of roast in gravy mixture until just heated through. Serve over cooked noodles.

That's simple as A, B. C! Now try a few variations on your own. Diced green pepper and grated cheese are tasty additions to yesterday's gravy.

CUCUMBER juice or chopped pickle are wonderful pick-ups for creamy sauces; Roquefort or blue cheese topping for oven-warmed meat loaf will pique your imagination as well as your palate.

Your family's fondness for types of seasonings should be your guide. (SH

A RECTPTION HONORING new officers of the Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs was held Saturday night during the state BPW convention in Peoria. Admiring the reception table decorations are Mrs. John L. Henry, legislative chairman for the Mount Prospect BPW and Mrs. Robert Robertshaw, publicity chairman.

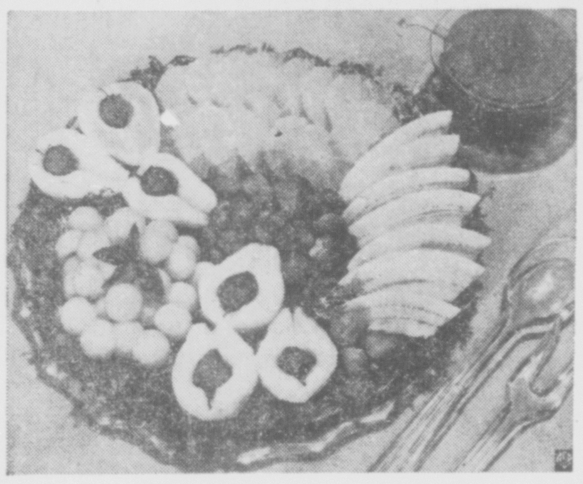
Fruit Salad Plate



Spring is here and Summer almost—in the air and on our tables. All at once we find several delicious juicy fruits and vegetables in the market, with others soon to come.

Fresh fruit salads in particular are such a boon to winter-weary appetites. Even though the first shipment of some fruit may be expensive, use just a little of it to highlight your salad.

Next week this fruit will be less dear, as still another comes in to enlarge the freshfruit picture.

Dress your wonderful fruits with a light, fresh dressing. A good one is made with a real mayonnaise base thinned with honey and lemon juice and flavored with celery seed.

Here's a starter suggestion for a picture-pretty salad. Each day you can create your own pattern as new fresh fruits become available.

ALL-FRESH FRUIT SALAD

½ pint strawberries
3-4 oranges
½ cantaloup or honeydew melon
3 pears
2 bananas
Lemon juice
Salad greens
1 cup real mayonnaise
1/3 cup honey
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 teaspoons celery seed

Wash and hull strawberries. Peel and slice oranges. From half melon scoop out balls, with fruit ball cutter or a teaspoon. Peel pears and bananas. Cut pears in halves and scoop out center seedy portions.

Slice bananas lengthwise, into halves or quarters, then into half lengths. Squeeze juice from one large or two small lemons and reserve one tablespoon of juice for dressing.

Brush pears and bananas with rest of lemon juice to prevent darkening. Place a bed of washed, drained and chilled chicory or other salad greens on large salad platter.

Arrange fresh fruit on greens in an attractive pattern. Make honey mayonnaise dressing by adding honey gradually to real mayonnaise, then adding lemon juice and, lastly, the celery seed. Blend thoroughly.

Yield: 6 servings each of salad and dressing. (SH

Fresh Corn, Recipes Arrive From Florida

It was peppery 18th Century Jonathan Swift who said "Whoever could make two ears of corn grow upon a spot of ground where only one grew before, would deserve better of mankind, and do more essential service to his country, than the whole race of politicians put together."

He might have been talking about present-day Florida, where some 300 million ears of sweet corn now grow, where one-fifth that number grew 15 years ago.

TENDER SWEET CORN, fresh from Florida fields, is made much of by corn-hungry Americans. It's delicious with plain butter, even more intriguing with spiced butters. (SH

From the rich black soil of the Sunshine State comes corn-on-the-cob during late autumn, winter and spring, before and after northern cornfields are in production.

ACTUALLY, IT has taken many men to double and redouble this supply of winter sweet corn. First, plant-breeders who succeeded in developing strains of corn which would thrive in southern fields, getting along in spite of the shorter days which come to even sub-tropical areas.

It takes all the resources of big business, too, to rush sweet corn to market in best condition.

Huge motorized packing sheds creep down the long fields with crews of 50 to 100 workers picking the tender corn, crating it then and there and speeding it to hydro-coolers where the temperature is immediately dropped from field heat to 40 F. (This prompt cooling slows down enzyme action which would otherwise change sugar to starch.)

TIME IS OF the essence, too, on road and rail. The crates of corn, showered with snow ice, can be sped from a Florida field to a table full of hungry corn-eaters a thousand miles away in 48 hours.

Florida sells its corn mostly to the area east of the Mississippi, while Texas and California corn is enjoyed in the western half of the country. Most Florida corn is yellow, which means that it provides an abundance of vitamin A.

HOW TO COOK FRESH CORN

Remove husks from ears of fresh corn and brush off silks. Drop ears in boiling water to cover. Add one teaspoon fresh lemon juice to each quart of water.

Cover, bring to boiling point and cook 5 to 7 minutes or only until milk is set. (Cooking time depends upon maturity of corn.)

Remove from water and serve with butter or margarine, salt and ground black pepper or with one of the following butters:

Corn Butters: Soften ½ stick (¼ cup) butter or margarine and blend with one of the following spices:

½ teaspoon curry powder
½ teaspoon chili powder
¼ teaspoon onion powder
¼ teaspoon ground dill seed

FRESH CORN ON TOAST

6 strips of bacon
1 cup fresh corn, cut off-the-cob
¼ cup milk
6 eggs, beaten
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper
6 slices buttered toast
6 tablespoons shredded cheddar cheese

Fry bacon until crisp. Remove cooked bacon and all but 2 tablespoons of fat from the pan. Add corn and cook 8 to 10 minutes. Stir in milk and simmer 2 to 3 minutes.

Combine eggs, salt and ground black pepper. Stir into corn. Cook stirring until eggs are cooked. Serve on 6 slices of buttered toast.

Top each with one tablespoon shredded cheese. Place under broiler until cheese is melted, 2 to 3 minutes. Garnish each with a strip of bacon.

Serve as a main dish for lunch or supper. Yield: 6 servings.

CHICKEN MOCQUE CHOW

3 lb. ready-to-cook chicken
¼ cup shortening
1 cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
12 ears fresh corn (7½ cups)
5 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon ground black pepper
1 teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon ground cumin seed
2 cups milk

Wash chicken and cut into serving-size pieces. Melt 2 tablespoons of the shortening in a Dutch oven and add chicken. Brown on all sides, adding remaining shortening as needed.

Remove chicken from pan and add onions and green pepper to pan drippings and saute 2 minutes or until limp. Set aside to use later.

Remove husks from corn and cut it off the cob. slicing kernels twice and scraping cob with bowl of a tablespoon to extract all the milk.

Add to onion and green peppers. Stir in salt, black pepper, sugar and cumin. Add chicken and milk. Mix well. Cover. Cook over low heat 30 minutes, stirring frequently. Yield: 8 servings.

BACON FLAVORED CORN CASSEROLE

¼ cup chopped onion
1/3 cup diced green pepper
2 tablespoons bacon fat
2 cups fresh corn, cut-off-the cob (about 6 ears)
6 strips crisp bacon
½ cup soft bread crumbs
1 egg, beaten lightly
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper
½ cup soft bread crumbs
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Saute onions and green pepper in bacon fat. Add corn. Stir and cook 3 to 4 minutes. Break bacon into small pieces and add along with bread crumbs, beaten eggs, milk, salt and balck pepper. Mix well.

Turn into a buttered 1-quart casserole. Sprinkle with bread crumbs. Dot with butter or margarine. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) 20 minutes or until crumbs are deep brown. Yield: 6 servings.

Week's Best Food Buys

As the backyard barbecue ends its hibernation, meat preferences and some prices swing with seasonally changing consumer demand to the more popular steaks, chops, spareribs and fryer lines.

Punctuated here and there are some special bargains in sweetcorn to help brighten an otherwise dismal produce picture.

IN RED meat classifications, pork takes a commanding value lead on the basis of falling costs and some spectacular promotions in area stores, mostly for loin portion cuts of roasts and chops, and occasionally spareribs. Bacon is firmer.

Emphasis on beef falls with generally higher costs, although roasts show a declining cost trend in keeping with the usual seasonal price turn as pressure builds on more conveniently cooked steak lines.

Lamb is in a "do-nothing" demand all along the line. Fryers, lower again at wholesale, hold prevailing low-level retail promotion quotes.

EGGS, AS indicated last week, took the big wholesale plunge, dropping 3 cents to 4 cents in the face of limited demand and large supplies.

Fresh fruits and vegetables continue in short supply, well below year-ago volume levels, and at prevailing high prices.

The University of Illinois consumer service weekly survey, for the period ending May 5, does note, however, that asparagus, radishes, green onions, beets, spinach, oranges and strawberries rate as realatively better buys. Sweetcorn is a limited value opportunity.

PRODUCE lines hold some promise of relief on the May calendar of anticipated values, based on current survey reports, and historic data of Chicago produce receipts. The situation looks like this (* indicates peak supply month):

Vegetables — artichokes, asparagus*, beets, cabbage*, cucumbers, endive, leeks, lettuce, parsley*, radishes, spinach, squash, Swiss chard, watercress.

Fruits — bananas, cherries, mangos, papayas, pineapple, rhubarb, strawberries.

ON THE BASIS of livestock receipts it can be said that cattlemen are exercising their own variety of "supply management." Cattle receipts locally were 25 per cent below year-ago, but offerings improved on prime and choice kinds to narrow the cost spread with lower grades.

Top grades lost as much as ¾ cent while the more active lower quality grades held steady. Wholesale beef was moderately active at about normal supply levels and quoted steady to ½ cent higher except for chucks that fell one cent.

Retail beef lost its glow in these firmer trends, a possible exception being rib and chuck roasts.

HOG RECEIPTS were erratic but heavy enough to drop costs ¼ cent. Eastern shippers took 50 per cent of the Chicago supplies, particularly the leaner kinds. Wholesale pork trade was slow but building.

Demand for loins and ribs pushed quotes as much as ½ cent higher. The most competitive retail offerings include portion cut ribs 29-39 cents, loins 39-49 cents, center chops 69-89 cents, butt steaks 55-59 cents and spareribs a consensus 49 cents.

Bacon is firmer, first line brands quoting 69 cents and second lines 59 cents.

Lamb continues the pattern of smaller receipts, quoting ½ cent lower on slower seasonal demand at live markets, and off a full one cent at wholesale.

ABUNDANT fryers are lower again at shipping point and Chicago markets, off ½ cent or more in a consistent downtrend cost pattern. Retailers hold the prevailing low promotional levels of 27-35 cents

Stewing hens are weaker but for the moment show a continuing steady retail of 39 cents for heavier birds. Eggs created the price news in this division as storage stocks soared to exceed year-ago levels, contributing to a cost drop of as much as 4 cents a dozen.

Retailers hung out new tags of 45-49 cents for large size grade A. (SH

Deviled Tuna Casserole

Convenience foods are the keynote to this quick and easy fish casserole. Ready-to-use crisp corn flakes, canned cream of mushroom soup, shredded Cheddar cheese, and canned tuna are combined with seasoning into a delicious easy-to-make casserole.

Breakfast cereals improve the nutritive value of recipes when they are used as an ingredient because they make additions of protein, B vitamins, and minerals. Use them frequently to improve the nutritive value of your cooking.

DEVILED TUNA, CORN FLAKE CRUNCH

¼ cup butter or margarine
3 cups corn flakes crushed to make 2 cups
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped onion
1 can (10½ ounce) cream of mushroom soup
¼ cup milk
½ cup shredded Cheddar cheese
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 teaspoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon dry mustard
1 can (7 ounce) tuna, drained and flaked

Melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Add corn flakes and salt; toss to coat cereal flakes. Spread ½ of cereal mixture evenly over bottom of shallow 1½ quart casserole (10 x 6 x 1½ inches).

Saute' celery and onion in remaining 2 tablespoons butter or margarine until onion is soft but not brown. Add soup and milk; heat.

Add cheese, parsley, lemon juice, and mustard; mix well. Fold in tuna. Spoon over cereal flakes in casserole. Edge casserole with remaining cereal crumbs.

Place in moderate oven (375 degrees) to heat, about 15 minutes. Yield: 4 servings. (SH

Homelike Atmosphere
Our many women visitors often admire the homelike atmosphere of our funeral home. We are proud of their comment that we are good housekeepers, too. They tell us that they associate our cleanliness with a high respect for quality in all aspects of the funeral service.

About Prayer
"Our prayers are answered."—Mrs. John H. Glenn, Sr., mother of astronaut Lt. Col. John H. Glenn, Jr.

OF all the thousands of words written about Lt. Col. John H. Glenn's flight into space, the above are the most poignant to appear in print.
This simple statement, uttered with calm dignity, reveals this man's background and the rock upon which his family and he have built their personal lives and, as a result, from which has come a great contribution to mankind and our country.
A famous writer once wrote that after prayer he had a curious feeling of hope in his heart; not peace, but confident expectancy of peace.
Prayer remains today, as always, the greatest force for world good.

Q. How should the very large type of shrimp in a cocktail be eaten?

A. If you can manage it, cut it in half with your fork against the side of the glass—or else, you lift it out, put it on the plate under the glass, and cut it in half with the fork.

Q. Are the folded thank-you cards proper for acknowledging wedding gifts?

A. A folded card with "Thank you" imprinted on its face is all right—but a HANDRWITTEN personal message MUST be added.

Q. It is acceptable now to send a typewritten letter of condolence, signing it, of course, by hand?

A. While most social correspondence may now be typed, it still is considered more proper and more indicative of sincere sympathy to write letters of condolence by hand.

The Way We See It

Politics Complicate Public Aid Finances

The danger of calling a special session of the legislature to deal with a critical public aid deficit is obvious to all Illinois lawmakers. With the Nov. 6 election looming on the horizon, the special session could easily become a partisan political battlefield.

The whole question of public aid spending has become an emotionally charged issue which could prove too inviting a target for politicians to ignore.

It is the path of least resistance to portray all relief roll recipients as loafers, illiterates or immoral tarts. But this is hardly a reasoned or documented approach to an increasingly complex and expensive problem.

What might provoke a special session is a deficit estimated between $100 and $120 million in the public aid program. In addition, the Illinois Public Aid Commission estimates a deficit of $68 million more in federal funds administered for the program.

Some lawmakers are urging a special session to transfer funds from earmarked accounts to pay public aid bills as a "stop gap" measure to tide the state over. In this way, they argue, the program would survive into the regular assembly which convenes in January. Legislators could then assign the cash needed to put the program through the fiscal period ending June 30, 1963.

Gov. Kerner, while saying that he might be amenable to such a course of action, adds flatly that the only answer is new revenue; this means more taxes, although we're not sure just who the governor is referring to when he declares, "The people of this state have been enjoying champagne while paying for beer."

Perhaps he was referring to the race track people and the tax concessions the legislators are always so anxious to confer on them.

Possibly the governor had in mind House Speaker Paul Powell, D-Vienna, whose interest in harness racing has affected his judgment on tax equity matters.

Maybe Mr. Kerner is thinking of Illinois corporations. Corporation taxes in Illinois in 1960 amounted to $5.5 million annually as opposed to $55 million in neighboring Wisconsin, $125 million in New Jersey, and $225 million in New York.

The argument against raising corporate taxes was that it would drive industries considering locating here into the embrace of other states. A question to this concern might be, "To where?" Availability of transportation and resources surely influence industrial decisions on finding a suitable location as much as the corporate tax picture. Furthermore, industrial executives should be able to distinguish between paying a "fair" and an "unjust" share of taxes. In comparison to other states, Illinois industries enjoy a "favored" position.

Yet the legislature, in its search for new revenue, passed another sales tax increase which is felt most strongly where it can be least afforded: in the lower income pocketbook. By taxing groceries instead of horses and machinery, the lawmakers imposed the most substantial burdens upon the lowest income groups.

One wonders if we might see a repetition of this sort. It is time the legislature stopped rolling over every time a special interest lobby snapped its fingers. It is time Illinois lawmakers began behaving in the manner their titles "Representative" suggest, and "represent" the peoples' interests.

Such a course would include ceasing to utilize the public aid problem as a political whipping post. Two Democratic members of the Public Aid Commission recently came forward with the absurd solution of putting mothers who had additional illegitimate children into jail.

These are persons who have lost hope, and in whom must be instilled a sense of personal worth before they can be helped. This is a job for the social worker, not the warden.

There are undoubtedly more cases of fraud being perpetrated in the public aid program than is now known. It might be wise to spend a little more money to increase an investigative staff to uncover such cases in order to save much more.

But the whole problem is much more complex than the desire of idlers to practice deception. The situation can be traced to moral origins. Segregation in the South is driving refugees from the "Cotton Curtain" into Chicago in droves, and they arrive expecting to find the streets paved with golden opportunities.

Add them to the stagnant pools of second and third generation reliefers and the increasing numbers of unemployed being replaced by automation, and the enormity of the problem starts to emerge. What it demands is retraining, education, new job opportunities, and a tearing down of slums where landlords prosper and misery abounds.

We must do more than accuse; we must seek new avenues to channel energies and work resources. And it may help to keep in mind a comment of William Faulkner's. The Nobel Prize-winning author observed that the only thing a man can stand to do for eight hours a day is work. We believe men not only demonstrate their endurance and creativity best in this area, but that this is what they wish to do to defeat the lingering boredom, sense of uselessness and despair which is the relief roll victim's lot.

'Barking Idiotically'

Time was when all politicians were considered fair game. Satirists of every disposition delighted in deflating them.

But such an occupation has become "a suspended if not a vanished art," a Bryn Mawr College history professor, Arthur P. Dudden, has concluded.

We are inclined to agree with this assessment. The U.S. President's office, for example, has become a sacrosanct institution, and to challenge his judgments is becoming something akin to profaning the flag.

When President Kennedy, for instance, suggested that the press "discipline" itself following the abortive Cuban invasion, the profession, instead of questioning whether this might not be an abridgement of the First Amendment, later bragged about not mentioning certain facts that came to its attention concerning national policy.

President Eisenhower, whose bungling of the U-2 spy plane incident was a somewhat classic case of "foot-in-mouth" infirmity, was also treated with kind and apologetic prose.

Compare this to H. L. Mencken's dissection of Warren G. Harding's inaugural address. Mencken likened it to "a string of wet sponges" and "dogs barking idiotically through endless nights. It is so bad that a sort of grandeur creeps into it."

Professor Dudden named a number of causes as contributing to the demise of the art of "native political humor — swallowing politicians alive." Among them are the tension of the time, high costs in the book industry, and the decline of individuality in newspapers.

But is this enough justification to blunt our senses to some of these "dogs barking idiotically through endless nights."

Critic's Corner

Some Changes Are Needed

by DAN PRIBILSKI

News Editor, Hoffman Herald

Looking at the United States, I see literally thousands of things that exist which need correction.

I've come up with a short list of things that need attention immediately — next week or within a couple years. It's a list any sound and moral American can subscribe to.

First, let's hurry up and get medical aid for the aged programs started via the federal, state, and local governments. And as soon as that is accomplished, let's see that medical care and drugs are available for everybody without having to mortgage their lives for the next 50 years. Yes, this will probably entail further government programs.

NEXT, IN ILLINOIS, it's time we raised the corporation franchise tax. Too many politicians, many representing this area, obviously believe it is better to tax bread and milk than up a corporation's tax from $10 a year to an outrageous $50 or $100 or even a couple thousand dollars.

And how about instituting a minimum wage law in Illinois of at least $1.15 or $1.25 an hour?

Businessmen will kick since they will have to limit themselves to just one or two Cadillacs every two years instead of every year. The businessmen I especially mean are the many who run sweatshops in Chicago and pay the barest of living wages only because of the federal minimum wage law or threat of unionization.

PRIBILSKI

Next, let's stop all this talk about unions getting too powerful. Who can really believe the pendulum of power has swung from labor to business?

MOST INDUSTRY, with the National Assn. of Manufacturers as the national business union, can still buy and sell the labor unions. Rather, to balance the federal budget, let's get stiffer laws which will stop many of the nation's industries from defrauding the government every year of millions and billions of dollars.

The American Legion as a lobbyist on government for handouts should make Americans sick. Let's see that handouts to the so-called war heroes are stopped. Most G. I.'s did their job in the wars, came home, and contented themselves that they did their duty. They want no part of a group that has as one of its main functions the pressuring of legislatures.

AFTER 100 YEARS of conniving, it's time some politicians moved to clean up the U. S. State Dept.

Let's get rid of those Empire-minded characters in the State Dept. who aren't happy unless they're making deals with reactionary governments to pull coups on governments the people of foreign lands want and have elected.

Also, we ought to move the U. S. off of its false moral position that Red China should not be recognized. It should. If we continue not to recognize umpteem billion people because we don't like their government, then we should be morally consistent and withdraw recognition from Iran, a corrupt dictatorship by feudal lords, and from Spain, a fascist hangout for murderers from Latin America and Germany.

WE OUGHT to consider getting out of Guantanamo in Cuba. In this atomic age, who can really believe it is necessary for defense of this country? We got the rights to Guantanamo by imperialistic maneuvers which were not very moral in themselves.

After Guantanamo, we should get out of Panama and see that the Panama Canal is internationalized and given either to the Organization of American States or the U. N. It is not our land; where the canal is we acquired "rights" to it by deceptive means under Teddy Roosevelt; and if we don't internationalize it, we'll lose it anyway ala Nasser's seizure of the Suez Canal.

ACTUALLY, to go on would be futile. Each and every item I've listed represents an attack on a powerful political or business bloc which can stay in perpetual power by winning friends and influencing enemies in our legislatures through lobbying with the Almighty Green Stuff.

And, so, the American people will continue to come out on the short end of things.

The Longer View of Life

Male Vs. Female

by DICK HOFFMANN

A recent television talkathon devoted a major portion of the program to a discussion of the differences and similarities between the sexes.

One of the participants, the male president of a woman's college, saw little difference between men and women in regard to intelligence, creativity and the reasoning processes. He dismissed as myth the thought that women rely more on intuition than logic in reaching judgments.

I for one, however, feel that male and female do operate on different mental wave lengths. Part of the dissimilarity, I believe, is instinctual. The female is so constituted as to be the perpetrator and custodian of the species, just as the male is physiologically and psychologically constructed to be the provider.

HOFFMANN

This accounts for different ways of viewing life. A woman, as the bearer of children, is more apt to place premium values on security. For this reason she may be more of a defender of the status quo — the established order.

THE MALE, though hunter and provider, is also something of a wanderer. For this reason, he is probably more adventuresome, brasher and bolder in examining new frontiers of thought.

The male is also more impressed with such value judgments as "integrity" and "honor," for the masculine ego requires certain face-saving justifications. For this reason, he may at times act more recklessly. The female, however, usually is more stoical about the fates, tending to take the longer view of life.

In schools, the girls seem to better measure up to the accepted standards of excellence, fulfilling classroom assignments as they are passed out, while boys are given to experiment. It would appear that girls place greater emphasis on performance of intelligence, thereby satisfying their need for security. Males seem to stress the creative to give wings to their spirit of exploration.

THE PRIMARY schools at least, it would appear, are more receptive to female inclinations, in which inquisitiveness and critical analysis are secondary to the requirements of order and authority.

These instinctual differences are harmonized in the family unit. Daniel Boone probably fared better in getting the table by heeding his mate's word of caution as he left the homestead for the hunt.

Anthropologist Margaret Mead recently was quoted as saying that primary education should be abandoned and mothers given the responsibility for teaching their young. I'm surprised she didn't say parents, for fathers fulfill an important instructive role. Youngsters need both male and female models to emulate.

ANOTHER CONCERN expressed by television discussants was that we are in danger of becoming an "asexual" society because the male and female roles are no longer clearly defined and the wrong type of competitiveness is further muddying distinctions.

Servicemen returning from Germany and Japan often remarked that they preferred these countries' women to American girls. Their explanation was a vague reference to their "knowing their place." What I think impressed them was not so much the subservience of frauleins and Geisha girls but their femininity. They were not trying to be anything they weren't; they knew how to exercise influence without being derisive, strident or demanding.

Some social critics seem to see this confusion over masculine and feminine roles as relating to a transition from a patriarchal society back to a matriarchal one again. Ever since the gods in Greek mythology ousted the goddesses from Mt. Olympus' rule, the male has nervously been waiting for the palace revolt.

IT IS possible that he's been outflanked. But there seems to be some specious reasoning as to what constituted the old matriarchal orders. Even in ancient societies in which the woman was worshipped, such reverence was reserved for her feminine functions. The carved idols of their deities were pregnant women in which the mystery of life was evolved into a theology. Yet the belief persists that a matriarchy automatically means the presence of Amazons who usurp manly duties and leave the men to tend the children and hoe the vegetable patch. (Such a state sounds uncomfortably like television's situation comedies.)

The economic realities of our time have wrought vast changes in the structure of our society. Conspicuous consumption and installment buying have mothers as well as fathers at work, sometimes at more than one job. The home, in some instances, has all the familiarity and warmth of a hotel lobby. The incidence of broken homes increases, so that only one parent's presence is felt, or worse, is the negative influence of indifferent parents, so that the child's frustrations mount as his perspective dims.

Part of the problem could probably be traced to the traditional battle of the sexes becoming more of a contest in areas outside the skirmishes of the home. I'm not against women competing with men in the business field or fixing car engines so long as it doesn't subordinate their primary functions: that of child bearing and rearing.

THE FEMALE'S fierce protectiveness for her offspring and her desire to provide them with security may, in fact, provide security for us all. Mothers have always thought men a bit balmy for waging wars. Now, in this age of instant incineration, their instinctual feeling for life is being expressed in revulsion at nuclear weapons competition and the poisoning of the atmosphere and the children.

I admire female persistence and tenacity. But I'm dubious about their being tougher and more durable than males, as some medical investigators suggest. It's just that we haven't absorbed the lessons of nature. Consider the lions. The king of the jungle has the ideal marital arrangement. The lioness not only cares for the young; she's also the huntress. About all Poppa Lion has to worry about is shaking flies off his mane and disciplining a quarrelsome cub with the cuff of his regal paw.

Sheer Delight in Reading

by MARTIN E. MARTY

If every book you read has to solve all the world's problems, do not waste your time with "Five Boyhoods" (Doubleday, $3.95), edited by Martin Levin. It is a sheer delight, written just for fun, and to be read in that spirit. For one thing, none of the five authors here reminiscing is really at the world's crossroads. Here are no U Thants or John Kennedys or Roger Bloughs. They are all "fun people" from writing, cartooning, entertaining fields.

MARTY

Here is Harry Golden, the too-prolific columnist - commentator on life in America. His is the least interesting chapter because he works the material so regularly. Another is Walt Kelly, irrepressible sponsor of the world of the swamp as we have come to know it in Pogo.

William K. Zinsser, third of the five, is best known as motion picture critic. Howard Lindsay, the playwright recalls his tortuous path to maturity. To me the most interesting chapter is John Updike's. He is often regarded to be the foremost stylist and among the most promising of the young writers. With the exception of the Golden chapter, all have some surprises; we find the men exercised about aspects of boyhood which do not really explain the man.

Maybe that is the point: boyhoods and girlhoods should be visited from time to time in order to help us regain footing. If we do this with imagination, more than mere reminiscence should occur. We can learn a good deal about the dreams that were frustrated, the plans that needed setting aside. But most of all, a visit to boyhood or girlhood may very well be a visit to an era when the universe was still organized in our consciousnesses.

It reveals a world in which meanings and patterns were made clear. To be sure, these may have had more of ego and expectation than our tired adult world can promise.

We were all sure that some day history would set itself right (as it had not with our parents) and would rearrange things so that all paths would open for our enterprises. Maturity meant the ability to live with the turning-aside of this hope.

BUT AT least there was a plot and a pattern, a vision and a base of operation. Revisiting the scenes of early expectation might help us gain some sense of direction along the way. Also, "Five Boyhoods" reveals at a hundred crazy turns how fragile is human experience, how a slight maltreatment of a child might divert his life; how a failure to inspire or educate might mean the loss of a talent.

As I read of this fragility and then thought of adult reponsibility I could not help but call to mind Jesus words about the millstone that would better be hung around the neck of the child-offender. Reading about five boyhoods remote from our own experience can give us the platform from which to view our present.

And, in this particular instance, every step along the way is a pleasure.

More Queries On PHIA Issue

This is a reply to Mr. DeMuesy's Fence Post letter of April 26. First of all I would like to clear up the matter of the pictures that were taken of Drake's property and retract the statement I made about them in my April 12 letter. At the time my husband talked with Mrs. Boscamp on the telephone, he was told by her that she was having pictures taken of Drake's lot for the Tribune newspaper. There was no way of my knowing that the actual photographer was Dick DeMuesy and not Mrs. Boscamp. At the same time, I want it known that I will stick 100 per cent behind everything else I had printed.

In my letter I did not imply that Mrs. Boscamp alone was to be blamed for this factory situation. It was intended for the P.H.I.A. as a whole and not solely for one person. It seems to me that Mr. DeMuesy has placed the blame on one person's shoulders and then he's turned around and defended that same person.

HE CLAIMS that the association has no way of knowing about a problem without being told. As I stated in my letter, Mrs. Boscamp, who is our representative, was called more than a week in advance of the April 28 meeting. At that time she told my husband that she would inform the P. H. I. A. about it. What more are we expected to do? Furthermore, there was an article in the Prispect Heights Herald about this meeting. I'm sure if Mr. DeMuesy reads the Fence Post page he certainly must read the front page of the paper, too.

He claims the P.H.I.A. did not raise hundreds of dollars to hire a lawyer yet in his next sentence he goes on to say that they had provided $500. Just how many hundreds are there in 500?

In regards to the Wheeling Drainage District tax, I would like to know just what adjustment he speaks of. In the first place, why (if there was an adjustment) did he stop right there? There is no reason why there should have been any special assessment at all. Furthermore, why did only part of Prospect Heights get this tax? For what — the water doesn't even get past my house and as far as Hintz Road. We have no sewers. We have drainage ditches just like everyone else and we maintain them ourselves. The water stands here for days. If you doubt my word, Mr DeMuesy, I have pictures taken of our block after our last rains. On them you can plainly see the water that flooded our streets for days. For this we were given a special tax that we will have to pay for 10 consecutive years.

I REALIZE that it takes people to get a job done. What you don't know, Mr. DeMuesy, is that a lot more of us are doing our share than you may think. There's only one slight difference—our names are not in the limelight. I presume, from the tone in which your letter was written that you refer to me when you say that the job of our area representative is open to someone new. Right now there is nothing that I could think of that I would like better, but I must refuse your most thoughtful offer.

I think some people take a job like this too loosely. It requires time and effort and if that isn't available then a person shouldn't even consider stepping into office. You, Mr. DeMuesy, claim you don't have the time. What makes you think I do? I am a housewife, mother of two grade schoolchildren and work 5 days a week. I certainly do not have the time to donate to this job too. I do find time, though, to read our papers and keep up with the current events in this town. I also found time to write my letter two weeks ago and let the public know just who gets P.H.I.A. priority ratings. In spite of what you may think, Mr. DeMuesy, I have received many compliments on my letter, but there are always a few for whom the truth hurts, aren't there?

Reflex Screams Amuse Reader

I am considerably amused by Clarence Muth's most recent letter to appear in The Fence Post, which purports to reply to my letter published April 5. One could almost have anticipated the sensitive demagogue's reflex screams of "smear" and "name-calling."

What seems to have escaped Mr. Muth's attention is that the intent of my letter was not to attack his political leanings, which are his own business, but to protest his literary style.

I DO NOT know whether Mr. Muth holds or has held public office, but unfortunately one tends to think that only politicians are sufficiently gifted to speak or write at length without saying anything.

I did not see Mr. Muth's letter of Feb. 22, but his March 29 letter said nothing — and said it for 16 inches of type. He waved the flag; he "subtly" equated his beliefs with those of Jesus and Abraham Lincoln, a stale gambit from the days of William Jennings Bryan; he protested in loud words and at length at being called an extremist without offering any evidence that anyone had bestowed that odious label upon him. (Since I had not seen his previous letter I evidently came in at the second round of this inconsequential debate; perhaps one of our correspondents had called him an extremist).

As for his historical references which I questioned — to cite only one — most definitive works on the Civil War agree that if ascribing its cause to "slavery" is not an inaccuracy it is at best over-simplification.

I APPRECIATE Mr. Muth's generous offer to be convinced and to come over to what he assumes is my side, or as he puts it, "have us join you in your views." Unfortunately, Mr. Muth and others of his ilk seem constitutionally unable to understand that some of us do not "choose up sides." National and international affairs today are somewhat more complex than a football game between two rival suburban high schools. I neither boo nor cheer on cue, Mr. Muth.

Far from beirg unable, as Mr. Muth would have it, "to tolerate dissent," as a citizen of a democracy I welcome it. I am in complete accord with one contemporary writer who says, "Conformity in behavior is necessary; conformity in patterns of thought is dangerous."

I leave it to your readers, whose intelligence Mr. Muth feels I have insulted, to decide whether Mr. Muth's views are outstandingly original, or whether they do nct actually fit into a rather rigid conformist's mold.

You an extremist, Mr. Muth? Not really — just a touch self-conscious, perhaps.

End of School Bus Warning Systems Concern to Mother

I am in possession of a letter received this date from the school my children are attending which leaves me in a state of complete confusion.

It states to wit: "A new law is now in force which prohibits us from using our flashers or stop arm in residential areas and does not require a car to stop, or even slow up, for a school but loading or unloading students . . ."

I will have to admit that I am a mother of two children and just happen to live in the area close enough to the school so my boys do not have to ride the bus, but as a mother, I am making an appeal for the parents whose children do ride the bus.

IF THE situation were re- are not schools enough to supply all the children in the outlying districts. When a parent sends his child or children off to school by bus, he is confident that they will get there all right, he does not worry about the traffic problem, nor does he worry about the child boarding or leaving the bus and crossing our busy highways after school.

Or maybe I should say they did not worry about them. They knew that the traffic — heavy as it might be in some of the versed, I would from henceforth on not put my children on the school bus, but get them to and from school myself. School buses were put on the roads to aid in getting the children to school due to the fact that there are not adequate schools close enough or more so, there residential districts were conscious of the children and of the buses, not merely because all drivers can easily recognize a group of children every once in a while waiting for the bus, or because they see a big yellow bus coming down the road—but because they have help from that big bus, it's flashing lights and its stop arm out — to protect the children loading or unloading from the bus — and it also causes the drivers to slow down and think—and to wait. Note: I said it causes the drivers to SLOW DOWN AND THINK! ! !

AS A motorist and a commuter, I use the same roads that this article speaks of that will also be used by these same buses and by these same children — I too, slow down and think, and am conscious of the buses, but . . .maybe the next fellow isn't. I'm not perfect, and I do not believe that every driver on the road is . . .therefore, not only the children, the buses, but the drivers need the flasher lights and the stop arms left on the buses.

In short I would like to state, I do not know whose idea this was to stop the warning system used by the board of education for these many years . . . but I feel that they should be reminded that these children—and junior adults who ride the buses will some day become the leaders and educators of these same communities, and we of this community should now do something to put the use of the flashers and stop arms BACK ON THE BUSES . . . .

Primary Story Was 'Unfair'

After reading your Bensenville Register (April 26) regarding the primary vote in Addison Township, and your reference to the Addison Township Democratic Chairman, Walter Kehoe as 'not being aggressive enough' You were not telling the truth regarding Mr. Kehoe, and you have no basis for such a statement.

If you are going to function as a newspaper, at least give the readers the facts, and it is your duty to do so.

Walter Kehoe has been a stalwart of the Democratic party in DuPage County for 45 years, and he is an honest and reliable man. Mr. Kehoe was the foundation on which the Democratic party in Addison Township was built on. He has pulled it up by it's boot straps and, when it finally had begun to see light after years of darkness, then you say he is not 'aggresive enough' You also made reference to two democrats from Addison, Illinois, but you saw them in a favorable light. These two are Johnny-come-latelys, and when they saw how Mr. Kehoe was welding his party together. they decided to push him off the platform which he had built. But Mr. Kehoe does not push easily, and when the shouting is over, he will still be standing on his own two feet.

CHECK THE records as to who has organized a Democratic club in Addison, Ill., and why it was started, then give the people the facts.

You have done Mr. Kehoe an injustice, and his many friends resent it. Of course being the Republican publication that you are, what else can be expected from you. If you are interested in your readers' welfare, why not make a survey in DuPage County of the many injustices being committed by the Republicans. Take a look at the Township roads in Addison Township, they are in the same condition they were 50 ((Fifty) years ago. Take a look at the bomb proof shelter in Wheaton where Mr. O. B. Dold (County Supt. of Highways for Du Page County) maintains an elegant office, air conditioned, bomb proof, etc. While the people in Addison Township are sitting in their cars, stuck in the mud of the township roads. Get out and report the facts to your readers about what is going on in these county and township offices.

Where were you over two years ago, when the Chicago Daily News exposed the township road commissioner in York Township with the truck deal, you were looking the other way.

WHY IS IT that the Addison Township Road Commissioner has a budget of $123,000 yet when he is asked for a load of gravel, his stock reply is, (I don't have any money). Talk about your Democrat machine in Cook County, they couldn't hold a candle to this Republican outfit in Du Page County. Then you had the nerve to make a remark about an honest man like Mr. Kehoe. You know and others in this county know, that some of the highest office holders in the Republican party in Du Page county have been consorting for years with certain characters known to be well heeled. Get some GUTS and report all the truth.

I have been a subscriber to your newspaper for 34 years, but after your remark about Mr. Kehoe, I am through reading it, and it will not be allowed in my home in the future. Years ago, it was a fairly decent paper, but for the past several years, it has gotten so low, it literally stinks.

GOP Activities Need Volunteers

Three weeks have lapsed since my election as Wheeling Township Republican Committeeman. I have purposely avoided writing this letter at an earlier date until I had had some time to reflect upon the nature of the task ahead in this township, county and state. I believe that I am aware of the responsibility that goes with any party or public position of trust and confidence. It is my purpose to serve the township vigorously, without favoritism, and to the best of my ability.

I want to express my gratitude to those who worked so diligently for my election and I want to thank those who voted for me, but most importantly I would like to publicly state my intention to represent the sentiment of Republicans in this Township in the councils of the Cook County Central Committee. To this end, I invite suggestion or critique. I intend to establish an advisory staff which will have the task of helping to make the Committeeman aware of the prevailing sentiment and advising him on matters of general Party importance.

I COME out of the April 10 election more convinced than ever before that the basic need of our democratic system of government is participation in political activity. The Rumsfeld victory and the campaign here in Wheeling Township essentially proved what can happen when John Q. Public decides to roll up his sleeves and step into politics. There is an abundance of talented, capable people in this township. This is an open invitation from the Republican Party to become active and personally promote in some measure the beliefs that you hold. Wheeling Township can be proud of its four clubs; The Regular Republican Club, The Young Republican Club, The Womens Republican Club, and the Republican Workshops. Each of these clubs welcomes new membership and each contributes in its own way to the total Republican effort.

Under the two-party system in the United States, the two major parties accept responsibilities to keep the machinery of government in operation. What is often overlooked is the duty that each citizen owes to his government, and consequently, to himself, to protect the system under which he lives by lending a hand. To the extent that political parties stimulate public interest in their government, they justify their existence. I am confident the Republican organizations in Wheeling Township will continue their concerted efforts to promote such interest.

"DOLLAR DAY" VOLUME

"During first 3 days of February we did 50% of our normal February business," says Carl H. Sundberg Jr., proprietor of Sundberg's Store for Men in Mount Prospect. "And February is the fifth biggest month in our year. It was the largest Dollar Days sale in our history."

Mount Prospect Dollar Days was promoted exclusively in Paddock Publications with advertising and news stories.

"We sold 281 dress shirts during the Dollar Days against 250 in a regular month," Tom Wilnau, store manager, said pointing to cases holding a month's supply and a normal 3 days' amount on the counter. "We had about 500 customers in daily for the sale and had to have three times our normal staff of salesmen."

Furniture Design Is Theme of Exhibition

With all the home furnishings available today, how can one select what's good in design? Perhaps one of the most effective ways to acquire "lessons" in good design is visually.

Believing this idea to be true, The Designer's Shop, Division of Petersen Interiors, Inc., Arlington Heights, is featuring an exhibit on "What is good design?" through the month of May, as part of the store's 55th anniversary celebration.

THE "GOOD" available in 1962 home furnishings is represented by the many new items and imports that the store is showing for this event. In contrast is a group of furnishings dating back to 1900-1910 (the first Petersen store was founded in 1907) arranged in a series of vignettes.

There are two categories of these "old" designs: one, furnishings whose design have stood the test of time . . . items which will still hold their own in any well planned 1962 interior; and two, bad designs from the same period—monstrosities from the "golden oak" era.

One of the good designs is the famous Thonet beechwood rocker, forerunner of the many, molded seating designs of today. Simple, well-scaled and functional, this rocker (which still sells) makes sense both from the standpoint of appearance and comfort in today's home.

BAD EXAMPLES on display are easy to spot at a glance. They are massive, complicated, over-ornate, pretentious and awkward. They are arranged against a background of paneled wallpaper, typical of the period. Examples include . . . a free standing coat and hat rack with mirror, a sort of catch-all monster; a wicker pedestal table, impossible to move around; a bad example of a Tiffany stained glass lamp, fringed and fussy; faded framed portraits; a gramophone; a two-foot toy metal truck (imagine what this did to furniture!); and some costume oddities of the period including high button shoes.

In contrast the good examples are displayed simply against white drapery. Their timeless design needs no camouflage. The exhibit is on view every week day and on Monday, Thursday and Friday evenings until 9 p.m. (BB

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by James Fizzell
Assistant Farm Advisor

Alert Homeowners
Dial Daily 392-3060

Clover mites will be a pest in many homes this spring. When clover mites invade a home they appear as tiny dark red or almost black specks which over-run floors, walls, furniture and window panes and get into beds and clothing.

Their presence in the home seems to be due to a lost wandering search of food and warmth. They are a nuisance only and they are not a menace to health. Clover mites spend the winter in cracks or crevices on the bricks or siding of the outside of the house. Activity begins in early spring, about the time the grass turns green, and ceases about the beginning of June.

In summer the mites are usually no problem, but they may be a pest again in the fall. To control mites already in the house clean up the infestation with a vacuum cleaner.

PAINTING the doors, window frames or other places the mite enter the home with Aramite 15-W or Chlorobenzilate 25-W at the rate of one ounce to a gallon of water, will prevent more mites from moving in. Mites spend the summer feeding in the lawn and migrate into the house in early fall.

To prevent this migration, remove weeds and grass next to the foundation, leaving a strip of bare soil at least 18 inches wide. This strip may be planted with flowers such as zinnias, roses, chrysanthemums or salvia which do not attract clover mites. Dusting the area with Aramite is an additional aid.

In most instances these measures alone will prevent migration of this pest into the home. In areas where infestations are particularly severe, outdoor treatment during summer may be necessary. Good outdoor control may be achieved by applying a pound of 5 per cent Malathion dust per 1000 sq. ft. or by drenching the area within 10 feet of the foundation with ½ per cent Malathion water-base spray.

SINCE GREAT numbers of mites may feed well down towards the bases of plants, apply enough spray material to penetrate the vegetative cover. Repeated applications may be necessary. A regular spraying or dusting program during the summer period will reduce mite population and subsequent migration in the home.

Mulches applied to shrubs and evergreens and vegetables will help to prevent growth of weeds and to conserve moisture. Mulches soak up moisture and rainfall. They allow it to soak into the soil and thereby prevent surface evaporation, insuring an even moisture supply during the growing season. Germinating weeds are unable to reach light through the mulch and never become mature.

Mulching materials are classified as either organic or inorganic. Organic materials are broken down by soil micro-organisms and become part of the soil. Inorganic materials are not broken down.

EXAMPLES OF organic mulchs are leaves, peat moss, straw, sawdust, shavings, grass clippings and paper.

Paper mulches are not ordinary paper, but a special paper treated with a fungicide and a preservative. These materials help to control diseases and make the paper more durable. A paper mulch conserves moisture satisfactorily, completely eliminates weed growth. Its best use is probably in the vegetable garden, particularly on tomatoes.

If staw is used, buy it one year in advance. Cut the wires and leave the bales outdoors so that any weed seeds in the straw will sprout. These weeds will not mature due to lack of plant food in the straw. As a result, the straw will be nearly weed free when it is ready for use.

STRAW, SAWDUST, and shavings will control weeds if applied 3 to 4 inches deep. Gardeners can either apply grass clippings directly to the soil as a mulch or incorporate them as a compost pile. However, if clippings come in contact with plant stems, they may cause rot.

If inorganic materials are used as a mulch, add more fertilizer to the soil. For every one inch of mulch, apply an additional two pounds of fertilizer per 1000 square feet.

Two examples of inorganic materials are vermiculite and plastics. Vermiculite is a porous granular substance that holds moisture well.

PLASTIC SHEETS make a mulch but must be perforated so that rain can reach the soil. Black plastic completely eliminates weed growth. White plastic allows some weed growth underneath. Ground covered with white plastic can be fumigated to control weeds, but this is not practical for home gardeners.

Mulching materials are available at hardware stores, construction companies and nurseries. (BB

St. Paul Federal Saving Volume Up

New savings money amounting to $15,200,000 was placed with St. Paul Federal Savings and Loan Association of Chicago during the first four months of 1962, Frank P. Kosmach, president, has announced.

"The savings volume thus far in 1962 represents a gain of $2,100,000 or 16% over the $13,100,000 received by St. Paul in the same period of 1961," Kosmach said. Assets have risen to $145,723,912 from $138,239,129 at the beginning of 1962.

"Our increased savings activities together with a strong demand for mortgage loans hold promise for a most excellent year for St. Paul Federal," he declared.

St. Paul is completing its first year following an expansion program that doubled the size of its building at 6700 W. North Ave.

Explain Three Basic Forms for Business

Each year thousands of new businesses are started and in each case the owner must choose the form under which he will conduct his business venture. The three basic forms are the sole proprietorship, the partnership and the corporation. The choice of a particular form should be made carefully and with competent advice.

The sole proprietorship, is, of course, the simplest business form. No organizational formalities are required. The proprietor may delegate authority to employees in which case they may bind him to certain agreements; but otherwise he is in complete control.

The entire net income of the business must be reported by the owner on his personal income tax return while all losses are borne by the proprietor, and creditors of the business may even resort to his personal assets to satisfy their claims.

WHEN THE business is sold or the owner dies, that particular proprietorship ends even though the business may be carried on by someone else.

Moving on to the partnership, we find a somewhat more complex form of business organization which requires some agreement, however simple, setting forth the relationship of the parties. Here, the control and management will be shared equally by the partners unless a different division is provided for in the partnership agreement.

Normally, no person may become a member of a partnership without the consent of all the partners and consequently each partner can prevent control from passing to outsiders.

Each partner is liable for the acts of his partners and partnership employees acting in the ordinary course of partnership business and each partner is personally liable for all of the debts and obligations of the partnership. These harsh rules of liability make the selection of a partner a matter of extreme importance.

THERE IS no federal income tax on the partnership itself, but each partner must include his proportionate share of the earnings on his personal return.

A partnership is dissolved and there must be an accounting between the partners upon the death or withdrawal of a partner; however, the partnership agreement may provide that the remaining partners can continue the business.

The third main form of business is the corporation. This is the most complex form and requires strict adherence to the statutory requirements for organization and operation.

IF THE corporation does business in states other than the state of incorporation it must qualify in each of those states and pay various franchise taxes in each of those states. The management of a corporation is usually vested in a board of directors which is elected by the shareholders. The board of directors in turn elects officers to carry out the policies established by the board.

In a small or a "close" corporation the same people may be the stockholders, directors and officers but in a large corporation, there may be thousands of stockholders in which case control of the corporation by any person or group may be difficult to maintain.

Probably, the greatest advantage of the corporate form is the limited liability which it affords. If the corporation is properly organized, its stockholders will not be personally liable for corporate debts and obligations.

USUALLY, A corporation pays a federal income tax on its earnings, then each stockholder is required to pay tax on these same earnings when they are distributed to him as dividends. A recent change in the statute, however, permits some corporations to elect to be taxed as partnerships.

Theoretically a corporation is considered to be a separate entity so that death of a stockholder or a transfer of his stock has no effect on the existence of the corporation but in a small corporation there may be the practical problem of finding a buyer for the shares.

Hospitals Kept Busy By Injured Motorists

A two-car collision injured a Palatine man on northwest suburban highways last week.

Ignaz Wohszat, 31, of 988 W. Kenilworth, Palatine, was headed south at 7:30 a.m. on Illinois 53, two blocks north of Illinois 58.

Also southbound on the same road was Herbert L. Haller, 39, of 8934 N. Oak Park, Morton Grove.

When Wohszat slowed down in the outside lane to make a left turn, state police say his car was struck by the other.

WOHSZAT WAS injured and taken to the Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights. Damage to his car was $500; to the other, $400. Wohszat was charged with making an improper left turn.

In another accident at 9 p.m. the same day, three miles north of Illinois 58 at Central Road and Dearlove, Earl R. Keegan, 36, of 173 Crest, Elk Grove, was driving south on Dearlove.

His car went across Central road and into the ditch. There were no warning or stop signs at this intersection because they had been knocked down by a previous accident, state police report.

Keegan was injured and taken to Northwest Community Hospital. His car suffered $400 damage.

IN A THIRD accident, George I. Murphy, 62, of 342 S. Lake, Mundelein, was headed south on Illinois 21 at Illinois 58, where he stopped for a school bus discharging passengers.

Traveling southeast on Illinois 21 was Joseph Cassatt, 48, of 320 Glenwood, Round Lake Beach. He was unable to stop. His car veered to his left, striking the other car's right rear. He then lost control of his car, which swerved across the northwest lanes, striking a light pole.

Cassatt was injured and taken to Holy Family hospital. Damage to the Murphy car was $300; to the other, $400. Cassatt was charged with driving too fast for conditions.

On April 29, at 9 p.m., June H. Major, 54, of 1912 Central st., Evanston, was making a left turn onto Illinois 83 at Glenbrook. She became confused in the heavy fog and her car ran off the roadway, striking a culvert.

She was injured and taken to Northwest Community Hospital.

IT HAPPENED ON the Old Northwest Hwy. at U.S. 14, Manuel M. Rosas, 24, of RR No. 2, Box 103A, Palatine, was headed east on Baldwin road. The time was 9:20 p.m. - the date, April 28.

He made a right turn onto the Old Northwest Hwy. and struck a traffic signal and standard, knocking them both down.

Rosas was injured and taken to the Northwest Community Hospital. His car suffered $1000 damage. Damage to the traffic signal was $700. He was charged with driving too fast for conditions. (B-8

"I Remember" By The Old Timers

From Mrs. Ruby R. Slevin, Las Vegas, Nevada: I remember my home in Greenwich Village near the Hudson River. The roadways were paved with heavy cobble stones, sidewalks lined either side. The small two story family dwellings were built of red brick. My father owned a three-story hotel with a saloon on the main floor.

As a small child, I did not like the city streets and brick houses. I didn't like the narrow, dark alleyways where cats seemed to swarm around the garbage pails. All seemed depressing to me, except for the man who used to come around with his hand organ and his tiny monkey with its little red hat, as well as the man with his hand-cart full of goodies. These consisted of candied apples, flavored chopped ice, and ice cream sandwiches. These I loved best of all and I wish I could find the same kind today. The ice cream was wedged between two crispy cone-like wafers.

While playing on the sidewalk with other small children, I was suddenly terrified into action as I heard a heavy rumbling on the cobblestone pavements. As I looked up the street from my tiny height, I saw three white horses abreast pounding toward me. Behind them the smoke stack of the bright red engine was billowing smoke, sparks, and echoing shrill whistles.

I was glued to the sidewalk for a second; then with terror in my pounding heart I started to run home. I did not stop until I had reached the second floor, from where I watched the horses pass in a more peaceful frame of mind. They were the first fire engines I had ever seen. I dreamed about those horses coming at me for years afterward, believe it or not.

Today's Agriculture

by Robert E. Hood, Assistant Farm Adviser

Many vegetable gardeners have started their gardens and are well under way with the production of fresh fruit and vegetables for the coming summer. The vegetable garden is a project that the whole family can take part in and enjoy together. Some of the advantages of gardening are that it provides a healthful outdoor exercise offering productive activity for the family as a unit.

To get the most out of your garden, you should make plans early in the year and follow proper steps during the gardening season. Gardeners should follow an organized plan of work in doing this activity. We suggest the following ten steps to have a successful garden:

Step 1. Find a good location. The success of the remaining nine steps to a successful garden will depend on your selection of a garden site. Many of you already have a site or are limited to one area on your property. But if you have a selection, try to find a good soil, loose, fertile, level, well-drained. Locate so that there is plenty of sun light when necessary to produce the healthy high quality of vegetables that you desire.

Do not plant near trees, buildings, shrubs or many other things that might shade your garden. If you do have to plant in the shade, you may grow more leafy vegetables. They do better than most of the root crops in these areas. A water supply should be near your garden site, as during the dry season a garden can be saved if water is easily available and used.

A garden near your home is much handier in that a few spare moments can be used to do small jobs. It's much easier to weed a fe wweeds at a time than it is to work for long periods, as an example. A vegetable garden can be part of the landscape plan of your property. When planning your garden consider its relation to the trees, shrubs and flowers around the home. The garden should fit in well to the over-all design of the landscape.

Step. 2. Plan your garden lay-out. Once you have chosen a garden site, the next step is to arrange the crops that you wish to grow in your garden, and the amounts that you wish to grow. Many people overproduce on some items and do not produce others that would be of benefit to them and their family. We suggest that you sit down early in the growing season and map out your area and plan your rows accordingly at that time.

There is a wide variety of vegetables that may be grown in our area; and the proper forethought is much better than to wish that you had less room or had planted something else.

A planting schedule can be made up for the different items that you wish to grow and successive crops of different plants may be used to produce a long season for such items as sweet corn, and many other vegetables. Intensive production may be possible with a planned garden in that you may intercrop on particular items. Peas, radishes, green onions, spinach or lettuce may be planted between rows where tomatoes, peppers, cabbage or corn are to be grown at a later time.

Radish seed may be mixed with beet, carrot, onion, parsnip, or salsify seed and sown in the same row. The radishes will mature before the other crops need more room. To do a good job of intercropping you need a good supply of moisture and fertilizer.

Step 3. Grow recommended varieties. Selecting the proper varieties for your garden is important. By careful selection you can grow vegetables that are disease-resistant and good yielders of high-quality, nutritious produce.

Step 4. Obtain good seed, plants, equipment and supplies. Buy clean seed, that is viable and disease-free. Some vegetables do best when they are started indoors and then transplanted into the garden. These plants should be healthy, stocky, medium sized, disease-free, and insect-free with good roots, and avoid using the weak and spindly plants.

This same information is valuable when you purchase plants from others who have produced them. Good equipment is necessary to maintain your garden in a good condition throughout the summer.

Step 5. Prepare and care for the soil properly. The soil provides food and water to plants. If these materials are not available or if the soil is in poor physical condition (hard and crusty when dry and sticky when wet) the plants will not grow and develop properly. To promote good growth and development of your plants, prepare the soil before planting by adding organic matter, appling fertilizers and soil insecticides, correcting acidity, and plowing the seedbed properly.

Take care of the soil during the growing season by applying starter fertilizer and by sidedressing with additional fertilizer. The initial application of fertilizer should range from 10 to 25 pounds per thousand square feet of garden area of a good fertilizer such as 10-10-10. This material should be spread out over the garden and worked into the top four inches of soil before planting of the crops. If your garden has not been spaded or plowed at this time, you may turn this fertilizer under with this operation.

Step 6. Plant your vegetables correctly. If you have purchased commercial seeds the instructions for proper planting depths and levels will be given. Do not plant them too early if the plant is not hardy and resistant to slight frost conditions.

Step 7. Keep down the weeds. Cultivation is important to keep out that competition of weeds and grasses from your major crop. Begin cultivation as soon as weeds begin to sprout. For extra protection you may cultivate even before you notice any weeds. Repeat cultivations as weeds appear. Remember it is much easier and more efficient to kill weeds when they are ½ inch high than when they are 5 or 6 inches tall. Do not work if the soil is wet.

Mulching is another means of keeping down weeds. Many vegetables benefit from mulching. Tomatoes, cucumbers, melons, beans and potatoes are some of the crops most practical to mulch. Besides controlling weeds, the much will conserve moisture, regulate the soil temperature, keep the fruits clean, eliminate injury to crops by cultivation, and prevent erosion. Mulching makes gardening easier and may increase yields.

After a mulch is put down, cultivation is unnecessary in many cases for the rest of the season. Materials that can be used for mulches include leaves, grass cuttings, peat moss, sawdust, ground corncobs, straw, hay, shavings, aluminum foil, paper, and black plastic. Chemical weed control is used to a great extent commercially but is recommended for only very specialized situations in the home garden. While some vegetables are tolerant to certain chemicals, others are very susceptible and may be killed.

Some vegetables are more susceptible to weed killers in certain stages of growth than in other stages. Since your garden will have many different types of vegetables in many different stages of growth, it is rather dangerous to use weed killers.

Step 8. Declare war on the pests. Insects and diseases can cause much damage to your crops if precautions are not taken before these pests arrive in your garden.

WARNING: All pesticides are poisonous and dangerous to handle. Read carefully and follow the directions and precautions on the label. Keep all pesticides out of reach of children and pets.

Step 9. Water properly. Water is very important to produce high-quality crops. Although rainfall is a good source of water, there are usually some dry periods during the growing season when you will have to water your garden. It is important to do it properly. Water plants once a week during dry periods (when less than an ineh of rain falls during a week).

Water early enough in the day so that moisture on the plants will dry off before dew appears; this will help to prevent disease. Soak the soil thoroughly to depth of at least 6 inches rather than sprinkling the garden lightly at frequent intervals. The water should get down into the root zone of the plant.

Step 10. Harvest at peak quality. The quality of your vegetables cannot be improved after harvest. It is therefore important to harvest your crops at the proper maturity.

Taking some of these problems into view and planning for them in advance will insure a happy gardener and a high-quality product coming from the home garden. If you would like more information about the ten steps that I have mentioned in this article, please write to the Agricultural Extension Service, 201 North Dunton Avenue, Arlington Heights, for a free copy of the Illinois Vegetable Garden Guide, Circular 816.

keep interiors cool and shady

If you want a cool, comfortable house during hottest summer days, don't depend on inside blinds to keep out sun heat. Inside blinds and draperies reduce the glare . . . but the heat comes right on through. It takes outside shading — like awnings to stop those sun rays before they enter your home. By keeping out 75% of the sun's heat, awnings reduce room temperatures 8 to 15 degrees . . . air conditioning works better at less expense. Let us talk over your awning needs without obligation. FOR BETTER HEALTH

By C. A. DEAN, M.D.

MEDITORIAL: Baldness in man can be observed by all and experienced by many. Although no exact figures are available, I doubt if any other affliction is as common. Despite the great number of patients available for research and study, the cause and cure of common baldness in men—often referred to as "male pattern baldness"—has escaped detection.

Since the cause and cure are obscure, it is hard to discuss anything but the course and behavior of baldness. When searching for background information for this column I found that the subject is surrounded by few facts and much fiction.

Common baldness in men follows a distinct pattern. It starts, usually, as a receding hairline on either side of the forehead and progresses backwards, to eventually give a hairline which is roughly shaped like the letter "M." Later, a round or oval patch is noted over the crown, and sooner or later all hair goes, except for small amounts at the sides and back. This process may proceed to completion within a few years or else be prolonged for many.

Hair loss will start to some degree by the age of 25 in about 25 per cent of men. By the age of 50, 50 per cent will show some evidence of becoming bald. Generally, the earlier baldness begins, the more severe and complete it will be.

Effective treatment of this condition is nonexistent. Nothing presently known or done is of value. Massage and stimulation are of no help and may even be harmful to the hair and scalp. We hair shedding men can only accept the statement that this just happens as you get older because it runs in the family.

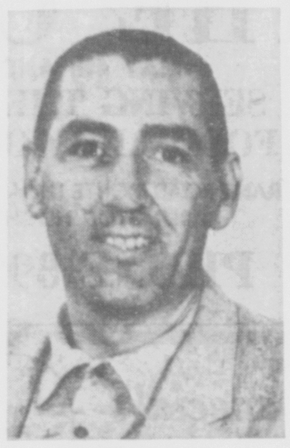
'Silver Whistle' Set To Blow Next Friday

The Hoffman Estates Theatre Guild's three-act comedy, "The Silver Whistle," will come to life for Parkside school audiences next Friday night, May 11, 233 E. Maple St., in Roselle.

After long weeks of heavy rehearsal schedules, the 15-member cast will offer just two performances, Friday and Saturday, May 11 and 12. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.



ERNIE WURM

"The Silver Whistle" tells the story of a glib impostor who invades a quiet home for the aged in order to gain food and shelter.

DICK LINNELL, Hoffman Estates, is Oliver T. Erwenter who plays his "silver whistle" for the listless inhabitants of the home. His promises of eternal youth weave a magic web around the hopeless, lonely old people.

Phyllis Meier, of Roselle, has the romantic lead. As Miss Tripp, the young superintendent of the home for the aged, she is torn between her duty to Rev. Watson, played by Al Bollyn, and her attraction to the charming stranger.

The appearance of an educated tramp named Emmett, portrayed by Hank Netter, complicates matters for Erwenter.

SIX OLD people's roles are depicted in this comedy which starred Jose Ferrer in its successful Broadway run.

As the complaining Mrs. Hanmer, Dorothy Sicher keeps a suspicious eye on everyone and everything around her. Her greatest cause of dismay is the flirtatious Mrs. Sampler, portrayed by Lorraine Howe, a 78-year-old who claims to be only 75.

Mr. Beebe, acted by Howard Risberg, is Mrs. Sampler's target. He is saved only by the dogged following of Mr. Cherry. Allen Johnson plays Cherry, who along with Beebe, await the results of a magic youth potion supplied by Erwenter.

THE HARD of hearing old girl who manages to frequent a nip from a well concealed bottle will be played by Betty Lou Funk; Doris Kellond is the crusading Mrs. Gross.

Ernest Wurm is the visiting bishop; Joan Holm of Bloomingdale is Mrs. Beach, a bird-watcher; Sid Sicher, Mr. Reddy; Charles May, Father Shay; Al Vancel, the policeman.

Vic Simone directs the production.

Tickets are available at the door performance nights, or contact ticket chairman Joan Holm, LA 9-5762; Lorraine Howe, TW 4-6710. (Bill

At The Catlow Sunday

EVA MARIE SAINT and Warren Beatty form the exciting romantic team in "ALL FALL DOWN," opening Sunday at the Catlow Theatre in Barrington. Also playing leading roles are Karl Malden, Angela Lansbury, and Brandon de Wilde. This picture is for adults only. There will be a special matinee for the children on Sunday starting at 5:00 P.M.

At Des Plaines

JANET MUNRO and Edward Judd find themselves dismayed at the shattering predictions of a world holocaust in this scene from "THE DAY THE EARTH CAUGHT FIRE," a realistic drama which opens at the Des Plaines theatre Friday for 7 days. Co-featured is "The Man Who Wagged His Tail," which stars Peter Ustinov.

Theatre Guild Play Opening

Featuring two Mount Prospect women in leading roles, the premiere of Des Plaines Theatre Guild's play, "October Festival," opens tomorrow, Friday, at 8:30 p.m., at Rand Park, 2025 Miner St., Des Plaines.

Jacqueline McDermott, 509 N. Maple, and Mary Jane Bentley, 910 S. Ioka, are important cast members of the exciting drama which will continue Saturday night and May 11, 12, 13, 18 and 19.

Mrs. McDermott's husband, Joe, is stage manager for the world premiere production, and Richard Yoyt, 807 S. See-Gwun, is scenic designer. James Beall, 211 Winston, Palatine, is lighting and sound technician, and his wife, Julie, is head of the properties committee.

WALLACE DACE, winner of the Guild's nationwide playwriting contest, will arrive tomorrow, Friday, afternoon from Sweet Briar, Va., to attend the premiere performance of his prize play. He will be formally presented with his award of $300 at a supper party to be held at the Des Plaines Elks Club immediately following the performance.

The winning playwright is head of the drama department of Sweet Briar College. Last year his long one-act play, "We Commit This Body," was published by Margaret Mayorga in "Best Short Plays of 1959-60." Two years ago Dace was first prize winner of a national playwriting contest conducted by the Arkansas Chapter of the National Collegiate Players.

Tony Good, 89 Mohawk Trail, Buffalo Grove, plays the romantic lead in the play, which will close the group's 16th consecutive season. Good was last seen in "The Golden Fleecing" in January.

OTHERS IN the cast of "October Festival" include Ginny Boyer, Brian Cunneen, Ed Sauer, Jean Bonnell, Linda Haka, LaVerne Phillips, and Jean Landstrom.

Tickets may be obtained by calling Mrs. John Clark, VA 7-8019. Except for the Sunday, May 13 performance, which begins at 7:30, all curtain times are 8:30 p.m. (Bill

BOB Players' Musical

'Showboat' Readying Its Maiden Voyage

The Classic American folk musical comedy "Showboat," which is being staged at the Barrington High School, is about to stay put for three performances. The suburban theater group, Best Off Broadway Players, Inc., is putting forth this production May 11, 12, and 13.

While the romance between the charming Magnolia and the dandified Ravenal knit the love story, the Lyrics of "Ol' Man River" captures the mood of the Mississippi showboat, "Cotton Blossom."

Variety is added to the show by the old crank, Porthy Ann Hawks and her spicy husband, Andy Hawks. The comedy team Frank and Ellie will let you in on the facts of "Life on the Wicked Stage."

THE FIRES of jealousy, love and hate burn rapidly as the story of Pete, Steve and Julie explode. Colored folk work on the "Showboat" too, and as Queenie says, "Hey!—Where yo' think yo' go-in?—Don't you know this show is startin' soon?" Queenie is the Nola's Mammie.

"Showboat" is staged in two acts and 15 scenes. It has been revived many times since its opening night in the new Ziegfeld Theater in New York in 1927. The original musical was written through the collaboration of Jerome Kern and Oscar Hammerstein II and was based on the book, "Showboat" of which Edna Ferber is the author.

BOB's Floyd Collins stated, "we're organized as a not for profit corporation in the state. We'll have 60 non-paid performers on stage and around 21 musicians in our orchestra pit. Our production costs over $4,000.00. For an amateur group this may seem pretty ambitious.

"BUT WE'RE really a group of old pros who are amateurs only because we are not paid for our work. We derive our pleasure and enjoyment in giving a near professional performance and hearing the sincere laughs and applause from our audience."

Collins, of 418 S. Fairview, Mount Prospect, is vice president of the Best Off Broadway Players, Inc.

The major roles of the cast are played by Sue Cook (Magnolia), 237 Kimberly Road Barrington, Jack Staley (Gaylord Ravenal), 3608 Pheasant Drive, Rolling Meadows, George Bull (Andy), 1758 S. Brockway, Palatine, Vera Karst (Parthy Hawks), 132 S. Ashland, Palatine, George Henkel, (Joe) 316 W. Main St. Barrington, Rita Delory (Julie) 808 S. Williams, Mount Prospect, Don Heyden (Steve) 500 W. Hellen Road, Palatine.

ELLIE IS played by Pat Lemker, 1175 Division, Barrington, and Frank by Allen Shields, 1536 N. Patton, Arlington Heights. Gerry Martin (Pete) 527 Fairview, Mount Prospect, will also participate.

Tickets for any of the three performances can be obtained by calling Carousel Travel and Tours at DU 1-1600, the official ticket agency, or by contacting Burt Neuner, ticket chairman, CL 3-6904 or call George Palmer, president, FL 8-0156. (Bill

Midwest premier of Antonio Vivaldi's "Gloria" and the more familiar "Stabat Mater" by Gioachino Rossini will be performed by the Swedish Choral Club of Chicago on Thursday, May 17 at 8:15 p.m. in Orchestra Hall.

The 15-voice chorus, accompanied by members of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, will be under the direction of Dr. Harry T. Carlson.

ON DEC. 14, 1962, the chorus will sing its annual performance of Handel's "Messiah."

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by BOB FRISK

ED MOEHLING OF MOUNT PROSPECT turned out for Northern Illinois University golf practice six weeks ago bearing impressive credentials—he'd won the 1960 Illinois Amateur golf title as a 19-year-old NIU freshman, then convinced any unbelievers by successfully defending the title last summer.

But Northern coach Nye LaBaw greeted the Arlington High School graduate this spring with wait-and-see reservation.

"Ed didn't score for Northern's 1960 Intermediate Conference championship team, and was ineligible last spring," LaBaw pointed out. "So we have nothing on which to tout him as a college golfer, where he'll be competing in medal play, and in a team situation.

"I'm not going to get excited about him until he gives me something to get excited about . . . although I have every hope he will."

Just six days into NIU's season, Moehling did. Firing a sweet 3-under-par 68 in the final round, the lanky blond pulled himself from a 10-stroke deficit into a tie for the Miami University Invitational lead with a 72-hole 286, then cooly cut down Miami's Jim Crooks on the first hole of their sudden-death playoff to take home one of the nation's most coveted collegiate golf crowns.

"From both an individual and team standpoint, Ed did a simply fabulous job," LaBaw enthused on his return from the Florida junket.

For his part, Moehling appeared more pleased with the implications of his Miami triumph than with the victory itself.

"I'm really on my game," he declared. "I played much better golf at Miami than either time I won the Illinois Amateur. This is going to be my year."

The following afternoon Moehling lofted a 9-iron drive from the tee on the 122-yard par-3 second hole at DeKalb's Kishwaukee Country Cilub—and sank it for his first competitive hole-in-one. He wound up with a 35-35—70, even par.

Reviewing the Miami meet, Ed said "the way I was playing earlier in the week, I knew I was going to do well in the tourney. And when I was 10 strokes out, I wasn't worried.

"Going into the last round, I figured I'd need a 67 to win. So I played to birdie every hole, missed the mark by a stroke, and got the tie. I was first off the tee in the playoff, and gave my drive everything I had, figuring a good blast might shake the opposition a little. It carried at least 285 yards and when my approach took me just four feet off the cup, I knew the job was done.

"Considering, I'd three-putted nine greens and taken five penalty strokes during the tournament, I felt pretty good about winning it.

"It was my first important medal-play championship, but I actually prefer this game, rather than match-play. I want to be making the pro tours some day, and that's strictly medal play. So I've been gearing myself to that game."

Moehling's next major target is the Interstate Conference title, which he'll seek May 18-19 on the Western Illinois University course at Macomb against a field including defending champion Len Fiocca of host WIU.

Should his IIAC performance qualify him for the national collegiate tourney, Moehling won't go, because the NCAA meet is scheduled to conflict with the 1962 Illinois Amateur.

"Nobody has ever won three straight Illinois Amateurs," he explained. "I want to try for it."

Local Squads Entered

Maine East, Hinsdale Host Relays on Friday, Saturday

Two outstanding track and field meets, matching some of the strongest prep cinder representatives in the Chicago Suburban area, will be staged this weekend with 19 schools shooting for the team titles.

Eight aggregations, including Prospect High's Knights, will hook up in the Maine East Invitational Friday evening with 11 units, including Arlington High's Cardinals, seeking honors Saturday in the 12th annual Hinsdale Relays.

The Maine East attraction is slated to get under way at 5:30 p.m. Friday with the field events. The running events will begin at 6 p.m.

Joining the Knights at Maine will be Evanston, New Trier, Highland Park, Waukegan, Maine West, Maine East, and LaGrange.

LAGRANGE IS the defending champion and the Lions are favored for a repeat although Highland Park and New Trier could push the West Suburban entry.

The only individual events included on the program will be the shot put, discus, high jump, broad jump, and pole vault. All the running events will be relays.

Three individual champions of 1961 will be back Friday at Maine East. Tom Atkinson of LaGrange topped the broad jump with a leap of 22-7 7/8 and could top that mark, and the Lions' Grant Johnstone cleared 6-½ for the high jump title, a standard he eclipsed in last week's Palatine Relays.

HIGHLAND PARK'S Jim Sternfield won the discus in the Invitational last spring with a toss of 156-3, and Sternfield should have little trouble with a repeat. LaGrange's Cliff Lake could provide the stillest opposition.

Other events on the program will be the high and low hurdles shuttle relays, two-mile relay, varsity and frosh 880 yard relays, sprint medley, sophomore and varsity one mile relays, and the distance medley.

Morton West is the defending champion in the Hinsdale Relays, but the Falcons will have a tough time repeating. LaGrange, making another appearance over the weekend, is favored.

FESTIVITIES at Hinsdale will get under way at 1 p.m. with the field events and 1:30 p.m. for the running events.

In addition to Arlington, LaGrange, Morton West, and host Hinsdale, other schools in the cinder test will be Downers Grove, Glenbard West, Glenbrook, East Leyden, Proviso West, Riverside-Brookfield, and St. Procopius.

Some of the top individuals in the meet will be LaGrange's Atkinson, Downers Grove's Bill Howerton, Glenbard West's Mike Waterman and Jim Isaacson, East Leyden's Bill Skelnik, Proviso West's Barney Peterson and Herb Steinkraus, and Glenbrook's Ted Jacob.

TERRY SIETMANN (left) of Prospect High School moves off to a fast start in the Class A 320 yard high hurdles shuttle during last Saturday's Palatine Relays. Sietmann teamed with Scott Armstrong, Tom Bremner, and Jim Anderson for a third place in the high hurdles event and worked with Anderson, Bremner, and Ken Reed on the low hurdles unit that placed second. Prospect scored 19 points to finish in an impressive sith place tie in Class A.

Knights Win, 9-5

Prospect, Glenbrook Divide League Games

Prospect High's varsity baseball Knights rebounded from three straight Interim league setbacks with a convincing 9-5 victory over Glenbrook Monday afternoon in the second game of a doubleheader that started Saturday.

Coach Chuck Aldrich's outfit, now standing 4-4 in league action, had dropped the opener of the twin-bill on Saturday, 9-0, but the weatherman intervened and forced postponement of the second contest.

The Knights exploded with 13 hits Monday in shelling three Glenbrook hurlers and handing the Spartans their third loss in eight Interim outings.

PROSPECT'S varsity Knights were slated to host Proviso West yesterday (Wednesday) with a doubleheader on the docket Saturday at home against league leading Maine West. Prospect will entertain West Leyden next Wednesday, May 9.

Jerry Locy and Dave Leekley each rapped out three hits in Monday's encounter to spark the Knights to their 9-5 triumph. Tommy Thomas, Ron Aukamp, and Mike Francek collected two each as the Foundry Road unit experienced its best day offensively since a 14-2 drubbing of East Leyden.

Locy's three safeties gave the senior catcher five in the doubleheader against Glenbrook. In the last three Interim contests Jerry has rapped out six hits in 10 trips to the plate.

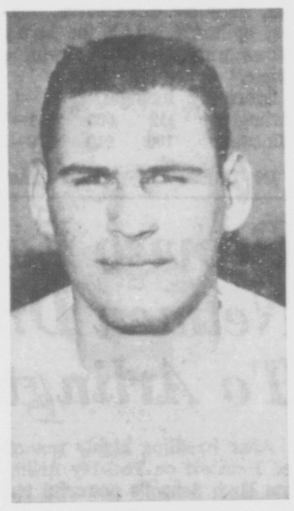
PROSPECT erupted with two runs in the first inning Monday as Thomas, Leekley, Francek, and Locy collected hits. Thanks to these four safeties, an error, and a walk, Thomas and Francek scampered home with the first two markers.

The Knights added three in the fourth frame with a walk, two errors, and hits by Aukamp and Locy. Leekley posted a single and Francek a home run as the key blows in a four-run fifth. The circuit clout was Mike's third of the season.

Glenbrook tallied four of its five runs in the third inning off Prospect starter Grant Gentry with Doug Rader blasting a home run for the long blow. The Spartans added their final run in the seventh without the aid of a base hit.

IN SATURDAY'S contest Mike Connelly and Jeff Browne sienced the Knights with just three hits, two by Locy, and the Glenbrook nine posted a 9-0 victory.

Bob Hanson went the route for the Prospect squad and was reached for nine hits over the six innings. Hanson got off to a bad start as the Spartans produced five hits and seven runs in the first two innings.



JERRY LOCY

Prospect was helpless against the Glenbrook moundmen with Locy getting the first safety in the second and reaching third base before the side was retired. Jerry and Tom Cross put together successive singles in the fourth frame, but neither scored.

After their explosive start Glenbrook settled down and scored single runs in the third and fifth innings.

Don Ohlmeyer paced the Spartans' attack with three straight singles.

To Meet Again

Michigan State and UCLA, rivals in the Rose Bowl in 1954 and 1956, are scheduled to meet in football again in 1965 at East Lansing.

Evanston High Team Favorite

State champion Evanston and nine other high schools will send their best tennis players into action Saturday morning at Maine West in Des Plaines as the crucial district competition unfolds throughout the state.

One hundred and twenty-one downstate and suburban high schools have entered the annual series of net tournaments that will be held at 14 district centers in Illinois.

The first and second place winners in singles and doubles from each district and four singles and four doubles teams advanced from the Chicago Public High Schools will compete in the 1962 state finals at the University of Illinois, Champaign, on May 18-19.

COMPETITION at Maine West will unfold at 9 a.m. on the courts south of the high school with drawings at 8 a.m. Each school may enter six boys.

Joining powerful Evanston at Maine Saturday will be Arlington, Prospect, Barrington, Maine West, Elgin, Palatine, Maine East, Niles East, and Niles West.

Pre-meet speculation lists Evanston and Arlington as the two strongest entries with both squads turning in some impressive performances thus far in the net campaign. Evanston edged the Cardinals in a dual meet, 3-2.

HEADING THE Evanston attack is Dave Power, the defending suburban league and IHSA singles champion. Power, undefeated since the quarter-finals of the 1960 state meet, toppled Danville's Wilson Burge 6-4, 7-5 for the crown last spring.

Arlington's top-rated performer is senior Tom Benson. Power stopped Benson in the season opener 6-4, 6-0, but Tom's game has been improving steadily and he stopped New Trier's highly regarded Bill Ewen last weekend.

Evanston won the powerful Maine West District last spring with Power copping singles and the unit of Mike Baer and Paul Bishop from Niles heading doubles. Baer and Bishop advanced to the state finals in doubles before bowing to Evanston's Bob Wham and Bob Majors 3-6, 9-7, 6-3.

GRADUATION stripped both Evanston and Niles of their top-ranked doubles teams.

Evanston has won two straight state tennis championships. Coach Keith Anderson's Wildkits collected 13 points in winning the title last spring.

Definite team entries for Saturday's district at Maine West are unknown. It's questionable where the respective coaches will put their strength in an effort to qualify some individuals for the state finals.

East Leyden Golf Squad Nips Cards

One stroke proved to be the difference last Thursday afternoon as Arlington High School's varsity golf squad dropped its fifth straight match of the 1962 season.

East Leyden's Eagles edged the Cardinals 158-159 over nine holes at White Pines in Bensenville.

Arlington's strong frosh-soph team, playing without two regulars who were up with the varsity, still came through with a 173-179 decision. The Cardinal sophs are 4-1 for the season.

JERRY PETERSON'S 38 was low for the Arlington varsity, and he was backed by Doug Wiborg with a 39, soph Fred Devin with a 40, and Tom McGrath with a 42.

Darling's nifty 33 topped the victorious Eagles. Esposito was next in line with a 38.

Balance paid off for Arlington's frosh-soph team with the low four boys within two strokes of each other. Darryl Burkett fashioned a 42 for individual honors and he was followed by Pete Johnson with a 43 and Garret Shawhan and Wait Bray with 44s.

Arlington's varsity and frosh-soph golfers will meet Glenbard West today (Thursday) and East Leyden again Friday. The weatherman postponed a quadrangular and dual at the outset of the week.

The Cards will host Downers Grove at Golden Acres Country Club on Tuesday, May 8.

Final Senior Loop Tryouts On Saturday

The final tryouts for the Senior League baseball program in Arlington Heights will be held on Diamond No. 1 at Pioneer Park this Saturday, May 5, at 1:30 p.m.

All boys who will be 14 before July 31, 1962 are eligible and are urged to participate. There are openings on all Senior League teams.

Senior League teams play on the regulation diamond. The Varsity League uses a 75 foot layout.

IN THE EVENT of rain, the tryouts will be conducted the following day, Sunday, with the same time and place.

Candidates should bring their gloves and report to the Mothers Club representative who will assist in registering boys and assigning numbers.

Boys 15 and 16 are not requested to try out and will automatically be assigned to Senior League teams.

THOSE BOYS now 14 who are presently active in the high school athletic program are allowed to try out without affecting their eligibility, providing they do not play or practice in the Little League program until the high school activities are completed.

Last week rain and cold weather brought out very few boys. It is expected that there will be a big turnout on Saturday as a substantial pool is needed for the Senior League draft.

Boys 14 years old who do not try out or who are not selected will be assigned to Varsity League teams.

ARLINGTON HIGH'S Roy Woodruff competed in the discus in last Saturday's Palatine Relays but failed to place in the Class A division. LaGrange's Cliff Lake won the event with a toss of 155-4. Arlington failed to score in the Class A competition headed by LaGrange.

Mac Says

by G. A. McELROY

THE 30TH PALATINE RELAYS were run off Saturday with some warm weather in the morning, a light rain, and a cold afternoon. The one thing lacking was sunshine, but the track athletes did not seem to be bothered too much as the meet involving 46 schools was run off within the time schedule and four new records were established, three of which were in Class "A". Palatine's Andy Merutka erased the shot mark of 59' ¼" by tossing the 12-pound ball 62' 9¾". This is the farthest the shot has ever been put in Illinois High School competition.

Only a little less spectacular was the two mile relay record set by Palatine in 8:07.7, breaking the old mark by five seconds. Bill Hoffman, Bob Frost, Ron Frost, and Gene Meyer averaged slightly under 2:02 for each of the 880-yard legs. The long grueling hours and miles of cross country and distance running in track the past two years paid off and no one was prouder than Gene Laulunen, who has been coaching the cross country and distance runners.

Winners of the relays, LaGrange and DeKalb, were both registering their first victories. Both came through strong in the closing events to win the trophies from York and Barrington. Locally Palatine took a strong third in class "A" and was actually leading that division with the mile and 880 relays remaining. Then LaGrange took first and third in the mile and won the 880 relays. York also finished ahead of the Pirates in both events.

Locally, Prospect's hurdle shuttle teams took a second and a third, Dave Gobeille took third in the high jump, Cliff Stock got a fifth in the mile and the 880 relay team scored a fifth. Arlington, for the first time in the 30 years, failed to score in the meet. Fenton scored 11⅛ points and Lake Park scored two. Bill Economos won the high jump with Don Schmidt third, Albert Helmsoth took third in the broad jump, and Larry Mueller was in an eight-way tie and won the fifth place medal in the pole vault for the Fenton Bisons. Joe Petty took fourth in the 100 yard dash for Lake Park.

In winning the two mile relay in record time in class "A" Palatine now holds the record in this event in both divisions, having set a "B" record in 1959 when Knight, Carpenter, Crandall, and Brodkorb ran for the Pirates.

LARRY DALE OF WOODSTOCK, the only coach to have handled a team in that meet of 30 years ago had a fine day with his Woodstock team as it won first and second in the 100-yard dash, and took both the frosh-soph 440 and the varsity 880 relay events. Woodstock finished a close third with 38⅛ points and, along with Barrington's balanced team which lost the "B" division by only four-fifths of a point, should present the strong contenders in the North Suburban this year.

Phillips of Chicago, winner of the Oak Park Relays, was expected to push LaGrange but the city team dropped a baton, had a disqualification, and made a mistake in a shuttle relay which cost four seconds and no points instead of a meet record. It was a bad day for Phillips and their fifth place finish does not measure their true strength.

Biggest surprise of the meet was Tom Atkinson of LaGrange defeating state champion Theo Cox in the 100-yard dash in :10 flat. Atkinson, who is state broad jump champ the past two years, won two events and anchored the winning 880 relay team to top the meet scorers. Glenbard East broke the mile relay record in "A" class and the lead off runner was Larry Bretsnyder whose father, Jack, was a miler at Palatine and competed in the 1935 Palatine Relays.

Wally Grace rated his picture on the Palatine Relays program for his 17 years as head timer and finish judge of the meet and the fact that Wally will be basking in Florida sunshine in retirement from his athletic directorship at Arlington Heights when the 31st running of the meet rolls around next April. Grace has always had a reputation as a great story teller and he entertained the finish line timers and judges all day Saturday with Grace specials told only as Wally can tell them. Noted basketball and football referees, Tony Sacco and Tony Tortprello, were volunteer finish line officials again this year as was Milt Springer, assistant secretary of the Illinois High School Association.

ANDY MERUTKA OF Palatine High School achieved the best toss in Illinois track history Saturday when he recorded a brilliant 62-9¾ effort in the shot put at the 30th annual Palatine Relays. The talented senior also claimed a third in the discus for eight individual points as Palatine's Pirates finished a strong third in the Class A competition. Merutka owns the Illinois state shot put record of 59-5½. A state record can only be set in the state finals in Champaign.

30th Annual Headliner

LaGrange, DeKalb Gain Team Crowns in Palatine Relays

The Palatine Relays celebrated its 30th birthday Saturday with two new team champions.

In the spectacular history of the popular track headliner neither LaGrange nor DeKalb had claimed a team championship.

But the powerful Lions and Barbs weren't to be denied Saturday, and they wrapped up impressive team crowns on a wet, cold day at Ost Field in Palatine.

LaGrange, co-titlist with Rock Island in the state meet last May, posted 56 points in Class A competition, and DeKalb collected 45 for a tight victory over Barrington in the Class B action.

York and Naperville, the defending class champions, turned in creditable efforts, but they couldn't repeat the coveted crowns captured in 1961. York's Dukes finished second in Class A, 9½ markers behind La Grange, and Naperville claimed a fourth in Class B.

Among the local schools Palatine's host Pirates registered 42 points for a solid third and Prospect's Knights picked up 19 in an impressive tie for sixth in Class A.

ARLINGTON High's undermanned Cardinals, possessor of eight Palatine Relays championships, failed to score for the first time since the meet was initiated in 1933.

Four records were established in the 30th running of the Relays, three in Class A.

Palatine's Andy Merutka, state record holder in the shot put, got off the longest toss in the history of Illinois track with a 62-9¾ effort. The talented Palatine senior broke his own Palatine Relays record by over three feet.

PALATINE also figured in another Class A mark when the two mile team of Bill Hartman, Bob and Ron Frost, and Gene Meyer covered the distance in 8:07.7. The previous record of 8:12.1 was set by Maine East last spring.

Meyer paced the record-setting performance with a nifty 1:57.4 clocking on the anchor leg of the relay.

Glenbard East's mile relay team of Larry Bretsnyder, Art Matlock, John Nichols, and Barry Moore posted the state's best time for 1962 and broke a Palatine Relays mark in the process. The flying Rams turned in a swift 3:26.4, four-tenths of a second faster than York's standard of 1961.

ONE RECORD fell in Class B when DeKalb's two mile relay team of John Plummer, Paul Schauer, Ed Beach, and Scott Hickman toured the distance in 8:21.3, breaking the old standard of 8:23.7 set by Palatine in 1959.

La Grange's Tom Atkinson was the meet's only double winner. The Lions' senior speedster ruled the broad jump as expected from the defending state champion, but he also headed the 100 yard dash with a shocking victory over Zion-Benton's Theo Cox.

Cox, the state century champ as a junior and victor over Atkinson in the 100 semi-finals Saturday, was slow coming out of the blocks and he couldn't catch the La Grange runner.

ATKINSON capped his impressive day with a solid anchor leg on the Lions' victorious 880 yard relay team.

In posting 42 points for third place in Class A the host Palatine Pirates received eight points from Merutka.

Andy backed his tremendous effort in the shot put with a third in the discus behind La Grange's Cliff Lake and Maine East's Steve Smith.

THE PIRATES posted a fourth in the high hurdles shuttle and third in the low hurdles event and gained a fourth in the mile relay and second in the frosh-soph 440 yarder.

Hartman, who led off on the Pirates' record-setting two mile relay unit, came back for a fourth place in the mile run won by La Grange's Craig Boydston in 4:32.0.

Prospect's Knights were paced by two strong hurdles teams that claimed a third and second. The high hurdles unit finished behind York and Phillips of Chicago, but the low hurdles quartet flashed to an impressive second behind York.

Prospect also gained a fifth in the 880 yard relay to round out its points in the actual relays.

IN THE individual events Dave Gobeille and Cliff Stock scored for the Knights. Gobeille, only a sophomore, cleared 5-10 to tie for third place in the high jump, and Stock ran a 4:41.1 mile for fifth.

La Grange's victory marked the fourth straight year that a West Suburban Conference track squad had picked off the Class A crown. In the four previous meets Arlington, Maine East, and York had claimed the championships.

Arlington High's Sophs Snap 6-Game Losing Skein, 5-2

It was a long time in coming, but Arlington High's frosh-soph baseball team finally won a game.

The young Cardinals, tagged with setbacks in their first six outings this season, stopped Hinsdale Saturday afternoon, 5-2, in the second game of a West Suburban doubleheader.

Paul Splittorff twirled a fine game for "Bus" Ormsbee's outfit and aided his own cause with a double and triple.

Arlington pounded out seven hits, three for extra bases. Joining Splittorff with the long blows was Ken Peters with a triple.

Score by innings:

Arlington	112	000	1—5
Hinsdale	100	010	0—2

IN THE FIRST game Saturday Hinsdale recovered from a 5-1 first inning deficit and went on to record a 10-8 victory.

Dick Anderson started for the Cardinals and was relieved by Steve Martin in the fourth. Martin hurled creditable baseball until shelled in a five-run sixth.

Freshman Mike Frase contributed the long blows in the Cardinal attack with doubles in the first and seventh frames.

Score by innings:

Hinsdale	140	005	0—10
Arlington	501	200	0— 8

Arlington's frosh-soph baseball team will journey to Riverside Saturday morning for a doubleheader and will face Glenbard West next Wednesday, May 9.

Arlington Frosh Stop Maine East, Barrington Nines

With Jim Kroll picking up the pitching triumph in both games Arlington High School's frosh "A" baseball team posted two victories last week.

Kroll twirled a neat five-hitter as the young Cardinals edged Maine East 3-2 and came back with a strong relief performance of starter Tom Lundgren in a 10-5 rout of Barrington.

The two victories set Arlington's frosh "A" record at 3-0 with the locals slated to host St. Viator last Tuesday. Arlington's "A" and "B" teams will meet Palatine this Saturday morning with the "As" tackling Notre Dame next Tuesday.

KROLL FANNED five and walked only two as the Cardinals topped Maine. Arlington put over the decisive runs in the sixth inning as Jerry Fink and Richard Hoppe both singled and scored on Howie Winkelhake's hit to right.

Fink's single also led to the first run in the first inning. He stole second and rode home on Hoppe's one base knock.

Score by innings:

Arlington	100	002	0—3-5-4
Maine East	000	101	0—2-5-2

ON SATURDAY Arlington jumped off to a 5-0 lead after two innings, saw that advantage disappear in the top half of the sixth, then erupted with five runs in its half of the sixth for the decision.

Bob Olszewski singled to start the big sixth for Arlington, stole second, went to third on a wild pitch, and stole home. The additional four runs came in on four walks and an error.

Jack McRae had driven in two markers earlier in the game with a sharp single.

Lundgren, the Arlington starter, fanned five men in the first two innings but couldn't find the plate in the third and had to have relief from Kroll.

Score by innings:

Barrington	003	002	0— 5-4-3
Arlington	230	005	*—10-7-2

Cardinals Topple Downers Grove's Two Tennis Units

Downers Grove threw a scare at Arlington's highly regarded varsity tennis team, but the Cardinals managed to pull out a 3-2 victory last Thursday in an important West Suburban Conference struggle.

The triumph was Arlington's second straight in league play. Coach Ken Schaller's powerful unit had toppled defending champion Hinsdale in the opener, 4-1.

Coach Rog Steingraber's frosh-sophs also posted their second straight league triumph with an impressive 5-0 conquest.

DOWNERS GROVE'S varsity netmen, third in the WSC last spring, captured two singles victories in No. 1 and No. 2 play against Arlington but couldn't register any other decisions and fell by one point.

The Trojans' talented junior Tony Ivins, conference singles champion as a sophomore, stopped Arlington's Tom Benson 9-7, 6-0 in the afternoon headliner. Ivins, the boy to beat in varsity ranks in the conference, posted a 24-3 record as a sophomore.

Bill Tyle gave Downers its other point with a 2-6, 6-1, 6-1 triumph over Cardinal soph Jim Jakubiec in No. 2 singles, but the rest of the match belonged to Arlington.

BOB BOHAC won his 11th straight encounter in No. 3 singles with an impressive 6-3, 6-2 victory over Vance Shoger, and Arlington's doubles teams of Chuck Close and Dave Wollerman and Rusty Walters and Rich Wollerman also triumphed.

The Close-Wollerman duo stopped Bob Jacot and John Reinhold 6-0, 6-0, and Walters and Rick Wollerman came through with a 6-3, 6-2 decision over Chuck Koonz and Craig Bradley.

In the frosh-soph meet Arlington had little trouble waltzing past the hosts. Bob VonBoeckmann, Mirrel Kephart, and Pete O'Neil registered singles triumphs, and the teams of Greg Inman and Bob Schuldt and Dave Clough and Pete Loris headed doubles.

Glenbrook Golfers Triumph

Glenbrook's varsity and frosh-soph golf squads both fashioned victories over Prospect High School last Thursday afternoon in competition at Mount Prospect Country Club.

Jerry Godlewski paced the Spartans' varsity to a 205-221 victory with a 49 over the 12 holes. Lind's 37 sparked Glenbrook's frosh-sophs to a 177-185, nine-hole triumph.

Glenbrook is the defending Interim league champion on a varsity level and one of the strongest squads in the state.

John Krause paced Prospect's varsity with a 52 and Chris Bersted and Bob O'Day came in 55 and 56 respectively. Warren Luebcke rounded out the Knights' total with a 58.

In the frosh-soph competition Don Campbell's 45 for nine holes was low for Prospect. Backing Campbell were Norm Milner with a 46 and Bob Robertshaw and Dave Huntley with 47s.

Proviso East's Netmen Drop Pair To Arlington High

After handling highly regarded Hinsdale on Tuesday Arlington High School's powerful tennis squads ventured out of the West Suburban Conference Wednesday afternoon, April 25, and experienced little difficulty with Proviso East of the Suburban League.

Both the varsity and frosh-soph Cardinals posted easy 5-0 victories over the host Pirates.

The varsity matches were decided in straight sets with Tom Benson, Jim Jakubiec, and Bob Bohac wrapping up singles, and the units of Chuck Close and Dave Wollerman and Rusty Walters and Jim Tindall topping doubles.

BENSON whipped Bruce Fryer 6-0, 6-0 in No. 1 singles, and Jakubiec posted a 6-1, 6-0 victory over Bob Schultz in No. 2. Bohac won his tenth straight win in No. 3 singles with a 6-0, 6-3 victory over Bob Hendricks.

Close and Dave Wollerman won 6-2, 6-2 in No. 1 doubles and Walters and Tindall claimed a 6-0, 6-3 decision.

In the frosh-soph competition Bob VonBoeckmann stopped Proviso's Rich Born 6-3, 6-1 in No. 1 singles, and Mirrel Kephart fashioned a 6-1, 7-5 victory over Rick Bryen in No. 2 action. Pete O'Neil topped Bill Fassbender 6-0, 6-0 in No. 3 singles.

IN DOUBLES the unit of Greg Inman and Pete Loris stopped Ed Leninger and Ray Rich 6-4, 6-1, and John Stevens and Jim Kunberger bumped Jim Doti and Joe Horwitz 6-0, 8-6.

In exhibition matches Harley Gates and Bob Schuldt both posted singles triumphs.

Spring Meeting Of Tennis Club Slated for May 7

The spring meeting of the Arlington Heights Tennis Club will be held on Monday, May 7, at 7:30 p. m. at Arlington High School.

Bob Sir of Mount Prospect will serve as president of the popular organization for the 1962 season with Charles Close, Sr., vice-president, and Frank Hinsberger, treasurer.

The North and West Suburban Tennis league has expanded to eight teams with the addition of Hinsdale. The home-and-home schedule has been dropped in favor of seven matches and more tournament play.

THE LEAGUE will add a "Veterans Division" for men 40 and older and will continue with the Men's A, Men's B, Women's, and Junior classes.

The league plans to send some of the juniors to the National Juniors' tournament at Kalamazoo, Mich.

The Arlington schedule in league play:

June 2, Berwyn at Arlington.
June 9, Wheaton at Arlington.
June 16, Arlington at Hinsdale.
June 23, Arlington at Elmwood Park.
July 14, Riverside at Arlington.
July 21, Arlington at Elmhurst.
August 11, Arlington at Des Plaines.

Panthers Check Prospect High's Winning Streak

Proviso West's Panthers checked Prospect's impressive winning streak last Thursday afternoon in a varsity track meet at the Foundry Road school.

Boasting eight straight dual meet victories in both indoor and outdoor competition, the Knights of coach Bob Scott suffered a 72-46 setback as the powerful visitors picked up 11 firsts.

The Hillside entry, team champion in the West Suburbs and Naperville indoor tests, was paced by versatile Ken Hermach who won four events. Hermach captured the 100, 220, 440, and broad jump for 20 individual points.

BARNEY PETERSON, state champion in the half-mile, and Herb Steinkraus were double winners for the Panthers. Peterson won the 880 and mile runs, and Steinkraus topped his specialties, the hurdles.

Individual winners for Prospect were Ralph Stone in the discus and Dave Gobeille in the high jump. The Knights' 880 yard relay team of Tom Bremner, Dan Johnson, John Garsello, and Ken Reed also triumphed.

The summary:

Proviso West 72, Prospect 46

St. Viator's Lions Check Losing Skein

St. Viator High School's baseball team snapped a four-game losing streak with a five-inning, 7-5 victory over Elmwood Park last Thursday afternoon.

Justin Spence picked up his first victory of the season in relief.

Jim Vidt drove in two crucial runs and slapped out three hits to spark the Lions' offensive attack. Ron Bakalar drove in a pair with two hits. Both boys contributed doubles.

Gary Drabant collected two hits which accounted for one run.

Longest blow of the afternoon was delivered by St. Viator's Mike Graczyk who hit a home run in the fifth to ice the decision.

Score by innings:

Elmwood Park	100 40—5-5-2
St. Viator	002 32—7-8-4

ST. VIATOR'S frosh-soph aggregation dropped a 3-0 decision to Tuley High's varsity unit in a contest that kicked off the latest week of diamond activity.

Vidt hurled a five-hit game for the Lions, but some loose play in the first inning led to two Tuley runs.

St. Viator collected just three hits for the afternoon, two off the bat of frosh Don Knudson.

Score by innings:

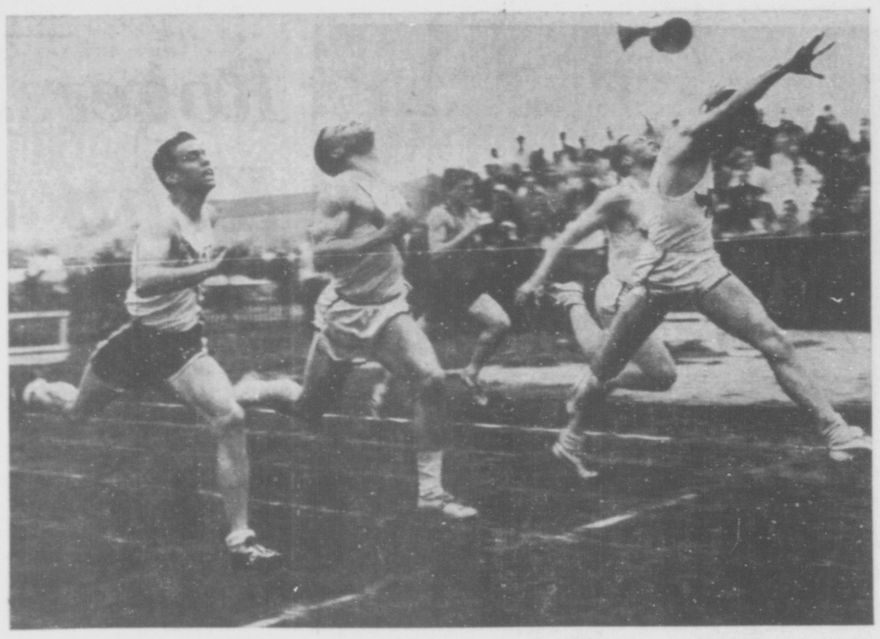
St. Viator	000 000 0—0-3-1
Tuley	300 000 *—3-5-0

THROUGH ACTION last week Knudson boasted the top batting average for the Lions with a .348 standard. Drabant, who will be sidelined for ten days with a pulled muscle, is hitting .333.

Tim Walinski is the RBI leader with six and Graczyk boasts five.

The Lions' doubleheader with Holy Cross last Saturday was postponed because of bad weather. One game was rescheduled for yesterday (Wednesday) at the St. Viator diamond.

Coach Frank Mariani's outfit will tackle Marian Central this Saturday in a doubleheader and will meet St. Josph Monday and Fenton next Wednesday, May 9.



WOODSTOCK'S LANE Newman (far right) posts an impressive victory in the Class B 100 yard dash in last Saturday's Palatine Relays. Lake Park's Joe Petty (far left) is edged by Libertyville's Tom Poe for third place with Woodstock's Tom Parker claiming second. Petty's fourth accounted for Lake Park's only two points in the Class B competition.

Win Opener, 3-2

Cards Record Split In League Contests

Arlington High School's varsity baseball Cardinals held on to a share of second place in the West Suburban Conference title chase with a split in a loop doubleheader at Hinsdale last Saturday.

Coach Bob Baker's Cardinals won the opener, 3-2, behind the strong mound work of right hander John Lane but were shelled 12-6 in the nightcap as Hinsdale exploded for 11 hits off three Arlington hurlers.

The split gave the Cardinals a 4 -3 record in the West Suburban with a game slated yesterday (Wednesday) at York. Baker's crew will entertain an improving Riverside - Brookfield nine this Saturday in a doubleheader.

Arlington will host league leading Glenbard West (7-0) next Wednesday afternoon at Recreation Park.

LANE HURLED an excellent game in Saturday's opener, fanning 14 and walking only four as he claimed his second straight mound decision. The fast balling right hander, certainly one of the loop's top pitchers this season, yielded only four hits.

Arlington opened its scoring in the first inning on a leadoff single, hit batsman, error, and walk with Ray Miller counting. In the third Miller tallied again after getting on with a walk. A stolen base, two walks, and a wild pitch brought in the run.

The Cards put across the decisive marker in the fourth with two outs. Joe Wertheimer walked and stole second, Miller drew a free pass, and Rog Lindstrom drove in Wertheimer with a base knock.

KEN LAYDEN and Miller collected hits in the fifth and sixth, but neither blossomed into a run.

After three straight hitless innings Arlington's Lane was reached for the first hit and run in the fourth. A walk, error, and single by Jerry Vicha brought in Al Koranda.

The Red Devils pushed over their final run in the sixth and had the tying and winning counters on base in the seventh when Lane got Koranda to ground into a game-ending fielder's choice.

ARLINGTON also scored early in the second game, but the hosts erupted with seven runs in a wild third inning and coasted in with their second league victory in seven games.

Vince Furlong, "Buzz" Williams, and Roland Oberg worked on the hill for the Cardinals with only Oberg escaping serious trouble. Furlong started for Arlington and got through the first two frames without incident, but the roof caved in during the third.

Williams followed Furlong and provided no problem for the rampaging Red Devils. Oberg finished up with two creditable shutout innings.

NOT KNOWN for their prolific hitting, the Cardinals did reach Hinsdale's Hal Kuehl for the season high of seven safeties, two by reliable Ray Miller. Now hitting .368 in league play, Ray slammed out a first inning homer and seventh inning single.

JOHN LANE

Miller accounted for the locals' first run with his homer, and Arlington tallied four more in the fifth on hits by Wertheimer, Lindstrom, and Denny Koeppen and an error.

The Cardinals concluded their scoring with two runs in the seventh on Russ Ward's leadoff single, Miller's second safety, and a sacrifice fly.

IN ADDITION to the seven runs in the third, Hinsdale added three in the fourth and two in the fifth for its 12-6 triumph.

Kenny Boston, Steve Porterfield, Ed Paquette, and Kuehl each had two hits for the Red Devils, Hinsdale lashed out four home runs in the second game.

For the second straight year Bob Rogers has walked off with high average honors in the Paddock Classic traveling league.

The talented bowler from Des Plaines, who represented champion S. M. Kahn Electric during the 1961-62 season, carried a 198 average for 90 games with a high game of 269 and high series of 667.

Rogers paced all keglers in the 1960-61 season with a 197 average over 69 games.

His 198 average is the third best mark in the history of the strong Paddock Classic league. Casper Dewitz with a 201 in 1958-59 and Buck Perkins with a 200 in 1959-60 rank 1-2 in the all-time list.

OFFICIAL STATISTICS released this week revealed that Perkins of Nelson Realty had the best series with a booming 715, and Leroy Papineau of Nelson had the best game with a 279.

Thirteen bowlers topped 190 in individual averages during the season with six carrying standards of 193 or better.

Backing Rogers were Dewitz of Nelson Realty (195), Tony Sasso of S. M. Kahn Electrical 716, and Leroy Papineau of Nel- (193), Perkins of Nelson Realty (193), Al Walter of Pro Sport Center (193), and George Sargent of Moyle Construction (193).

In addition to Perkins' 716, other high series during the 1961-62 season were a 704 by Jim Perna of Pro Sport Center, 700 by Bill Radunz of Beverly Lanes, and 695 by Sasso.

PAPINEAU'S 279 game was only one pin better than the standard turned in by Al Walter and Sasso fashioned a 276. Other marks of 265 or better were recorded by Rogers (269), Paul Zubak of Pro Sport Center (268), John Seidel of Beverly Lanes (268), Mike Wagner of S. M. Kahn (268), Don Oberg of Wheeling Furniture (267), and Hec Healey of Jeffery Lanes (266).

Among the team efforts for the past season the 1142 game turned in by Beverly Lanes was the only mark able to earn a prominent position in the record book. Beverly's effort was the third best ever registered in the Classic with 1191 and 1158 ranking as the top two.

Prospect High Avenges Only Dual Setback

Prospect High School's varsity tennis team avenged its only dual meet setback when it edged a host Maine West unit last Thursday afternoon, 3-2.

Maine West had dumped the Knights in the season opener, 3-2, with victories in No. 1 singles and both doubles matches.

Prospect turned around Thursday and won No. 2 and No. 3 singles and also No. 2 doubles for its impressive victory.

JOHN HEUER toppled Maine's Priest 6-2, 3-6, 6-3 in No. 2 singles, and Gewecke handled Gaverth for the second time this season 8-6, 6-1. Bob had finished a 7-5, 6-4 triumph in an earlier meeting.

In No. 1 singles Maine's Albers stopped the Knights' Lothar Hansen for the second time, but the Prospect junior exhibited a stronger game. Bumped by Albers 6-4, 6-4 in the opener, Lothar pushed the Warrior to three sets Thursday before bowing 6-4, 6-8, 7-5.

In doubles Maine West's Figaro and MacDonald whipped Prospect's Gordon Hunt and Newell Krogmann 6-2, 6-3 in No. 1 action, but the Knights' Scott Campbell and Ed Topolski won the No. 2 scuffling 6-1, 6-1.

IN AN exhibition match Maine's Denis and Bopper topped Prospect's Ron Hedke and Bob Laechelt 6-4, 6-4.

In the frosh-soph meet Don Arseneau's Knights, a 3-2 victim in an earlier clash with Maine West, bounced back with a 3-2 victory over the Warriors.

Prospect took two points in singles and one in doubles for its decision.

Scott Paris in No. 2 singles and Larry White in No. 3 posted victories, and the doubles unit of Terry Taylor and Steve Kretchmer also triumphed.

Maine took No. 1 singles when Manny toppled the young Knights' Guy Jensen 6-3, 6-3 and also headed No. 1 doubles with Heckel and Clement whipping Larry Lynn and Ken Rozek 6-0, 6-2.

St. Viator Banquet Tonight

The first annual all-sports banquet at St. Viator High School in Arlington Heights will be held tonight (Thursday) at 6:30 in the Red Lion Room.

Awards will be presented in basketball, baseball, golf, and tennis, and a trophy will be given to the athlete of the year at the new school in Arlington.

Leo Fischer of Chicago's American will be the master of ceremonies and will be joined by some outstanding figures from the sports world.

Among the distinguished guests will be George Allen, assistant coach of the Chicago Bears; Bill George, outstanding linebacker of the Bears; Terry Brennan, former Mt. Carmel and Notre Dame football coach; Charlie Grimm, former player and manager of the Chicago Cubs; and Jim Pollard, coach of the Chicago Packers pro basketball team.

Wheaton Tops Prospect High Knights, 4-3

Jim Crabtree scattered six hits and struck out eight last week as Wheaton High's Tigers edged Prospect, 4-3, in an Interim league baseball attraction.

The hosts punched across three runs in the first inning and held on for their second victory of the loop campaign. Wheaton added the decisive marker in the fourth on two walks, a single, wild pitch, and passed ball.

Propect tallied single runs in the fifth, sixth, and seventh stanzas and had the tying run on base in that final frame when Crabtree got Bob Geller on a game-ending infield out.

AN ERROR opened the door for the Knights' initial run in the fifth with Jerry Locy scoring. Jim Hogarty and Tommy Thomas put together successive singles off Wheaton's Crabtree.

In the sixth Locy's single brought in Ron Aukamp with the locals' second run, and Hogarty's double, a walk, and an error accounted for the third tally in the seventh.

Thomas and Hogarty each had two hits for the Knights with Neal Gagnon and Crabtree rapping out a pair for the victorious Tigers.

Hogarty went the route for the Knights and hurled a strong game after the shaky first inning. Jim fanned 11 and deserved a better fate.

Wheaton scored its three runs in the initial frame with two walks, hits by Gagnon and Chuck Wilson, a wild pitch, error, and two stolen bases. After the first, Hogarty allowed only three hits over the next four innings.

The box score:

Prospect Tennis Squads Post Wins

Back in action after a layoff of two weeks Prospect High School's varsity and frosh-soph tennis squads posted victories over East Leyden last week.

Coach Rick Farris' varsity Knights gained a 4-1 decision, and Don Arsenau's frosh-sophs came through with a 3-2 triumph.

Prospect's only loss in the varsity competition came in No. 1 singles where East Leyden's Bill Pelc topped Lothar Hansen 6-8, 6-1, 6-2.

JOHN HEUER and Bob Gewecke posted easy wins in No. 2 and No. 3 singles for the Knights, and both doubles teams captured straight sets victories.

Gordon Hunt and Newell Krogmann stopped Perry and Pradelt 6-0, 6-0 and Scott Campbell and Ed Topolski, whipped Sorlie and Wolf 6-3, 6-4.

In the frosh-soph competition Prospect took two singles matches and one doubles encounter in its one-point victory.

Wrapping up the singles triumphs were Scott Paris in No. 1 and Larry White in No. 2. The Knights gained another point when the No. 2 doubles unit of Larry Lynn and Ken Rozek whipped Brennecke and Andrews 7-5, 6-1.

THE TIMERS PLAYED an important role in the 30th running of the Palatine Relays last Saturday at Ost Field in Palatine. A rain in the morning and cold temperatures handicapped the meet, but the athletes still set four records, three in Class A competition.

Knights' Varsity Tennis Team Wins 3rd; Sophs Fall

Prospect High's varsity tennis team posted its third straight victory and first shutout of the 1962 season last Friday afternoon when it blanked a host Niles West Unit, 5-0.

Coach Rick Farris' Knights, now standing 3-1 for the season, received singles triumphs from Lothar Hansen, John Heuer, and Bob Gewecke and also scored in doubles with the units of Gordon Hunt and Newell Krogmann and Scott Campbell and Ed Topolski.

In No. 1 singles Hansen whipped Weisberg 6-1, 6-4, and Heuer stopped Smevold 6-2, 7-5 in No. 2 play. Gewecke rounded out the singles triumphs with a 6-3, 7-5 win over Belott.

HUNT AND Krogmann stopped Oye and Epstein 6-2, 5-7, and 6-3 in No. 1 doubles, and Campbell and Topolski whipped Landes and Schroeder 6-4, 6-4 in No. 2.

In the frosh-soph meet Niles West claimed a 3-2 victory that set Prospect's season standard at 2-2. Each of the Knights' meets in 1962 has been won or lost by a 3-2 score.

Gaining victories for Don Arseneau's outfit were Scott Paris and Larry White in singles. Paris stopped Kaage 4-6, 6-1, 6-2, and White posted an easy 6-1, 6-1 decision over Baruck.

Prospect will hook up in the district test at Maine West Saturday and will host Niles West next Tuesday, May 8. The Knights will journey to Glenbrook on Thursday, May 10.

Prospect's Sophs Top Glenbrook

Prospect came up with six runs in the third inning and held on for a 9-4 frosh-soph baseball victory over Glenbrook last Saturday.

Coach Lou Schairer's Knights, 2-2 for the season, did all their scoring in the first four innings and gave pitcher Al Koehler some impressive plate work.

Prospect banged out 12 hits while Koehler was checking the Spartans with six.

Glenbrook scored a single run in the third frame and added three in the fourth.

Olson was the losing pitcher in relief of Fowler.

IHSA Announces Alignments for District Golf

One hundred and ninety-seven downstate and suburban high schools have entered the annual series of IHSA golf tournaments to be held at fifteen district centers on May 11 or 12.

Each school may enter a maximum of seven players. While all players compete as individuals, a school will be considered for team competition if four or more players are entered. The team score is the total score of the four best performers.

From each of the district centers the winning team and the two individuals who place first and second will advance to the state tournament slated for Urbana Country Club on May 18-19. Chicago Public high schools will qualify their two best individual golfers and their best team for the state finals.

Hinsdale High School won the 1961 championship. Urbana High School and Richwoods of Peoria Heights tied for second place. Individual honors went to Warren Smith of Waukegan.

The area assignments:

Dance Planned By Palatine Legion Post

Palatine's American Legion Post 690 this week announced that it will sponsor a baseball team again this year in the Department of Illinois Legion baseball program.

At a meeting last week, post members pledged $250 to help cover the team's expenses, and announced that the post will sponsor a May 26 Memorial Day Dance to raise more funds. The dance, with music furnished by the Music Tones, will run from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. in the post. It will be open to the public.

Joan Lindahl Paces Morton To Gals' Title

Led by Joan Lindahl of Arlington Heights, Morton Pontiac from Beverly Lanes in Arlington Heights hung on to whip Steve's Restaurant, 4-2, last weekend and win the grand championship of the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League.

It looked like a sure thing for the Morton crew Saturday after they swept three straight from Steve's on the loser's home hardwoods at Jeffery Lanes, in Wheeling, but Delores Harris of Wheeling turned the tide Sunday, leading Steve's gals to two quick wins before Morton took the clincher behind Joan and Pat Proebstle of Arlington Heights.

After a so-so 506 series in the opening round, Delores poured it on Sunday at Beverly Lanes with a torrid 202-204-220 — 626 series.

JOAN ROLLED a 563 series Saturday to lead Morton's sweep. Her high game was 226. She came back Sunday to again lead her team with a 572 series, including a 202 in the final game. Pat pitched in with a 212 game in the clincher Sunday.

Backing Delores was Janice Crovetti of Highwood who racked up 1000 pins in the weekend action, including series of 536 and 548.

Biggest disappointment for Steve's was Ann Neumann of Morton Grove who averaged 157 for the six-game championship match, some 20 pins below her regular season average.

Pat Proebstle led all league bowlers this season with a 186 average.

Other leaders include Ann Neumann, 177; Delores Harris, 177; Bonnie Kuhn of Mundelein, 176; Rosemary Babich of North Chicago, 175; Alice Ulrich of Chicago, 174; Vi Douglas of Palatine, 173; Doris Taylor of Waukegan, 173; Joan Lindahl, 172; Sis Jennings of Deerfield, 171; Janice Crovetti, 170, and Ceil Borre of Wilmette, 170.

Grand Championship

Rogers, Sasso Pace Kahn to Loop Title

Two Des Plaines' men, Tony Sasso and Bob Rogers, came up with the big game at the right time Saturday to carry S. M. Kahn Electrical Contractors past Nelson Realty and clinch the grand championship of the Paddock Classic Traveling League at the River-Rand Bowl in Des Plaines.

The title series was so close that Kahn keglers managed only a three-pin margin in total pinfall for the seven game series, 6838 to 6835.

With the teams tied in points, 4-4, after two 3-game matches, the victory hinged on one final game.

Kahn, with Sasso hitting 235 and Rogers, 225, won by 18 pins, 1036 to 1018.

EACH TEAM fired 10 200-plus games in the final four encounters, but Kahn had three bowlers over the 800-pin mark, compared to two for Nelson, which represents Bowlway of Elgin.

Rogers, who averaged 214 for the night's action, made the big difference. He rolled games of 218, 223 and 191 for a blistering 632 series, and capped it off with a 225 game in the deciding encounter.

Sasso's 235 total in the fourth game was the clincher, however, and followed a mediocre 508 series in the first three games.

MIKE WAGNER of Des Plaines and Don Christensen of Arlington Heights kept Kahn in front during the "win one, lose one" match. Wagner hit a 612 series, including a 246 game, and totaled 818 pins. Christensen had a 602 series, and a pin total of 806.

Tom Kouros of Barrington Woods and Roy Papineau of Algonquin kept Nelson in contention all night. Kouros had a 594 series in the first three games and a red-hot 241 final game, while Papineau fired a 609 series and totaled 816 pins. add 6 point

Wheaton Net Unit Edges Willowbrook

In a meet that lasted two afternoons, Wheaton's net men handed Willowbrook its first conference oss 3-2.

Winners for Willowbrook were Dick Broadwel and the doubles team of Jerry Paulson and John Scholz.

The Warriors defeated non-conference Glenbard West, 3-2. Dan Wilson and second doubles men Bill Moore and Scott Stratton were downed, but Paulson and Scholz, Broadwell, and Daryl Carey swung the decision in favor of WB.

The frosh-soph men were also humbled by Wheaton 3-2, but bounced back to smash Glenbard 5-0.

Tuley High Tops Lions

Tuley High School of Chicago posted a 5-0 victory over St. Viator's tennis team last week although the Lions exhibited marked improvement over their previous performances.

Kevin Mahoney, Paul Wierich, Mike Nelson, and Jim Murphy bowed in singles, but each boy gave his opponent some anxious moments.

Mahoney fell 8-6, 6-2; Wierich bowed 6-1, 6-4; Nelson lost 6-2, 12-10; and Murphy lost 6-2, 6-4.

In doubles the unit of Peter Puetz and Paul Puciaty lost 6-2, 6-0.

List Tourney Assignments In Baseball

Four hundred and sixty-four teams including those from 44 Chicago Public High Schools are entered in the 22nd annual Illinois High School Association baseball tournament.

The downstate and suburban teams will first play in 112 district tournaments from which the winners will advance to 28 four-team regionals. The regional winners will play in seven four-team sectionals and the seven sectional winners, together with one representative of the Chicago Public High Schools, will play for the state championship in Peoria.

District tournaments will be played May 14-16; the regionals, May 21-23; the sectionals, May 28-29, 31; and the finals on June 7-8.

AMONG the area schools Arlington, Prospect, and Palatine are hooked up in the Mount Prospect (Prospect) district. Arlington will play Palatine in the opener with the Knights meeting Maine East in the second game.

Fenton will tackle Lake Park in the first game of the Franklin Park (East Leydon) district, and Willowbrook will meet York in the second game of the Lombard (Glenbard East) district.

Arlington's Cards Edge Maine East

Sophomore Joe Mueller drove in tow runs and senior right hander John Lane hurled five-hit baseball last week as Arlington High School's varsity Cardinals edged a visiting Maine East squad, 3-2.

Playing in his second varsity game, Mueller slapped a clutch single in the second inning that drove in two of the Cards' three runs. An error brought in the third.

Lane fanned nine and walked only three, a marked improvement over his two previous outings, in picking up second victory of the 1962 campaign.

Maine East counted single runs in the third and fifth and had two runners on in the sixth but couldn't push across the tying marker.

THE VICTORY was Arlington's third in five West Suburban outings and fourth over the perennially powerful Blue Demons in the past three years of WSC firing.

The Cards put together two of their three hits for the three runs in the second.

Ken Layden led off with a walk and Vince Furlong slapped out a single. An error and Mueller's single brought in the three runs.

MAINE'S LARRY Eichler had little trouble with the Cardinal batsmen after the second, yielding only a harmless sixth inning single by Mueller.

Maine East collected five hits, two each by Eichler and Bill Comstock. Mueller and Furlong registered Arlington's only safeties.

Announce Plans for Jamboree

Plans for the Mount Prospect Junior Sports Jamboree, a track and swimming program for boys and girls 10 to 15, were announced today by co-chairmen Bob Meissner and Clif Elliott.

The Jamboree is sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with Mount Prospect Park District.

All boys and girls in the community who will be at least 10 years old and no more than 15 by August 18, date of the state finals, will be eligible to enter. Competition will be in three divisions: Midget (10-11); Junior (12-13; and Intermediate (14-15).

ENTRY BLANKS may be obtained from park district office at Lions Park and must be submitted no later than May 16, 1962.

The local meet will be held May 19 at Prospect High School. Field events will begin at 12:30 p.m., and track events at 3 p .m

Track and field events will be identical for boys and girls in each division. Running events will include the 25 and 50 yard dashes and 220 yard relay for midgets, 50 yard and 75 yard dashes and 220 yard relay for juniors, and 50 yard and 100 yard dashes and 400 yard relay for intermediates.

Field events include broad jump and baseball throw in each division. Each child may compete in one running event and one field event, plus the relay.

FIRST place winners in each event will be eligible to compete in the sectional Jamboree at Evanston. The local Jaycees will provide transportation to the sectional competition.

First place winners in each event — approximately 100 boys and girls from each sectional—will then go to Sterling for the State Finals August 23, 24 and 25 as guest of the Illinois Youth Commission.

Nearly 80 Illinios towns are expected to hold local meets as part of this year's Junior Sports Jamboree, with an estimated 60,000 children participating throughout the state.

Bison Soph Golfers Top Ridgewood

Tom Schmid blasted out a 34 last Thursday to spark Fenton to a 210-238 frosh-soph golf victory over Ridgewood in a Tri-County Conference dual match at Mohawk Country Club.

The victory was the fourth of the season for the young Bisons against only one setback. Coach Lee Craine's squad will entertain West Chicago this afternoon (Thursday) before traveling to Immaculate Conception Tuesday.

IN ADDITION to Schmid's 34, Mike Jablecki cared an excellent 40, Tom Hock fired a 43, Bob Vick had a 46 and Greg Philien totaled 47 strokes.

Nine boys competed for each squad with the five lowest scores figuring in the team tally.

Ziemba turned in Rigewood's best card—a 44. Glowienke had a 45, Kuhn a 47, Hanson a 50 and Elliott a 52.

Arlington, New Trier Netmen Tie

Arlington and New Trier, two powerful high school tennis squads, battled to a 4-4 deadlock Saturday in a rematch of an earlier dual that saw the Suburban League Indians post a 3-1 victory.

In an effort to get in some stiff competition prior to the crucial district meets the meet was played Saturday instead of the original May 21 date.

Six singles matches and three doubles tests were included in the meet by an agreement of the coaches. Darkness set in and forced the deadlock as one doubles match was still to be completed.

HIGHLIGHTING the tie for Arlington was Tom Benson's brilliant 6-4, 6-2 victory over New Trier's Bill Ewen. Ewen, one of the state's top singles, players, had bumped the Cards' Benson in an earlier meeting 6-3, 6-2, but Tom played his finest tennis of the season Saturday in the rough No. 1 position.

Arlington gained four singles triumphs for its four points as coach Ken Schaller experimented with a different alignment than had been used in previous meets.

TOM BENSON

Bob Bohac, who had posted 11 straight triumphs in No. 3 singles, moved to No. 2 against the Indians and was bumped 6-2, 6-0 by Steve Erenburg.

The Cardinals' Jim Jakubiec topped Kit Kauffman 6-4, 7-9, 6-2 in No. 3 play, and Rusty Walters and Dave Wollerman also posted singles triumphs.

WALTERS, primarily a doubles player this spring, outlasted New Trier's John Hunter 10-8, 6-4, and Wollerman, who also had been seeing extensive doubles action, dumped Tom Neilson 6-1, 6-2.

Chuck Close, working in a No. 4 singles position, bowed to New Trier's Jack Hippsch 6-3, 6-4.

Bohac and Close teamed up in doubles and lost to Erenburg and Ewen 6-3, 6-3. This is the same New Trier unit that won the district doubles championship in Winnetka last spring.

New Trier also won No. 2 doubles as Hunter and Kauffman bumped Jakubiec and Walters 6-4, 6-0.

Arlington's Jim Tindall and Rick Wollerman were tied with their opponents in No. 3 doubles when darkness intervened. The Cardinal duo had won the first set 7-5, dropped the second 5-7, and was tied 6-6 in the deciding tussle.

Prospect's Frosh Nine Gains Split; Tops Tigers, 10-6

In two error-filled encounters Prospect High School's frosh "A" baseball team claimed a split last week.

The Knights' plebes bumped Wheaton on Wednesday, 10-6, but were shelled 16-7 Saturday in competition against Glenbrook.

Coach Maurie Levy's outfit erupted with seven runs in the first two innings and held on for the victory over Wheaton.

Don Cooper and Greg Kowal worked on the hill for the Knights with Kowal gaining the decision. Mike Donovan slammed a home run.

The two clubs combined for 31 errors with the losing Tigers contributing 19.

GLENBROOK HIT Prospect with four runs in the first inning Saturday, saw the Knights fight back to take a 6-5 advantage at the end of four, then banged in six markers in the visitor's half of the sixth.

Glenbrook put the finishing touches on its 16-7 victory with five markers in the seventh.

Craig Thomas started on the mound for Prospect and absorbed the setback. Also pitching for the Knights were Gerald Besenhofer, Wayne Pearson, and Keith Bergen.

Don Greco slapped a homer for Prospect.

Twenty-two errors, 13 by the losing Knights, marked the frosh encounter.

Proviso Sophs Triumph

Proviso West's frosh-soph trackmen edged a host Prospect High School team last Thursday afternoon, 61-57.

The visiting Panthers won eight events and swept the top three positions in the discus and broad jump.

Individual winners for the Knights' frosh-sophs were Larry Fisher and Dick McMahon in the pole vault, Scott Armstrong in the high and low hurdles, and Jim Renner in the 100 yard dash.

Prospect also copped both the 880 yard relay and mile relay. The summary:

WORD STUDY

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

INORDINATE; immoderate; excessive. "We must not allow our love of pleasure to become inordinate."

HEGIRA; the flight of Mohammed from Mecca; hence, any similar flight or exodus. (Pronounce hee-jigh-ra, accent second syllable). "We read with interest of the hegira of these people from bondage."

PROCLIVITY; natural disposition or tendency. "The boy has a proclivity to cheat."

RESPLENDENT; shining with brilliant luster. "He was resplendent with medals."

Commercial Art Is May 3 Lecture Topic

By LUCILE ERNST

On May 3, Elic Nekimken will present a lecture and exhibit at Pioneer Park at 8 p. m. Last week I promised to give more information on the subject and so here I go. The subject is quite different, "Commercial Art Applied to Point of Sale Display" is the title and the information you will receive may surprise you. I don't like to admit it, but sometimes I am inclined to believe there is less artiness and more real art in commercial permanent displays than may be found in many of our galleries.

Elic Nekimken, designer for Thomas A. Schultz Co. of Morton Grove, will exhibit design history showing the progress from rough sketches through various drawings to the final production display.

I HOPE YOU will attend the meeting, sponsored by the Countryside Art Center, as you may well find art is not an isolated subject, as indeed it is not, but a part of our life as well as an expression of it.

On May 1, Mr. McVickers painted a portrait in water color as a part of the last meeting of the year of the Mount Prospect Art League. The painting was demonstrated at Lions Park in Mount Prospect.

The Mount Prospect Art League has a really impressive membership of 98. In the coming months they plan to print a roster of all league members which also will list the calendar of events for the 1962-63 season. The League is happy always to have new members. Their lectures and demonstrations are always varied and interesting. If you would be interested in joining, contact Mrs. Liljequist, 113 S. Edward St., Mount Prospect. Membership dues are $4 per person, $5 per couple.

I INTENDED to write an article about the lack of communication in art one of these weeks. As a result of being an involuntary shut-in due to a slipped spinal disc, I guess this is the week.

Art, after all, is a form of communication. The artist is simply conveying an idea or an emotion in a visual form. When artists cease to do this, they cease to be artists. If they wish to play in paint for therapeutic reasons it is their own business, but they shouldn't expect applause for their efforts. Chewing gum also releases tension but so far it has not been considered an art although I won't speak for the future.

IF ARTISTS have something to communicate, and many do, they had better start taking a pretty strong and united stand. They had better be the first to admit there are quacks and idiots in art as well as in every other trade or profession and be willing to draw the line this side of madness. If they can't or won't, they should not be surprised if the public includes them in the madness.

Recently the American public was introduced to a rather bad mechanic of sorts who calls himself an artist. With press and photographers on hand, he presented a ridiculous portrayal of the end of the world. With heavens knows how much T.N.T., he still had a bit of bad time effecting this destruction. It was not only not art, it was silly. This, however, is what a large segment of the American public will think art is, however, silly, and even sloppy.

"KING OF KINGS," now playing at the Golf Mill Theatre, will be held over for a second week. The outstanding feature, concerning the story of Christianity during the life and times of Christ, will not be shown in any other theatre in the area this season. The Golf Mill Theatre, located in the South section of the Golf Mill Shopping center, is surrounded by acres of free parking and is open for matinees daily. (Bill

The Roaring Flames

Fire losses in the U. S. totaled $1,209,042,000 in 1961, up 9.1 per cent over the 1960 figure.

If such a portrayal of any other segment of work was presented on TV, as being representative of a profession, other members would have burned the wires protesting. So far I haven't heard a word of protest from any member of the art field. If no one else does, then I will. It makes me furious to see publicity given to madness in the name of art while hard working and truly effective artists work in obscurity. Well, not if I can help it.
